Scott, daughters, Mrs. Ethel Bates and Mrs. Anne Rodgers of Portland, brother, W. J. Whiten of Tillamook, and sister, Mrs. Mary Scott, Columbia Falls, Mont.

OSWEGO'S CRIME WAVE IS TOPIC

Oswego's crime wave is furnishing the principal topic of conversation in that little city. Attempts were made on three nights starting Saturday to break into three confectioneries, the drugstore and Cox's grocery and the Southern Pacific depot, and on Tuesday night Didzun's garage was broken into and five gallons of gasoline and a number of spark plugs were stolen.

The same night Kenneth Davidson, who lives over one of the confectioneries, chased a man out of his woodshed. In all except this instance the pair, which have been seen several times when their operations were heard, have been described as both undersized and wearing long olive-drab overcoats. All the storekeepers are keeping watch and promise the prowlers a warm reception the first time a rifle can be leveled on them.

EMPLOYES GET PRESENT

The Oregon Portland Cement company spread Christmas cheer by making its employes the present of an extra week's wages. The girls in the Oswego telephone exchange were also recipients of substantial recognition for the excellent telephone service.

The Methodist Sunday school held Christmas exercises Thursday evening, and the Congregational Sunday school on Friday evening. There were fine programs rendered and presents distributed. Both churches were decorated with greens and flowers.

WOMEN RAISE $20

The Woman's club held its sale with very satisfactory results. Twenty dollars was secured, part of which went to the purchase of an electric hot plate and the rest to the collegiate scholarship fund, to which the club is a subscriber.
