

MOTHER AND SON IN CONFLICT OVER CHINESE ESTATE

Portland Chinatown is agog over the dissensions in the Jue Sue family over the estate left by the aged Chinese merchant, and in which mother and son are making charges against each other. Bertie Jue Sue, the widow, is seeking to secure the removal of Herbert Jue Sue, Jewell, the son, as administrator of his father's estate. He alleges she desires his removal because she has property of the estate which she refuses to account for.

Herbert Jue Sue Jewell this morning filed his answer to the petition of Bertie Jue Sue for his removal, admitting that the inventory of the estate was not filed within 30 days after his appointment. But, he says, this delay was because he could not secure the proper data on which to make the report and the fact that one of the appraisers appointed by the court refused to act, necessitating the making of an application for another appraiser.

He says that since filing his inventory he has ascertained that Bertie Jue Sue at the time of the death of Jue Sue was holding the legal title to lots 23 and 24 of block 10, Hawthorne avenue addition, in trust for the deceased, also furniture in the house there belonging to the estate; that she has in her possession a $1000 diamond ring and also an interest in a leasehold on a building at Second and Oak streets belonging to the deceased.

He says Bertie Jue Sue sold one of the lots for $1000 and the furniture for $1000, and still has the ring, but that she refuses to make an accounting to the administrator for same and that she filed her petition for his removal as administrator because she learned that he is about to apply to the court for authority to bring suit against her to recover this property. L. H. Tarpley is attorney for the estate of Jue Sue, who was a prominent figure in Portland's Chinatown.

Ardmore, Okla., Dec. 27.—(I. N. S.)—Frequent conferences between Clara Smith Hamon, at liberty under $12,000 bail on a charge of murdering Jake L. Hamon, multi-millionaire Oklahoman, and her attorneys, added a thrill today to Ardmore's community life. A number of prominent Ardmoreites also visited the offices of Mathers & Coakley, her counsel, during the day, but the attorneys refused to reveal the purposes of these visits.

Gov. Cox Selects Portland Church as Model for Chapel

Westminster Presbyterian church, northwest corner of Schuyler and East Seventeenth streets, has been chosen by Governor James M. Cox of Ohio as an architectural model for a chapel to be erected at Springfield, Ohio, in memory of his mother.

During his campaign for the presidency Governor Cox spent Sunday here and attended the morning service at Westminster. He was favorably impressed with the beauty of the stone edifice and in a recent donation of $100,000 to Westminster college at Springfield for the erection of a memorial chapel, he designated that the Westminster church be accepted as a model. Lawrence & Hoffer furnished architectural plans for Westminster Presbyterian church, which was erected in 1913 at a cost of approximately $150,000. Information relative to the Cox memorial was contained in a recent issue of the Holmes County Farmer, published at Millersburg, Ohio, by David J. Newton. Mrs. A. J. PUBLIC IS TO GET DODGERS' NAMES

Washington, Dec. 27.—(I. N. S.)—Draft deserters whose fears have been lulled to rest by more than two years of security from prosecution, are about to receive an unpleasant surprise, for the names of 173,911 of them are shortly to be published in their "home town" sections as a preliminary step to bringing them to a speedy trial, the war department announced today.

Publication of names in local newspapers is expected to aid materially in apprehending offenders, as it is believed that most persons knowing the whereabouts of a draft deserter will be only too willing to volunteer the information. Much aid is also anticipated from members of the American Legion, which has consistently urged the department to take action against draft delinquents.

The department announcement defines "willful deserters" as men who register under the provisions of the selective service law but neglected to report for military duty at the time and place specified. Under the law they are held to have been inducted into service from the date on which they were ordered to report and since they have never been discharged, are still under military jurisdiction, and liable to trial by general court martial for desertion.

Indictment Dismissed
A grand jury indictment charging Iver Silvanian with failing to register in the draft was dismissed this morning by Federal Judge Bean at the request of United States Attorney Lester Humphreys. The department at Washington has found Silvanian's questionnaire, the court was told, and now finds that he is classed as a deserter instead of a draft dodger.

ELECTRICAL SHOW WILL BE MAGNET FOR ROSE CITY

One hundred million dollars will not be an exaggerated income from the Atlantic-Pacific Highways and Electrical exposition in Portland in 1925, said John Gratzke, in addressing members of the Chamber of Commerce at their forum luncheon noon today.

"Portland found itself as a result of the Lewis & Clark exposition," said Gratzke. "In the Columbia river basin is a large part of the potential hydro-electric power of the nation and many undeveloped resources of which the East is entirely ignorant. Such an exposition will bring the Easterner to the West and will make him see and appreciate the value of this power and these resources."

"Industries have refused to locate here in the past because of a lack of cheap power," declared Senator George W. Joseph in addressing the forum on what the exposition would mean to Portland. "This exposition should bring about a development of these latent resources which have the power to make Oregon a center of wealth."

A resolution was introduced asking the Chamber of Commerce to endorse the exposition. Assurance that such endorsement would be given was made by Charles Berg, chairman of the forum. Irvine appealed to the members for their support to the European relief drive.

Saki Party Raided; 150 Gallons Seized By Federal Agents

A Japanese saki dance and Christmas party was broken up Saturday night by a raiding party of federal officers, after they found 150 gallons of saki in the potato house of K. Harada, on his farm one half mile north of Gresham. Operatives of the Anti-Saloon league had been watching the place for three weeks. Saturday night the liquor is said to have flowed freely, all the neighbors having been invited in to enjoy the Christmas cheer. Federal agents were called and the raid made. Harada is charged with manufacturing liquor, having liquor in his possession and with having property in his possession designed for the manufacture of liquor.

The "password" for a drink of moonshine whiskey at the party was establishment of Mike McChilch, 554 Washington street, was the raising of two fingers, say internal revenue agents who raided the place Saturday night. They arrested McChilch after a customer had been served and charged him with selling intoxicating liquor. He was released on $500 bail.

Lined oil proved a poor base to use in the manufacture of corn whiskey, according to Martin Jafars of Cedarville, who was arrested Friday by federal officials. About 40 gallons of mash and eight gallons of whiskey were found, but all had been ruined by the effects of the oil. Jafars is said to have claimed he was making a beverage for his own use. He spent Christmas in jail.

The time has come when it is not the question whether merchandise sells at a profit or at a loss.

Never, during the lifetime of those now living, have the present business conditions existed.

The profit of the individual is of small moment where the welfare of the entire country is involved.

Manufacturing conditions are unsettled. Raw materials are cheaper. Labor is unemployed, especially in the eastern centers. No manufacturer or retailer is absolutely sure of reproduction costs.

The clearing of shelves has become a public duty. Business must be maintained and factories run in order to sustain the industries of America.

Reconstruction period is here and lower price levels must be made. Every business man has a public—a patriotic duty to perform. The wheels of industry must be kept running.
