

LIST SHOWS THOSE WHO GAVE $50 OR MORE FOR RELIEF

Names of the larger Portland givers to the campaign for the relief of 3,500,000 children menaced with famine in the countries of Central and Eastern Europe were made public today by Robert H. Strong, state chairman of the campaign. The list reveals the absence of numerous individuals and firms whose offerings are not expected to complete the quota assigned the city. The figures include the money raised for the European relief council and the collection made previously for the American relief administration. Chairman Strong said that some omissions were possible in the list of those who have given $50 or more and that no record was kept of purchasers of the "tablets" (Guest Certificates). The list follows:

CONFERENCE WITH MAYOR HELD FOR COMMUNITY CHEST

Contrary to the expectation of several prominent citizens that they were being invited to sit in with Acting Chief of Police Mayor Baker in a meeting to discuss Portland's crime situation and the meeting of that situation by the police department, the conference at police headquarters Monday afternoon proved to be an assembling of the executive committee of the community chest. A concentrated drive is to be piloted by the community chest to raise funds in one sweeping drive for the various charitable organizations of Portland. The drive starts March 7, and although no definite sum to be raised was announced, it is understood that the amount is approximately $1,000,000. In keeping with the duties shouldered by the community chest, it was agreed at the conference that in order to put across the drive the best policy is to call back into existence the Liberty loan committee which conducted the drives for Portland during the war. Each member of the committee during that committee, assured the executive committee that he would call the members of his Liberty loan committee together to assist in the community chest drive. "Our work as members of the executive committee of the community chest is of the utmost importance. It is going to mean real work and we cannot dodge it. We have promised these organizations to give them our support and it is up to us to make good," said Mayor Baker in presenting the situation before the community chest committee Monday afternoon. Each member of the committee expressed the opinion that the drive could be put over successfully and that it would serve its ultimate purpose far more satisfactorily than individual drives conducted by organizations represented. Men who were called to confer with the mayor were Emery Olmstead, J. F. Daly, John D. Meier, P. T. Griffith, John Daly, Marshall N. Dana, Charles F. Berg, J. C. English and M. Keppeler.

Old Controversy Concerning Rails on Bridges Is Up Again

The long standing controversy between Multnomah county and the city of Portland as to which should bear the expense of renewing the street car rails across the Willamette river bridges may soon reach a final disposition. In view of the fact that the city receives the tolls, approximately $40,000 a year, the commissioners Monday took the stand that the expense of keeping up the rail equipment should be borne by the city. County Roadmaster Rachel reported that the rails on Hawthorne bridge are about worn out. Before taking final decision the commissioners will arrange a conference with county officials.

Former Service Man Arrested in Gem Theft Case

Astoria, Or., Jan. 11.—Jack Shannon, an ex-service man, is being held here, suspected of being connected with the stealing of five diamond rings, valued at $1000, from a Tacoma hotel Saturday. Shannon, though admitting he left Tacoma Sunday morning for Astoria to accept a position offered him with the Saddle Mountain Logging company by William Brayton of that concern, with whom he has been acquainted for several years, disclaims any connection with the disappearance of the diamonds and said that he can prove an alibi. Two of his three pieces of baggage, a steamer trunk and a suitcase, bore checks whose numbers and kind exactly coincide with the numbers and character of the baggage of the man wanted by the Tacoma police.

Program Announced For National Thrift Week of January 17

The program for the National Thrift Week campaign by the Y. M. C. A. for the week beginning January 17 was announced today by Raymond Van Valin, head of the employment and advisory board of the Portland association. The program is to be a national movement to encourage thrift and economy among the people, and more especially the young people. Booklets and lectures on the advantages of saving money will be the feature of the week. Monday is to be "bank day," Tuesday "budget day," Wednesday "life insurance day," Thursday "town your home day," Friday "make a will day," Saturday "pay your bills promptly day" and Sunday "share with others day." Each day will be featured by educational work, and the pastors of the city have been asked to cooperate by preaching on thrift in its relation to church work on Sunday, January 22.

Search for Slayers Of Redding Sheriff

Medford, Jan. 11.—Sheriff Terrill here received a telephone message from Redding, Cal. Monday to be on the lookout for two men, dressed in soldier clothes, wanted for shooting and fatally wounding the Redding sheriff Sunday night, when they were surprised by him in the act of robbing a home. His call on them to surrender was answered by a volley of shots, one of the bullets breaking his spine. The burglars are fleeing northward and all trains and vehicles are being searched on the Sisquoy.

PATROLMAN LIES TO SAVE HIS PAL; ONE IS DISMISSED

"Nothing but the truth" was the rebuke administered by Mayor Baker to Motorcycle Patrolman Skogland as he reinstated him in the police department, from which he had been summarily dismissed. Motorcycle Patrolman Skogland was definitely dismissed from the force. Action was taken at a hearing at police headquarters Monday afternoon, following suspension of the two policemen for alleged cowardice in a running fight with a pair of burglars, Walter McCleary and Boyd Ellis of Vancouver barracks Friday night. That Skogland had lied to save his pal from facing alone the charges of being yellow is said to have been brought out at the inquiry before the mayor, Chief Jenkins and other police officers Friday. He is alleged to have admitted himself to be called yellow rather than "equal on his pal," who is said to have abandoned the chase when the fight was hottest. Skogland, present at the meeting, said little in his own defense. He said Monday night that he intended to carry the inquiry to the civil service board. He admitted that there was probably a lack of judgment shown during the battle due to the excitement of the chase, but denied that there was any cowardice displayed. The whole affair developed out of the theory that where there should have been three policemen in the chase when the officers were supposed to be closing in on the automobile bandits, there were only two. Where the third policeman was at the time has not been brought to light as yet. When the chase of the soldiers led to the Twelfth street viaduct and the soldiers deserted the limousine in which they had been riding to hide in a building, Motorcycle Patrolman Woods, who had witnessed part of the chase, joined in the game. Then Skogland is said to have disappeared from the scrimmage. He said that he and Skimpkins had agreed that the best thing to do was for one of them to telephone the police for help. Skogland did the telephoning. He said that later, when he had returned to the automobile that he and Skimpkins had vacated, he met Woods and Skimpkins. Those present at the inquiry besides the mayor and the chief of police were Captain Inskip, Lieutenants Moloney, Van Overn and Thatcher, and Deputy City Attorney Stanley Myers.

Commissioners Hold Up the Pay of Extra Night Clerks

How much extra clerks employed in the sheriff's office to take care of the tax department during the tax paying period should be paid was a subject taken under consideration by the county commissioners Monday. Tax Collector Hucksby asked for a force of 15 who were to be paid at the rate of $15 per month for six hours, night work. The commissioners were inclined to the view that the rate was a little high comparatively and wanted a few days to think it over.

BUCKMAN SCHOOL UNIT REQUESTED

Residents of Hawthorne and Buckman school districts are circulating petitions which they will present to the school board Thursday night, asking for the construction this year of the first unit of 16 rooms of their new building on the tract purchased five years ago between East Pine and East Sixteenth and Eighteenth streets. The Buckman school is in a particularly bad situation, the old buildings having been sold to W. H. Mall at the time of the purchase of the new site for $22,000. Since then Mall has exacted an annual rental of $2300 plus $600 taxes a year, from the school board for the continued use of the building. The lease expires in June, and Mall has offered to sell the property back at more than double its value. The old building is 24 years old, has been condemned by both the health and fire departments as unfit for use, and has practically none of the modern features of the other buildings of the city. Money was provided in the budget of 1916 for a building on the new site, but construction was deferred because of the war and the money used for other purposes. Residents of the two districts will meet at the Buckman school at 8 o'clock Wednesday night to arrange for a campaign for the new building. Baking Course Opens A new housekeepers' course in baking and canning will open at Girls Polytechnic school Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock to meet weekly thereafter. Registration may be had by telephoning Broadway 2385. Tuesday evening a beginner's cooking class will open as a part of the night school course.
