Woman's Gloves Reveal Clue to "H. Y.," Whose Body Found on Barnes Road With Head Battered In and Bullet-Pierced.

That the name sewn inside the shoe worn by the murdered man whose body was found at the Hoffman country place is Russian and not Greek and that the third name found on the marking is the Russian for Vladivostok, was developed by Journal reporters this afternoon. Greeks were unable to identify the lettering excepting to say that it was Russian. A Russian readily translated the third name as Vladivostok. The silk shirt worn by the man was made in Yokohama.

Indications that a woman was involved in the shooting of the unidentified man whose body was found by campfire girls late Tuesday afternoon on the summer home premises of Mrs. Lee Hoffman, two miles beyond the city limits on the Barnes road, developed this morning when Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch made a more thorough examination of the body and the scene where i was found.

The presence of a "woman in the case" was developed from the finding of a pair of woman's black gloves and other indications. The gloves bore no identifying

On the inner lining of the man's welltailored blue serve coat were the initials facial characteristics.

The murder-for Goetsch and deputy sheriffs who investigated are sure it was enraged. Through the head of the victim three bullets were shot, probably from a .38 caliber revolver.

And the skull was badly fractured in dicating that during the struggle preceding the shooting the man was unmercifully beaten.

Those who investigated the where the body was found, declare that man was murdered very near that spot, as much blood seepage was found the body. There are others who might have been slain elsewhere and carried to the Hoffman place in an automo-

LABOR POST UNDECIDED,

IS IN BITTER CONTEST By George R. Holmes

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 23.—(I. N. Davis of Pennsylvania is the foremost candidate. It was learned today, however, that friends of James Duncan of the granite cutters, who comes from Massachusetts, have increased their efforts in his behalf and if there is a change between now and March 4 in the cabinet which Senator Harding has tentatively selected, it is believed it will be most likely to take place in this department.

The labor portfolio has been the most bitterly contested place among the 10. Labor leaders and union heads have vied with one another in insisting upon the appointment of this or that candidate and many of them have protested against Davis' selection on the ground that Davis has been out of labor executive ranks so long that he can no longer be considered a "labor appointment." Senator Harding has listened patiently to these arguments and has kept his own counsel here.

Butchart and Moore were convicted December 23 before a jury. In summing up the case this morning before pro ouncing sentence the court said in part "It seems from the evidence in the case that at the time the Oregon plant was ready to market its product there existed an unlawful agreement between other companies selling in this territory to fix prices. The evidence shows that the Oregon company also entered into this agreement in order that it might curvive and meet competition." The court then added that violation of the law by others was no defense for Butchart and Moore entering into the conspiracy.

Before the Oswego company entered the field California and Washington companies are said to have divided the territory. California companies were to seep out of Washington, provided Washington companies did not sell cement in Oregon south of Salem. When the Oregon company entered the field the ter-ritory was again divided, and the Oswego people restrained from selling in Washington.
