BUT WARREN SAYS HE CANNOT ACCEPT

Governor Olcott, to whom Frank M. Warren has sent his resignation as a mber of the new fish commission. has returned Commissioner Warren's brand new commission to him accompanied by an urgent appeal that he re-consider his resignation and consent to

Mr. Warren, however, is firm in his intention to resign and this morning was drafting a letter in which he reiterates his desire to step out of the fish commission in order that he may de-vote all of the time he can take from his private business to the duties of the Port of Portland commission, of which he is chairman.

The governor, in his letter to Warren, expresses the hope that he will with-draw his resignation and points out that the newly appointed commission, di-vorced as it has been from all contact with the game commission work, faces a squeentrated field of affort directed toward the maximum upbuilding of the commercial fishing industry of the state. The governor states that he knows of no one more familiar with the problems which will confront the commission than is Warren and says that he "speaks Warren insists, however, that "the load is too heavy" for him to remain both upon the fish and the port com-missions and at the same time devote the time necessary to the conduct of his

A good deal of interest is being manifested by those concerned in the work of the fish commission in the probable successor to Warren. Frank Seufert, formerly of The Dalles but now resi-dent at Portland; Fred P. Kendall, also of Portland, and Henry S. McGowan, all salmon canners and packers, are bementioned as coming within the logical field of the governor's consideration by reason of their knowledge of the business and the work which the com-

$96 Fine Imposed On Reckless Driver

Henry Schaffer pleaded guilty in the municipal court to a charge of reckless driving Wednesday as a result of an accident several days ago on Hancock street, when the 4-year-old son of Fred W. Soller was struck by his automobile. Judge Rossman inquired how much Schaffer, a sheet metal worker, made "This accident will cost you just two weeks' pay. Pay a fine of $96," returned the court.

According to the findings of the public service commission, the rates applied for by the telephone company would, if granted, produce revenue in excess of the amount required for proposed improvements in service. Service connection charges applied were found unjust and discriminatory and were denied. The commission also ordered a discontinuance of free inter-exchange service between certain exchanges, with the exception of those at Springfield and

The new rate as applied to Portland The new rate as applied to Portland grants an increase from $8.50 to $10 per month on individual business telephones and from $7 to $8 per month on two-party lines used for business purposes. The rate on individual residence telephones was raised from $3.25 to $4; two-party lines $2.50 to $3.25, and fourparty lines were raised from $2.25 to $2.75 per month. Suburban business telephone rates remain at $3.50 and month. Suburban business rates remain at $3.50, and suburban rates were raised from $2.25 to $3 by the new ruling. ACTION IS DEFENDED

In defense of its finding the public service commission issued a statement today calling attention to the savings accruing to Oregon telephone users through non-application of the Burleson telephone rates in the state and to re-funds amounting to $150,000 ordered paid to subscribers from the company. Several unusual features entered into the case just decided, according to the statement. Hundreds of applicants for telephone service who could not be taken care of by the company besieged the members of the commission and complaints of poor service were of daily

Employes of the company, apprehensive of transfer to other states, loss of position or reduction of salary, solicited the consideration of the commission. Moved by the extraordinary prospect of unemployment the commission be-lieved it an opportune time, because the company needed the proposed ex-tensions and improvements and the peo-ple demanded them, to relieve the sit-

Mr. Weeks called on Newt yesterday and asked him all about the war dept. and will go to work next Saturday with an open mind. It was generally supposed that Chas. Hughes was going to be secretary of state till it come out in the papers this morning that he had moved here with his family and took a house, so it looks like he intended to go into some business in Washington.

Mr. Hays was on the scene sarly and him and Mr. Burleson was showed him and Mr. Burleson was showed through the P.O. dept. where they seen many different colored stamps. They laughed heartily at a blue one that says special delivery on it. Mr. Hays wouldn't take no chances and wore a big placard on which was wrote;

At this writeing all the cabinet jobs has been officially announced except secretary of labor which the favorite for this job is J. J. Davis, head of the Loyal Order of Moose. I heard they was 2 things that delayed his appointment. One was that Mr. Harding did'nt want no lodge in his cabinet or he would of chosed Henry or Sir Oliver and the other was that the salary is only $12,000 per annum which you can't expect a labor man to live on that let alone pay his Loyal Moose dues. HEARST TO GET CHANCE

The new president has give it out that he won't tell us for 2 weeks whom is going to be U. S. ambassadors to the different foreign countrys. He would like to go to France himself as he use to play a French horn in the Marion hand, but congress won't stand for no more presidents monkeying around gay Paree. All the other diplomatic posts is a secret except ambassador to the court of St James which they say W. R. Hearst will have first refusal of it.

WILLIAMS WILL NOT AID PIE HUNTERS, HE DECLARES

Washington, March 2. — (WASHING-TON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL)— That he does not consider himself dis-penser of Oregon patronage and will not project himself into the pie hunter job unless he is called on to do so by Sen-ators McNary and Stanfield, is the statement of Ralph E. Williams, Republican national committeemen, who is here at-tending a meeting of the national committee and seeing sights for inauguration week.
Williams added that he will submit
