HARDING GETS SPEEDY START FIRST DAY

Handing Out Hundreds of Jobs One of Tiresome Tasks Facing New Executive; Too Busy to Attend Champ Clark Funeral.

By Raymond Clapper
Washington, March 5.—(U. P.)—President Harding started the work of his administration at full speed on his first day in office.

At his desk early in the morning, Harding before lunch had conferred with five cabinet members, approved three important appointments and talked with Senator Lodge and Representative Mondell, Republican leaders in the senate and house.

Harding's first conference was with Secretary of Agriculture Wallbridge. White House officials said the president would be unable, because of his heavy duties today, to attend the funeral services of Champ Clark at the capitol, much as he wanted to do so.

Harding's first dictation was given to Miss Eva B. Lihl and Miss Coranella Matern, who will be his personal stenographers at the White House. The use of women stenographers is an innovation, former presidents having employed men.

Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, was the second cabinet member to confer with Harding today.

One big job which is under consideration of passing out jobs—some 50,000 of which will ultimately be filled from the list of applicants several times as large. But only a few of the most important received attention today.

MANY JOBS TO FILL
Harding expected to consult cabinet members further today regarding the assistant secretaries of the various departments. Theodore Roosevelt has already been named assistant secretary of the navy.

Henry P. Fletcher, former ambassador to Mexico, has been chosen secretary of state, but there are three assistant secretaries to be filled.

Two vacancies in the Interstate Commerce Commission, the entire seven places in the Shipping board, five on the Federal Reserve board, three on the United States district court, two on the Federal Trade Commission, four on the Federal Farm Loan board and several on the Railway Labor board are to be filled in the near future.

CHANCELLER SURE
J. J. Koch, defeated for reelection to congress from Wisconsin last November, will be offered a place on the Interstate Commerce Commission.

STOKER ON DREDGE
A stoker on a dredge sank in the water of the port of Portland.

Unable to escape from his cabin aboard the Port of Portland dredge when it sank Friday at the foot of Ross Island, Arthur Gardner, stoker aboard the craft, was drowned. His body was found today resting in eight feet of water.

At the time the port dredge sank it was believed that all the members of the crew escaped to the upper rigging. The sinking was caused by the breaking of the discharge pipe in the hull and as the dredge slowly settled in the water, the 50 members of the crew scrambled to safety.

It was not ascertained that Gardner was missing until this morning. Another member of the crew had made an engagement to meet the missing man Friday night and when he did not show up he informed the corner's office.

Deputy Coroner Leo Gotsch went to the sunken craft and with a pole located Gardner's body in his cabin. The drowned man evidently was asleep in his cabin when the dredge sank. His cabin was amidship.

Gardner was 62 years of age and a relief man. A sister, Mrs. A. M. Sablin, resides at Bountiful, Utah.

RUSS REBELS SEIZE BALTIC FLEET, FORTS

Sailors in Petrograd Reported to Be Rushing to Standards of White Forces and Seem to Be in Full Command at Kronstadt.

Helisingsfors, March 5.—(U. P.)—Russian rebels have seized the Baltic fleet and land fortifications, reports from Reval said today.

Sailors in Petrograd were reported flocking to the White standard. The developments indicated a great gain in strength for the White forces, which apparently were in command at Kronstadt, headquarters for the Baltic fleet, and the naval training establishment.

TROOPS IN MUTINY
More than 50 persons have been killed and 890 wounded in street fighting in Moscow where 35,000 soviet troops are said to have mutinied when they were ordered northward to crush the rebellion.

The counter revolution is completely organized, said a Riga dispatch to the Daily Express. "Reactionary cries of 'Down with the Reds' are heard everywhere. A feverish state of affairs exists at Moscow and an attack is being organized against the kremenin, the headquarters of the soviet. The kremenin is guarded by a communist international legion.

REVOLUTION IS SPREADING
The counter revolutionary movement in which the will survive.

The fighting broke out on a big scale when Lenin tried to suppress an outbreak in the city of Petrograd. The wireless station at Petrograd is reported to have been destroyed. Admiral Rozhanski, commander of the Baltic fleet, High Commissioner Calinin and Commander Vasilev of Kronstadt were said to have been arrested and sent to the prison.

The Petrograd revolutionists have sent an ultimatum to Moscow demanding release of all revolutionary prisoners. "The ultimatum was to have expired today.

NEVADA SENATOR SHOT BY CLIENT

Washington, March 5.—(I. N. S.)—Senator Charles B. Henderson of Nevada, was shot and slightly wounded in his office in the capitol today by a man who gave his name as Charles August Brock, 65, formerly a Nevada legislator, now living in Washington. The shot took effect in the senator's wrist and is not considered serious.

Brock was arrested by the capitol police and rushed to the Sixth Precinct police station, where he was placed in a cell.

Brock told the police that Henderson had been his attorney for 25 years, and that he had "swindled" him out of $200. Clark, Henderson's secretary, said the man had been loitering about the office for several days seeking an interview with the senator.

SANITY IS QUESTIONED
The police declared they questioned the man's sanity and planned to have him placed under observation.

The shooting created a furor of excitement in the senate office building.

Senator Henderson was just preparing to vacate his office, which he did, expired yesterday. His assailant entered the outer of the two offices just as Henderson emerged from the inner room.

As soon as he saw Henderson the man pulled out a revolver. Henderson was hit in his arm just as Brock fired, receiving the bullet in his wrist. His action probably saved his life.

The report of the shot brought stenographers, clerks and office attaches running to the office. Brock was quietly walking away. He had the gun in his hand.

ORDERED TO DROP GUN
"Drop that gun!" ordered George B. Messer, a secretary in one of the offices.

Brock complied and Messer then marched him down the corridor and into custody of a policeman.

Henderson was assisted from his office to that of Senator Ball of Delaware, who is a physician. Senator Ball dressed the injury and advised him to go to the emergency hospital in which he did.

Employees in Henderson's office said they knew the man as Brock, although he gave his name to the police as Brock. They said Senator Henderson had represented him in a lawsuit in Nevada many years ago and the man had a fancied grievance against him.

Idol Vents Its Wrath On Seaman

In Nagasaki there are no street lights. Down near the waterfront, where the scum of all nations stirs restlessly, Abe Franklin, able seaman, met and bargained with an Oriental vandal.

No "rickshaws entered the deserted street where Franklin counted out 1000 yen and received for this fraud a priceless gold-lacquered Buddha. Until the greedy fingers of the Nipponese touched the Buddha, the gold Buddha sat undisturbed in its sacred shrine and watched over the fortunes of many thousand worshipping Japanese.

PRIESTS SLEEP; TEMPLE LOOTED
While the priests of the temple slept and the little god was unprotected, the vandal violated the shrine. Buddha was borne away by a crowd of thieves.

Just as the transfer was made and Abe Franklin with Buddha wrapped in a soiled handkerchief started for the dory, a crowd of thieves, without the captain finding out about his escapade.

Months later the tramp put in to Portland, where the Buddha came in and the Southern Pacific, the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern. At the present time the legal departments of the companies are busy at work drawing the contracts under which the companies will use the terminal jointly.

NARROW DECEITFUL BAIL

Chuey Sim, president of the Suey Sing Tong was released under $10,000 bail this morning by United States Commissioner Kenneth Fraser pending a preliminary hearing on March 16, for alleged violation of the Harrison narcotic act and the smuggling laws.

Following his arrest late Friday afternoon on the east side by Customs inspectors Kieppel, Grady, Crewdson and Squiresworth, about $20,000 worth of narcotics were seized from him. The seizure made in the state since the Harrison act went into effect, federal officials declare.

FIELD MEN DOPE
Internal Revenue Agents W. R. Wood and J. J. Higgins accompanied the customs officials to a house at 205 East Twenty-third street, north, where they found a large cache secreted about the house.

The Chinaman had removed the baseboard, door casings and other fixtures about the house and secreted the drugs behind them. The officers found 19,200 grains of cocaine and morphine, two large quantities of opium, opium-smoking outfit, a quantity of yeh shee and a number of empty cans which are said to have recently contained several thousand dollars' worth of narcotics.

Chuey is already under $5000 bond on a similar charge, for which he was sentenced to two years' imprisonment at McNeill's Island on December 30 by Judge Wolverton. The bond is up pending an appeal to the circuit court of appeals at San Francisco.

SPOTTED BY GRADY
Chuey was arrested as he started off in his high powered limousine automobile. As he had three packages of opium in his possession at the time of arrest, the government has also seized his car.

Chuey is said to have parked his car on the twenty-first street viaduct across Sullivan's gulch every day about 5 p. m. According to Grady, who lives in the neighborhood and has been watching him, Chuey would descend into the gulch at the bridge, walk up the track two blocks and then start up the bank to the house on the south side of the gulch, which adjoins the gulch on the south side at this point.

SOLD TO CHINAMEN
At the time of Chuey's previous arrest he is said to have operated similarly. He used a house on that occasion located at 35 East Twenty-fourth street north, which he rented to a Chinese Fourth street. Narcotics agents declare Chuey to be one of the cleverest narcotic violators in Portland.

For years he is said to have protected himself by refusing to sell any drugs to a white man. He did all his business with Chinamen, because he believed that no Chinaman would ever disclose the source of his supply. The Chinamen to whom Chuey is said to have sold are named by the federal agents as the men who retail to addicts.

At the time of Chuey's recent trial he was charged in open court with being the director of a gang of Chinese smugglers, who are bringing in opium, morphine and cocaine from the United States to the United States.

Chief Inspector Kieppel said that Chuey did not attempt to get anything out of Oriental boats which land here.

RAILWAYS TO GET BENEFIT FROM PORT

Plans for the construction of the joint railway terminal in the Guild's Lake district are now in course of evolution in the engineering, executive and legal departments of the four railroad companies which are to join in that improvement, and in all logical probability, the inauguration of that development will mark, at the same time, the commencement of the first big dredging job of the Port of Portland in the proposed west channel project.

WILSON LAID BY FORMER CABINET
Washington, March 5.—(U. P.)—A letter of tribute to former President Wilson from the former Wilson cabinet was made public today by the state department. The letter, signed by every member of the former cabinet, stated that "history will acclaim" the "great qualities" of the former president. The text of the letter follows:

The final moments of the cabinet on Tuesday found us quite unable to express the poignant feelings which we realized that the hour of leadership and official dispersal had arrived.

Will you permit us to say to you now and again, as we can, how great a place you occupy in our honor, love and esteem?

We have seen you in times of momentous crisis. We have seen your uncomplaining toil under the heavy and unremitting burdens of the presidency. We have had the inestimable privilege of sharing some of your labors. At all times you have been to our ideal of a courageous, high-minded, modest gentleman, a patriotic servant, an intense and passionate lover of your country.

You have displayed toward us a trust and confidence that has touched us, when under partisan attack, with staunch and untiring loyalty and placing at our command, always in the most considerate way, the wisdom of your counsel and the force of your personal qualities. We who have known you so intimately bear witness to them now.

We fervently wish you, dear Mr. President, long life and the happiness that you so richly deserve and have so abundantly earned.

Russia Will Seek Trade With America If Britain Rejects

Berlin, March 5.—(U. P.)—Russia will attempt to trade with the United States if Great Britain does not accept her revised trade agreement, Leonid Kraassin, envoy, declared in an interview today.

Kraassin said the Russian agreement with Washington D. Vanderlip, where the trade treaty was turned over to American capitalists, has not been completed.

"I am able to confirm," he said, "that Vanderlip's offer presented in return for concessions in Siberia, were rejected. Mr. Vanderlip did not claim to represent Mr. Harding in his negotiations."

FOREIGNERS IN LUCK; FAIL TO SABA SPEECH

Hughie come here under the impression that it was a sporting event. But in an inauguration you generally always know how it's coming out; where as in a sporting event they an element of uncertainty unless it's a wrestling match or a white Sox world serious or a football game at Yale.

RABBIT SET WATCH
When Ring entered the ring, the retreating senators were being treated to some sweet words of fare well by Hans over senators with their fingers crossed. The democratic side of the chamber was vacant, which is as it should be. Senators of this party had given up their seats to cabinet members and the ambassadors from foreign lands. When I seen their costumes I thought we was at the funeral of a prominent judge.

DAVID PETERSON, AN EMPLOYEE OF THE CITY WATER DEPARTMENT, WAS FATALLY INJURED ABOUT NOON TODAY AT EAST NINTH AND ALDER STREETS, AFTER A "BOOSTING STICK" STRUCK HIM IN THE JAW AND GAVE HIS HEAD SUCH A SEVERE TURN AS TO BREAK HIS NECK. PETERSON DIED BEFORE HE REACHED THE POLICE EMERGENCY HOSPITAL.

Peterson was assisting other city employees roll an 1100 pound 12 inch water pipe over another section of pipe the same size. Two men were at each end of the pipe. A man on the opposite end from David Peterson, who was holding his "boosting stick," which caused the pipe to roll back toward Peterson. Fearing that he would be crushed by the pipe Peterson dropped his boosting stick and attempted to jump across both sections of pipe. His foot caught between the two pipes and as he remained in this position for a second, Peterson's own boosting stick, which he had dropped, flew through the air and delivered the fatal blow to the back of his head, in which the pipe rolled caused Peterson's stick to act as a boomerang.

Peterson was 35 years of age, single, and resided at 2115 East Eleventh street. Deputy Coroner Leo Gotsch took charge of the body and is attempting to ascertain the names of relatives.

Mud Prevents Use Of Mail Trucks on Crane-Lawn Road

Burns, March 5.—A total of 9.98 inches of precipitation was recorded by the local weather man between February 1, 1920, and March 1, 1921, more than had been recorded during any like period in the history of the city. The result is a greater amount than fell in 11 months preceding November 1, 1920.

Teams are utilized to carry the mail from Crane to Lawn, where it is transferred to motor trucks. Between Burns and Lawn, where the highway is gravelled, traveling is good, but from the end of the highway to Crane is a sea of mud.

New Fish and Game Bodies to Organize

Salem, Or., March 5.—Governor Olcott today issued calls for meetings of the new fish and game commissions in Portland Thursday morning. The principal business before these initial sessions will be the organization of the commissions and the selection of a market fish warden by the former and election of a game warden by the latter. It is expected here that A. E. Burghdoff, warden under the old commission, will be retained.
