IST OF VIVIANI

OPENING OF FIGH

By Lowell Vellett

or so in Washington may be the beginning of an open struggle between France and Great Britain for the preferred friendship of the. United States. It would bring into the open at the same time the serious conflict

The situation that has come 'about since the war is not in the least to France's liking. The French do not like the fact that her interests continue to depend more or less on British interests. There is constant efforts on the part of the French to shake their conti-mental policy loose from British policy, but since the policy of each is inex-tricably bound up with the German set-

We do not intend to be the house of iticians frequently express their de Hapsburg to England's house of Hohenzollern," is the way exasperated French termination to cut themselves free from the influence of British policies. France has not lost her dream of becoming in fact what she always has been in spirit, a first rate power. But the difficulties of realizing her dreams remain enor-mous. Poverty stricken in consequence mous. Poverty stricken in consequence of the war and her hopes of dominion in East Europe, particularly in Russia,

France has been negotiating in the terms of the treaty in the half-century-old fear, while Britain has been negotiating with plans of restoring her great France has hitherto been regarded as

DISARMAMENT APPROVED

lement this is not easy to achieve.

WOULD STAND ALONE

Germany

middleman business of French and British interests.

Washington, March 21 .- The ar-

United News Staff Corres

THE OREGON DAILY JOURNAL, PORTLAND, OREGON

the league. FRANCE MIGHT CUT LOOSE

The league serves France's purp right back "Don't interrupt me," he told an in-terviewer Sunday. "Can't you see I am conducting a religious service?" America as the actual spokesman for courtship was swift and successful. He left last September, saying that he was going to look for a pastorate. He she said, that he would be an immediate reconciliation with his m wife" was imminen The wife, however, was merely con-cerned about the return of her automoblie and received the news of the in-carceration of her pastor-husband with an unemotional calm.

righteous cause. I have seen the nation demonstrate its fighting strength and then prove its dis-interested devotion to peace and progress.

an optimist. Democracy, which is stronger than any party, will solve all our problems. While I hope and expect to see my party play an important part, the coun-try will go forward whether the Demo-th ment and world peace. God is on his throne and the teachings again and again upset, she has had to of the prince of peace exert an unceas-watch the seeming success of England in pulling profit out of the world catas-ing anything else to do on Sunday. the Rev. Maurice Bodine preached the greatest stumbling block toward dis- to a number of fellow prisoners in armament on a big scale, but it can be said that she looks with real favor on the progress that has been made toward of the transgressor." the progress that has been made toward mutual reductions by Britain and the mutual reductions by Britain and the United States. Now that England is ap-The Rev. Bodine was in jail by virtue of his mysterious disappearance from this city last September in his bride's parently about ready to accept a program that will leave her no longer the absolute misress of the seas. France is beginning to see some good in the idea. If a liberal gesture, indicating that While the bride, Ida Glasshagel, well known modiste, did not resent his disappearance with any bitterness, she felt keenly the loss of her coupe and Rev. France is willing to contract the size of her army noticably, will help to speed the reduction of England's sea forces. Viviani can be expected not to withhold Bodine was traced to the evangelistic fields of Oklahoma. He was arrested at Rosston, Okla., and returned here. She married the minister, she told the Viviani can be expected not to withhold the gesture. France's idea of power is the diplomatic idea. So long as Eng-land's representatives can sit at the council table with the knowledge of all present behind them as an unchallenged sea power, their voice in any settlements is apt to be supreme. Once this suprem-acy is gone, France will feel easier. police, after she had dreamed that a handsome man should come to her door asking for a room and that she would marry him. The handsome stranger, Rev. Bodine, came as visioned and the Events have shaped around to the point where Viviani, whose recent con-version to the League of Nations has not been convincing to all statesmen in and this, country, comes to

> He later said that the whole affair was an "unfortunate mistake" and that in the present emergency, but the inde-pendent backing of the United States might serve her purpose even better. Viviani would be the ideal instrument through which to sacrifice the form of the league in favor of the form of Herd. the league, in favor of the form of Harding's proposed association of nations, if in return for the sacrifice the desired American backing could be had. England will watch events in connec tion with Viviani's visit with acute interest. She expects to send a mission of her own to America reasonably soon, but there are intimations from London that this mission will await the result of Viviani's negotiations before setting sail. Equally it may be the case that the state department may await the coming of the British visitors before committing itself in any way on ques-tions raised by the French. Having in mind the importance of the negotiations on this side of the water being precipi-tated by the two principal European powers, it is already the disposition of the administration to delay action in congress on resolutions looking to the declaration of formal peace with Ger-

Lansing's Pictures · Of Peace Confab Not True, Says Orlando

Rome, March 21.-(I. N. S.)-The pic-tures drawn by Robert Lansing, former American secretary of state, in a series of magazine articles of the chief figures at the peace conference are exaggerated, according to a statement made today by former Piamier Orlando, who headed the Italian peace delegation to Paris

"Mr. Lansing's article representing M. Clemenceau as a kind of tyrant, and Mr. Wilson and Mr. Lloyd George as infants was a great exaggeration," said the Italian statesman. M. Clemenceau's position at the peace conference was most difficult. The United States, like others, did not get the exact kind of peace she wanted. Italy in particular suffered from Mr. Wilson's injustices."

Court to Recess

Washington, March 21.-(I. N. S.)-The United States supreme cpurt today de-cided on a recess from March 28 to April 21. There will be no session of the court next Friday, which is Good Friday.

Isn't it time YOUR home had its share of this joy of ever-present music?

is so wide $25 to $1500 there is surely a Victrola exactly suited to YOUR home and purse,

