Mrs. Tash Kaady's damage case for $40,000 against the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, was thrown out of Circuit Judge Tucker's court this morning on motion of a non-suit on the grounds of insufficient evidence that negligence of the company contributed to the accident in December, 1919, when Mrs. Kaady lost one arm and was dragged 30 feet by a Mount Scott car.

Mrs. Kaady is a Syrian and all her evidence had to be given through an interpreter, so there was considerable confusion in court. She charged that the Mount Scott car was started with a sudden jerk when she attempted to get on at Second and Alder streets and she slipped to the slushy paving, still holding to the car with one hand. Then she fell and one arm lay across the rail as the wheel passed over it.

TEN INDICTMENTS VOTED BY COUNTY GRAND JURY

The Multnomah county grand jury reported 10 open indictments, five secret indictments and five not true bills in Presiding Judge Kavanaugh's court Thursday.

Virgil Myers is charged with forgery; Nicholas Friedrich with forgery; Strauss M. Knight with forgery of an endorsement; Thomas Thomas with forgery; Charles Tooley with taking and using an automobile without permission; Edward B. Hood with larceny and Otto M. Tappmeyer with forgery.

$10,000 Damages Asked

A. B. Shepard asks $10,000 damages of the Standard Oil company because he was hit on the nose with a gasoline pump hose and considerable gasoline forced into his ear. The accident happened at the filling station at Fourth and Madison streets, December 18, the complaint filed in circuit court states.

YOUNG WOMAN SWEARS OUT WARRANT FOR MILTON WOLFF

A statutory charge sworn to by Agnes Malloy of Boring brought about the arrest of Milton Wolff, N. Y., Thursday, of Milton Wolff, former employe of the Portland city health office. The man arrested is a brother of Dr. Leon Wolff, by whom Miss Malloy was formerly employed. A deputy from the sheriff's office will be sent to Brooklyn for Wolff and will return with him to Portland to face the charge here.

DEBS IN CONFERENCE AT WASHINGTON

Apparent today, Attorney General Daugherty will speed up the labor of going over the records in the case. The file of papers in the Debs case is so bulky that it ordinarily would require several weeks to plow through them. Today it is believed that the attorney general will be able to communicate his recommendation to the White House within a few days.

There is good cause to believe that these recommendations will not be unfavorable. Some of the most optimistic of Debs' friends are frankly hopeful of a full presidential pardon, which will restore the noted Socialist to freedom immediately.

By others, however, it is felt that Daugherty's recommendation is far more likely to be for a commutation of sentence in the very near future. Debs still has seven years to serve under his original 10-year sentence for violating the wartime espionage regulations.

THINNER THAN EVER

The physical appearance of the prisoner made a marked impression on the attorney general and those few others who saw him during his brief stay here. Naturally thin and cadaverous, the three years which he has spent in Atlanta has enhanced this appearance and added to it is the pallor that necessarily accompanies confinement in four walls. The marked thing about his appearance, however, was the indication of extreme nervousness.

TWO ARE KILLED IN LOS ANGELES WIND

Los Angeles, Cal., March 25.—(U. N. S.)—Two men were killed by a falling tree, a number of other persons had narrow escapes from death or serious injury in accidents, traffic was hindered and there was a small property loss as a result of a heavy windstorm that blew over Los Angeles and Southern California today.

Short circuits of high-power lines acted to demoralize streetcar traffic on many lines.

Trolley and telegraph poles were blown down in some instances, numerous traffic accidents occurred, and one fatal accident was reported.

The winds reached a velocity of 45 miles an hour for a brief period, according to officials of the government weather bureau, but toward noon it had abated somewhat.

The fatal accident was caused by a large tree being uprooted and falling on an automobile. Frank J. Pearing and David Lettler were killed almost instantly.

Hearing Resumed in Case of Hedderly's Widow for Damages

Testimony was resumed Friday morning before Judge R. S. Bean of the federal district court, in the case of Lena A. Hedderly versus William R. Wood, James J. Biggins and Delazon C. Smith, former revenue officers, who shot and killed Robert W. Hedderly on September 10, 1920, on Union and East street, as he sought to evade arrest on a bootlegging charge. Damages amounting to $7500 are asked by the plaintiff for the death of her husband.

The case came up for trial Thursday afternoon and a total of 28 veniremen were examined before a jury was obtained. The defense presented their testimony Thursday afternoon and on Friday forenoon, calling in all about a dozen witnesses. It is expected to complete the case for presentation to the jury late this afternoon.

It is alleged in the complaint that the defendants conspired to effect the arrest of Hedderly at all costs, and that the shooting which resulted in the death of Hedderly could have been avoided and was not necessary in self defense. The case caused a great deal of excitement last fall, and on an official investigation several of the men involved were dismissed from the federal service.

Quick Police Work Returns Stolen Instrument to Girl

Police detectives, working on information furnished by a citizen who saw two roughly dressed men enter a pawnshop with an expensive violin case, recovered a valuable violin stolen from Miss Marian Alband, 5803 Woodstock avenue, and had it waiting for her at police headquarters when she called Thursday afternoon to report the theft. The violin was stolen from the family automobile at Third and Morrison streets. The thief had pawned it for $3.50.

Teamster Who Ran Away From Home Gets $2,000,000

Cheyenne, Wyo., March 25.—(U. P.)—L. C. Leshar is a teamster of Thermopolis, Wyo. Many years ago, while in his teens, he ran away from his father's home in California and never returned despite parental appeals.

Today he received word that his father, a wealthy shipowner, had died and left the son $2,000,000.

Who asked how he would spend his inheritance, Leshar said:

"First, I'm going to build a park where girls and boys may play and learn that running away from home is no pleasant affair. Then, just to prove that my wealth hasn't made me 'stuck up,' I'm going to keep my membership in the teamsters' union and erect a home for broken down laborers."

Owners of Untagged Dogs Assessed Fine

Carrying out his campaign against persons who keep dogs without city licenses, Humane Officer Ross Churchill took two more offenders before Municipal Judge Rossman this morning. L. R. Duvall, 722 1/2 Foster road, was fined $5 and Mrs. J. Spencer, 384 East Burnside, $10. Churchill says he intends to keep after all dogs in the city until they all obtain licenses. In addition to the fines the offenders must also purchase the license.

Christ's Influence Grows Greater With Time, Says Bishop

Speaking at the noonday meeting at the Pantages theatre today, Bishop W. O. Shepard of the Methodist church said: "The crucifixion of Jesus Christ has turned on him the attention of the world. They who cried 'Crucify him' thought that such a death would be the end of his influence, but it was but the beginning of a mighty force which gathers new strength every century. The cross tells us that a true life cannot end ignominiously. It assures us that cruelty and hatred are impotent, and that love and innocence are omnipotent."

New Equipment Is Needed by the Port, City Club Is Told

Need of new equipment for the Port of Portland was told by James H. Polhemus, manager of the corporation, at the luncheon held by the Portland City club this noon in the Benson hotel. The port has the channel, the Christian and St. Helens to keep clear, according to Polhemus, and with the work in the harbor now on hand the time needed to complete the projects will be two years, using the present equipment to capacity.

He stated that the two features of the legislation for the port passed by the state legislature besides the appropriation of the authority to condemn land for disposal of dredge dumping and to assess land adjacent to any channel improvements for the value of the work done.

Dr. E. H. Pence, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, made an appeal for the members of the club to get behind the Community Chest not as clubmen, but as individual citizens.

The second special Saturday morning matinee at the Hippodrome theatre for the benefit of the industrial division of the public welfare bureau will be given Saturday at 10 a. m.

It has been decided to have both boys and girls, instead of girls only. The girls will have the main floor and the boys the balcony and gallery. A bundle of old clothing can be exchanged for tickets.

Japanese Are Fined

Five Japanese pleaded guilty Thursday afternoon before Judge C. E. Wolverson of the federal district to charges preferred against them for violations of the prohibition laws and were given fines ranging from $50 to $200. The men were picked up some time ago and charged with the possession of apparatus for the manufacture of "saki." Those who pleaded guilty were as follows: M. Okada, fined $50; M. Nakamura, fined $50; S. Ohno, fined $150; T. Mahikawa, fined $200, and Y. Yamamoto, fined $100.

Liquor Possessor Fined

Peter Belietick, 526 Pettitgrove street, was fined $100 in District Judge Hawkins' court this morning for having liquor in his possession. Belietick was the owner of four pints when Deputy Sheriff Beeman got him at his home Thursday evening.

NEW ISOLATION HOSPITAL TO BE OPENED MONDAY

The city's new isolation hospital at Kelly Butte is to be opened by City Health Officer Parrish next Monday, and 30 cases of contagious diseases will be transferred there. The hospital can accommodate 60 patients with present equipment.

The place will be in charge of Dr. R. W. Sipple of the health department, and there will be one nurse and a cook constantly stationed there.

The isolation hospital is a concrete structure 60 by 110 feet, with two full stories, an unfinished attic that later can be utilized, and with a basement underneath the entire structure. The building and equipment represent an outlay of $2,000.

Dr. Parrish stated today that the smallpox patients will be moved to the new building, to be cared for along with other patients, although he had hoped that this plan would not be necessary.

He had proposed that the cottage which has been used for smallpox patients and located about two blocks distant from the new hospital be moved over, so that it could be connected with the heating plant of the new hospital, and the same attendants give service to both. He offered to use $1000 of the health department appropriation to aid in meeting the moving expense. The council would provide a like amount, he said, but the council refused to do this. Because of the increased cost in maintaining the two places separately, Parrish says he will now adopt the plan of putting all patients in the one building.

ENGINEERS ASK APPOINTMENT OF THREE IN RATE HEARING

The names of Frank S. Baillie, A. H. Lamm, J. W. Morris and E. C. Willard have been submitted to the mayor and city council by the executive board of the American Association of Engineers as men qualified to act for the city in the investigation of the proposed rearing in the telephone rate case. The board has adopted resolutions asking the city council to appoint a Portland man as such an engineer.

The local chapter of the American Engineers' association has also declared itself in favor of having the city engineer appointed a member of the 1925 expedition board, as it was pointed out his office would place him in a position to be of great service to the board.

$250,000 TO BE SPENT ON HEADWORKS AT BULL RUN

Chief Engineer Randlett of the city water department is preparing data on which contracts will be awarded some time in April for an outlay of approximately $250,000 at the headworks of the Bull Run water reserve. The project will include construction of a dam, powerhouse and screen house and it is estimated the construction proposed will require six months' time for completion. The proposed dam will check freshets and increase the pressure on the water mains, as well as protect the canal, according to engineers.

City Hall Evicts Mayor Barber for his recommendation

Mayor Barber for his recommendation applications for permits to erect private garages as follows: J. J. Jennings on East Twenty-first street, between Knott and Stanton streets; Sadie L. Smith, southeast corner of First and F streets; Jessie H. Thompson, Davenport street, between Elizabeth street and Governor Park; F. C. Goldapp, East Eighth street, between Beacon and McLaughlin streets.

So extensive has been the remonstrance against the proposed extension of East Davis street from block 17 1/2, Lydia Buckman's addition to East Sixteenth street, that the city council has decided to discontinue all proceedings for the extension.

The city council has accepted the bid of Sam Dyou for the construction of a sewer in Wasco street, from a point 175 feet east of East Eighty-fourth street to the sewer in East Eighty-second street, at a cost of $3994.71.

INSPECTORS ARE RETAINED DESPITE BARBER'S PROTEST

W. A. McQuiggin and Carl Reuter are to remain on the eligible list of the city civil service commission for inspectors in the department of public works, regardless of the desire of City Commissioner Barber, head of the department, to have them dropped from the rolls. So the civil service board decided Thursday afternoon, after a hearing.

Because of poor work in the laying of four sewer jobs, the city has required the contractors to relay the pipe. Investigation showed that McQuiggin was inspector on each of these jobs and Reuter was also on part of the work. The men were removed from the city service.

But, it transpires, each had taken the civil service examination prior to his removal and were placed on the eligible list. McQuiggin maintained at the hear-

Man Takes Electric Light Bulb to Bed; Firemen Are Called

Charles Courtney, who lives in an apartment house at 475 Taylor street, was so ill early this morning that he declared he could not turn over in bed. An electric bulb was placed under the covers to give him warmth. About 6:30 it set fire to the bedclothes and Courtney forgot his indisposition as he jumped out and fought the blaze. He grabbed a broom to beat the fire, and this scattered the sparks into boxes of clothing and upon the carpet. In the midst of his excitement Fireman Thomas Strohmman of engine company No. 1 appeared and quelled the blaze after damage of about $75 had been done—and Courtney went back to bed.
