BUTTER DECLINES POTATO MEN TO AND MARKET SOFT

FRIDAY BUTTER, EGGS

in the butter market and the drop of 3c a pound effective during the day, as nentioned in a previous edition of The Journal, was therefore no surprise. Butter prices have for some time been out of ine with general commodity values and for this here has been no special reason aside from efforts of the creamery interests to protect the airy industry as long as possible.

That butter prices would see the commodity of the creamery interests. seek the lowest level for a number of has been forecast by the trade for some in fact every deline appears to only add depression in the trade and buyers are, re, purchasing only for daily requirements. ert. By Hyman H. Cohen Conference of California potato grow definite date has been set as yet. That many California interests are for the protection of the Oregon potato industry, is indicated by recent advices from the south. of the state board of horticulture has been investigating the California potato that a meeting at Portland would solve the present strained relations between the potato interests of the two states. There is no desire on the part of Oregon to shut California potatoes out of this market providing they are not nfected with the tuber moth, although that appears to be the usual plan of California when it wants to eliminate ompetition from other states, All that this state desires is that the potato industry be protected against the most dreaded of potato insects. protection will be given whether California interests agree to it or not.

FRIDAY CHEESE MARKET

22c a pound but indications point to a further decline within the immedate With the output of cheese increasing rapidly prices on the coast have been so far out of line with other American centers that Atlantic coast product is coming forward in carload lots.

While pothing definite has been made public by the organization, the trade reports that the Dairymen's League is offering its best triplets to the Portland trade at 29c a pound, delivered here, and that one of the Western Washington makers has cut the price to 19c Portland,

These prices for cheese are somewhat below
the values that ruled just previous to the war, ndicating that the market will finally settle upon the lowest values for a number of years.

This is likely to be especially true of Oregon where there is a fight on between two organizations for control of the trade. This will in

Cotton Is Weaker After Early Close

New York, April 29.—(I. N. S.)—Considering the fact that cables were weak the cotton market had a steady opening today, prices being 5 points lower to 3 points higher. The demand came mostly from Wall street and trade interests, while New Orleans and other Southern centers scid. Later the list gradually worked lower under pressure of the South and at the end of the first 15 minutes was about 7 points below the previous close.

The market continued dull and featureless in the late dealings. The close was very steady at a net decline of 3 points to a net advance of 3 points. New York, April 29 .- (I. N. S.) -Consider-

There were practically no hoge on the market at North Portland for the Friday trade. The limited supply that came forward over night was on contract to local killers. Prices were considered about steady, but nominal.

General sheep and lamb range

Scattle, Wash., April 29,—(I, N. S.)—No livestock receipts today. oJseph, Or.—Weather generally stormy and cold. Very little work done past week. Fall grains, pastures and livestock in fair condition. Shaniko, Or.—Light showers. Soil in good condition, sufficient moisture for growing crops. Livestock pastures looking well. Not much fat stuff moving. Fall and spring crops have a healthy color and making good growth.

Jone, Or.—Condition of soil good. Wheat prespects never better at this time of year. Pastures improving. Outlook for crops good.
