

TRAIN ROBBER IS CAPTURED WITH 4 GUNS TO HEAD

Sacramento, Cal., May 24.—(U. P.)—Roy Gardner, mail robber, wanted for the hold-up of the Southern Pacific Overland Limited mail car near Newcastle Friday night and the Los Angeles mail truck some time ago, was held incommunicado in the city jail here today.

Gardner was arrested last night by Southern Pacific detectives and federal officers in a small hotel in Roseville, 18 miles from here, while playing a game of cards. The arrest came as a surprise to local police.

ADMITS IDENTITY
"Well, I'll be d—d!" remarked Sheriff Ellis Jones of Sacramento, who had been combing this section of the state for three days in search of Gardner. Jones learned of the arrest this morning. He had abandoned the search yesterday.

"What's your name?" asked Detective Sergeant George Maley when Gardner was brought in early this morning. "Gardner," was the reply. "And your first name?"

DESCRIBES CAPTURE
"Oh, yes; I've seen your name in the papers," commented the detective. "You should have seen that dealer's face when they arrested me," volunteered Gardner. "It was the funniest thing I've seen since I left Los Angeles. I knew McAuley when he came in. I made him right away. I was feeling the cards when they stuck four guns in my face. I kept right on dealing, but I thought the fellow that was running the game was going to pass out."

Gardner, when questioned regarding the Newcastle robbery, expressed surprise. He denied he was connected with the robbery of the mail car near Newcastle Friday night when more than 50 mail sacks were ripped open and the mail clerk bound and robbed of $11 and a watch.

The suspect is wanted on several charges. He escaped from federal officers near Portland last June 20, while being taken to McNeil's island to serve a sentence following conviction on a charge of mail robbery in San Diego. In that robbery he is said to have obtained $75,000.

A small sum of money, a bunch of keys and a .45 caliber revolver were found on Gardner when he was arrested. Only once did Gardner show any emotion and that was when officers asked him about his trip to Napa where he was reported to have gone to visit his wife. His eyes welled with tears and he would not speak.

Gardner will be taken to San Quentin today. It is believed.

Police believe Gardner was implicated in the attempted holdup of a mail car in the Southern Pacific yards here last

ROY GARDNER ESCAPED FROM TRAIN IN PORTLAND

Gardner escaped from a California train near the East Morrison street depot the night of June 7, 1920, with a Chinese prisoner, Tom Wong, after the two had handcuffed W. E. Kavanaugh, California deputy United States marshal, and his guard, together and held them at bay with the marshal's revolver. Gardner jumped from the train and was never seen again in this district. The Chinaman was injured in the jump and was captured the following day by the police and taken to McNeil's island. Another Chinese prisoner in the party did not attempt to escape.

The five men had been in the dining car of the train and were returning to their private drawing room after the city limits were reached. As the guards were placing the three prisoners in the compartment, Gardner rushed the marshal, secured his weapon and handcuffs, and with the aid of Wong handcuffed the two officers together. No one on the train was aware of the event, because it happened in the drawing room.

During the 11 months Gardner has been at liberty he is said to have been in Australia. Trace of him was discovered May 11 near Napa, Cal., when Gardner talked to his wife over the telephone. Gardner is under 25 years' sentence to McNeil's island prison for the $75,000 registered mail robbery at San Diego in 1919.

SPEAKER SCORES ALLEGED SCHEME OF LIQUOR MEN

The effort to nullify the national prohibition law by securing a modification of the Volstead act to permit the manufacture and sale of beer was charged against the liquor interests of the nation, Sunday night at the Sunnyside Methodist church, by Captain Frank B. Ebbert, attorney for the Anti-Saloon League of America for the Pacific coast.

Captain Ebbert reviewed the ratification of the eighteenth amendment, reciting how out of 98 legislative bodies in America, 95 had ratified the amendment by large majorities.

"The liquor interests made a determined effort at the national presidential conventions to have all candidates agree," he said, "if nominated and elected to favor a modification of the Volstead act. The liquor interests could change the definition of intoxicating liquor by securing a simple majority of congress."

"This would mean a return of the old liquor business," he said, "for no matter how intoxicated one might become on become intoxicated because congress would have declared it non-intoxicating. In this event any boy or girl could purchase a glass of beer just as freely as they purchase soft drinks today."

Ebbert declared the liquor interests were purposely encouraging bootlegging in an effort to show that prohibition could not be enforced, in the hope that the people would become discouraged and approve the manufacture and sale of beer as a means of satisfying the cravings of a minority. He further stated that the liquor traffic has defied all law from the beginning of the government and therefore cannot be expected to quietly surrender simply because an amendment has been added to the constitution.

"In 1794 the liquor traffic started the whiskey rebellion," he said, "because a 7 cents per gallon tax was placed on the production of whiskey. This traffic has been in rebellion against regulative and restrictive prohibition laws ever since."

"Those who know the history of the Anti-Saloon league will not be so foolish as to believe that the fight is over simply because the law prohibits the sale of liquor. We will not reach the end until we have demonstrated that the government is bigger and stronger than the traffic which it has outlawed. The issue now at stake is one of law and order. Public sentiment must be and will be crystallized for law enforcement, and an organized sustained effort must be made to do everything that is necessary to have the law enforced if our form of government is to survive."

"BUNDLE DAY" for the NEAR EAST RELIEF

Wednesday, May 25th

FAMINE and want still stalk in the wake of the Turk throughout Armenia. Industry is paralyzed. The people though willing, cannot earn a livelihood.

Because of this, they have been unable to obtain clothing and many, many thousands are wandering about with barely a rag to cover them.

Much suffering and deep privation is thus caused—rheumatism, pneumonia and all other ills brought about by this exposure, are their lot.

And the poor little children—can you not, yourself, imagine how blighted their little lives—what agony they suffer?

Besides this, they have scarcely a toy to help while away the dreary days—to bring a little brightness and joy into their lives—to teach them to laugh and to play.

For the purpose of alleviating much of this want and distress, Near East Relief, which, under a congressional charter operates in this field, has undertaken to collect quantities of cast-off or other spare clothing. What is needed is good, practicable clothing.

Everyone is asked to help. A single coat may save a human life. A day's delay in sending it may cost one. When gathering up your bundle of clothing for the relief ship, don't forget the toys!

To Alexander Graham Bell will always belong the chief honor of inventing the telephone. Bell's work in itself superseded the efforts of Page, whose research was advanced in 1837; Bourseul in 1854; and Reis about 1860. In 1878 Bell's transmitter was itself superseded by Hunning's "granular carbon transmitter"; since perfected by A. C. White, whose "solid back transmitter" has practically displaced all earlier forms.

MOST inventions develop slowly. Here a little detail. There another—and so on, until you can hardly tell when the perfected device finally took shape.

Here in the New Improved Gillette is one of the startling exceptions. At one stroke—micrometric precision, exact to 1/1000 inch, and these three fundamental discoveries, the Fulcrum Shoulder, Overhanging Cap and Channeled Guard.

The result of the unequalled Gillette experience and resources, developed by nearly 20 years' service to the shaving needs of every civilized people on the surface of the globe.

Even measured against your old-type Gillette, the New Improved Gillette Safety Razor represents an advance of 75% in shaving comfort and efficiency.

To the man who has never used an old-type Gillette, we say this: Compare the New Improved Gillette with any shaving method or device you know now.

It opens up an entirely new era in shaving—the era of precision, of exact and predictable results.

It is worth any man's money—no matter how attached he may be to his old-fashioned razor or old-type Gillette.

NOTE:—The Gillette Company assumes full responsibility for the service of Gillette Blades when used in any GENUINE Gillette Razor—either old-type or New Improved Gillette. But with IMITATIONS of the genuine Gillette, it cannot take responsibility for service of Blades.
