Caught; Sentence Doubled by Court

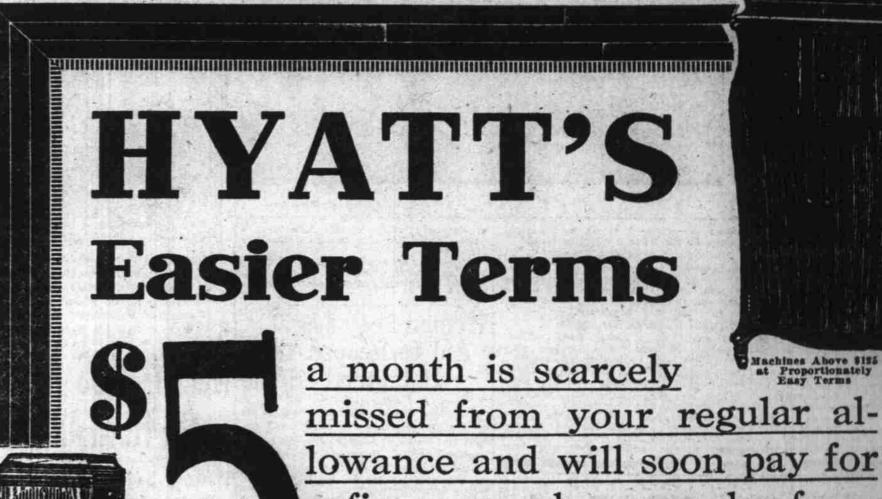

Sent out from the city jail to chop brush on the East Side, Oscar Rood, "de-natured alcohol expert," ran away from his job and temporarily escaped from a 21 day sentence.

Friday night Rood set about to cele-brate his return to the untrammeled free-dom of the North End. Denatured alco-hol flowed freely, and the current of the flery liquid "floated" Rood back into the police court Saturday morning.

"In again, out again, 42 days for you this time. Rood. Stick around and enjoy the weather. Don't be in a hurry to get away next time," murmured the court.
