

CHICAGO'S JOBLESS ANSWER HARVESTS' CALL BY THOUSAND

By James L. Kigallen
Chicago, June 20.—Canal street, "the street of the unemployed," is almost deserted.
Only downright bums and professional hoboes are left.
Pink and green signs are everywhere in the rows of employment office windows. They read:
"Wanted—High-class farm help at once."
The harvest season is on.
Ever since last October the brief stretch of Canal street between the Northwestern and Union stations has been packed with battalions of able-bodied men looking for employment, waiting for something to "turn up."
Business was bad.
"DOWN AND OUT" DISAPPEAR
It was the street of the "down and out," the hangout of the jobless. No one walked with a fast step.
But in the last few days the "no jobs" signs have been taken down. No longer do the men of Canal street gape idly into the windows of pawnshops, employment offices and the dirty little periodicals that feature paper-backed novels with such titles as "Night Life in Paris," "The James Boys in Missouri" and "Secrets of an Actress."
They're at work!
Listen to the veteran employment manager, Axel A. Johnson, who has hired men on the "street" for 28 years:
"Oh, yes, United News reporter, back again, I see. Different than it was three months ago when you were here before, isn't it?"
"Well, sir, I can't get enough help now. Nobody can, down here. Of course, I mean good help. The only ones left around here and over along West Madison street are bums. They're no good—won't work."
"Kansas wants help badly, right now. Can use all the men I can get. Illinois has started haying. The lumber camps of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan will need many men in a few weeks, when log cutting and bark peeling starts. The railroads will begin construction work in earnest after the United States railroad board decision July 1."
"Business is picking up. You can feel it right away, down here."
"Why, three months ago there were between 15,000 and 18,000 jobless men roaming this district. Now there are about 4000. And the number is diminishing rapidly."
"WAGES NEAR CITY MARK
Farm help is being paid from $40 to $5 a month, with board, room and washing, which, according to Johnson, is equal to $100 a month in the city. A year ago the farmers were paying as high as $80 a month and board."
"One thing I've noticed," said the employment manager, "is that many boys are going back to the farm. They've had enough of city life and factory work."
Turning to a young chap, with a roused face, he inquired:
"Isn't that right, buddy?"
"I'll say it is," the young fellow replied. "Me for Kansas!"

Two O. A. C. Girls Are Tied for First At Stock Judging

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, June 21.—Ruth Quimby, from Linn county, and Elizabeth Dimmitt, from Klamath county, tied for first place in the first of a series of stock judging contests for boys and girls in attendance at the junior summer session. Each had 825 points.
Kenneth Colwell and Alexander Cheyne of Klamath county tied for second place with 510 points. Four, with 485 points each, tied for third place and seven tied for fourth place.
Major W. F. Wilton has been sent to relieve Major W. P. Sharp, head of the artillery unit of the military department, who has been ordered to the school of the line at Leavenworth.
The summer session opened Monday with a heavy registration. Henry Lawrence Southwick, president of the Emerson College of Oratory, Boston, will deliver the first convocation address this evening.

New City Wall Map Comprehensive View Of Portland in 1921

A new and unique city wall map has just been issued by the Heald-Menerly company. All the territory embraced in the city limits is included, with additions properly indicated, and car lines, railroads, docks, tunnels, streets and harbor lines indicated. A feature is the explanation of the house numbering system, with numbers on the face of the map making it possible to locate any desired address.
A convenient color scheme indicates paved and macadamized streets. The map is brought down to date and has been compiled from the official records of Multnomah county and the city of Portland.

Herman Rosse, Art Leader, to Lecture At Portland Museum

The arrival of Herman Rosse, painter, decorator, designer and architect, is of interest to art circles in the city. Rosse is head of the decoration and design department of the Art Institute of Chicago and became widely known in America during the Panama-Pacific exposition in 1915 when he had complete charge of the decoration and designing of the Netherlands exhibit at San Francisco. He has also had personal supervision of the Peace Palace at The Hague and as a resident of Chicago has done much for the advancement of artistry in staging pantomimes and opera productions. He has also had to do with the designing for the stage settings of the Chicago Grand Opera productions.
Rosse will give a series of lectures and take charge of a six weeks' course in design, handcrafts, decorative painting and like subjects at the Portland Art association. The classes will meet at the Art Museum, Fifth and Taylor streets, five mornings a week. The lectures will begin June 29, the second lecture to follow July 1. Topics will include "How to Mount a School Pageant," "Modern Theatre Settings," "The Art Industrial Movement," "Holland Interiors," and "Oriental Art." Credit for the art course will be given in the University of Oregon summer school.

TWO WHO ATTACKED WOMAN ARE HELD

Leon V. Starr, East Ninety-seventh and Stark streets, and L. L. Wilson, Eighty-sixth and Sacramento streets, were jailed Monday night on charges of attacking Mrs. E. V. Knox, 432 East Forty-first street north. A written confession was obtained from Starr, a youth of 17. Wilson is 33.
The two were driving down town at 4 p. m. They accosted Mrs. Knox at East Forty-second street and Sandy, asking her if she wished to ride to town. She assented and got into their automobile. At East Thirty-seventh and Belmont, according to Mrs. Knox's complaint, Wilson kicked her and otherwise abused her, and finally threw her out of the car.
Motorcycle Officer Taylor found the two some two hours after the alleged attack was made. At the police station Starr admitted the attack was made, and later made a full confession.

Seven I. W. W. Taken Prison; Becker Sees Freedom in 2 Years

Montezano, Wash., June 21.—Seven I. W. W., convicted here 20 months ago of the Centralia Armistice day killing, left Monday for Walla Walla. Three guards accompanied the men, who were chained together. The prisoners are Ray Becker, Berth E. Land, O. C. Bland, Britt Smith, John Lamb, James McInery and Eugene Barnett. They must serve from 25 to 40 years.
"We will trade places with the men who are sending us there inside of two years," Becker declared.

Breitenbush Burn On Santiam River Is Now Reforested

Washington, June 21.—(U. P.)—The reforestation of the Breitenbush burn on the Santiam river is reported complete by Walter Leve of the planting division of the United States forest service. Leve returned Sunday night from four weeks of work planting in the burned district.

During the time he was in the field 185,000 trees of Douglas fir and western white pine were put out. The trees were 3 years old and came from the Wind-river nursery, near Carson, Wash. The 180 acres planted is the last of the area of the burn to be reforested. In the spring of 1920, 300 acres was planted, while 40 acres was put out in the fall of 1919.
The strip is at the entrance of Jefferson national park and the planting was made not only for the commercial benefits, but for scenic results. Leve reports from six to eight feet of snow in the park at the present time.

With every tire priced at true worth, what need would there be for "discounts"

BUSINESS concerns may be divided roughly into two classes. One goes on the idea that the public doesn't think much. The other believes that public good sense makes the right decision nine times out of ten.

Concern No. 1 likes to keep away from facts. Concern No. 2 is anxious to place all the facts possible before people.

It is interesting to watch these conflicting methods working out in the tire industry.

Eighteen months ago the makers of U. S. Royal Cord Tires put themselves on record against the unsoundness of the "discount" way of selling tires.

Going right ahead and making the par quality tire at a net price.

Opposing the confusion of "so much off list." Because list prices don't mean anything until the real worth of the tire itself is proven. Because "discounts" mean still less when list price has no relation to value.

Now it is evident the public hasn't been backward in finding out the truth.

Rising above all the uncertainty of "discount" appeal comes the clear, sharp public opinion in favor of U. S. Royal Cords.

More dealers by 36% than a year ago. In May 1921 alone an increase in sales of U. S. Royal Cords of more than 25% over May 1920.

Car-owners know more than they let on. They are letting the "discount" situation run its course.

And turning to U. S. Royal Cords as the par quality tire at a net price. The most significant thing that is happening in tires today.
