In the center on the left is George Von Elm, the 20-year-old champion of Utah, who is playing against Russell Smith of Waverley, on the right.

G. VON ELM LEADS SMITH IN GOLF PLAY

Young Salt Lake Star Had Local Player Five Down at End of Morning Round of Semi-Final in the Northwest Tournament.

By George Bertz George Von Elm, the sensational Salt Lake golfer, had Russell Smith of Waverley five down at the end of the morning round of the semi-finals of the Pacific Coast Golf association tournament today. Von Elm was shooting the same game that characterized his play in other rounds. His putting was exceptionally good. Smith was out of form in his putting. H. Chandler Egan, by winning four holes in the lower nine, finished two up on Forest Watson at the end of the first half of their semi-final match. Egan's game continued to be straight and deadly, while Watson was driving all over the course. The golfers were handicapped some in their play by a stiff south wind.

DE VALERA TAKEN, THEN IS RELEASED

London, June 24.—(I. N. S.)—Reports that Eamon De Valera, "President of the Irish republic," had been arrested in Ireland and subsequently released were officially confirmed by the Irish office today. According to the version of the Dublin correspondent of the Daily Express, a slight disturbance occurred in a Dublin street and De Valera was among those arrested in consequence. No charge was preferred against the Sinn Fein chieftain. The Daily Telegraph understands that documents found in De Valera's possession were sent to London for examination by Scotland Yard and the Irish office. The Daily Telegraph correspondent at Dublin said that De Valera was arrested at Black Rock, his home. It was explained that De Valera was released because it is the policy of the government not to persecute political persons. There were several versions of the affair, but the accounts agree that De Valera was not recognized at first by the crown forces. After his arrest, De Valera was taken to the Dublin barracks occupied by the Worcestershire battalion, where he was recognized. A party of English soldiers had been detailed to raid a certain house. They seized a quantity of documents and found a quiet, spectacled man, who apparently resided on the premises. The supposed owner of the house was told to accompany the soldiers to the barracks, and he did so without demur.

U. S. Issues Permit For Improvement of N. Portland Harbor

Washington, June 24.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL)—Government permit to proceed with the improvement of North Portland harbor was signed late Thursday by Secretary Weeks and the chief of the army engineers, which clears the way for proceeding with the work according to harbor plans. Alfred A. Aya, general manager of the Peninsula Industrial district, who has been conducting the matter before the war department, expresses satisfaction over the departmental sanction, which will authorize the confirmation of the project by use of local funds. Aya leaves today to investigate conditions at eastern industrial centers, with a view to presenting Portland business opportunities and harbor developments.

'Big Bill' Haywood Is Out With New Rap on U. S. Capital

Berlin, June 24.—Writing in the third Internationale's newspaper, "Big Bill" Haywood declared that the present American "crisis" is the accomplishment of a gigantic plot which is actually developing into open war against the workers, with its aims to reduce wages to a pre-war standard. "It is prelude," he declares, "was the closing of the factories." Haywood accuses the market men of destroying apples in Michigan and rice in Arkansas, of dumping coffee overboard and destroying fruit in San Francisco harbor, rather than to sell it at reduced prices. Finally, he declares that cotton growers are purposely reducing their acreage in order to maintain high prices.

WASHINGTON NEWS

Department of Public Works Declares That 5-Cent Increase on Freight in Columbia Rate Decision Be Held Up for 90 Days.

In a final desperate effort of Puget Sound interests to offset the benefits Portland will derive from the Columbia basin rate case, the Washington department of public works has ordered suspension of the application of the new rates within Washington for a period of 90 days after July 1. But in the effort to overcome the new rate structure decided upon by the interstate commerce commission, rate experts of Portland believe the Washington commission has drawn a double-edged sword. Notice of the suspension order was received by Portland traffic officials today from S. J. Henry, agent of the North Pacific freight bureau. The order was filed June 21. The order came as a surprise as it was not preceded by any public notice of a complaint having been received by the department. When the Columbia basin rate case was settled, the interstate commerce commission ordered that a percentage reduction be made for Portland and Vancouver from the territory south of the Snake river while a similar increase was ordered made applicable to the Puget Sound territory and Astoria. A protest was made by the Washington public service commission, but the interstate commerce commission stood upon its order. Finding that they were unable to set aside the application of the interstate (Continued on Page Two, Column Three)

BONUS 'SHAVING' BAN IS PROPOSED

Astoria, Ore., June 24.—The World war veterans' state aid commission, consisting of Governor Olcott, Secretary of State Koser, Adjutant General White, Arthur C. Spencer of Portland and Lyman G. Rice of Pendleton, today issued a formal statement of the organization as perfected. The outstanding feature of the commission's plan is that there shall be no delay in the administration of the law and that the beneficiaries under the bill shall be protected from grafters, loan sharks and persons seeking corners of the loans through assignments and discounts. CAME LEWIS GOAL The commission announced the progress made as it passed through Astoria late this morning, en route to Camp Lewis in Washington. The formal statement made by the commission follows: The commission recognizes the importance of prompt action in according relief to the veterans of the world war. The selection of an efficient man for the important office of secretary is under consideration and the appointment will be made shortly. The commission will be opened at Salem. Appointments of attorneys and appraisers will in due course be made in each county. Through these representatives full information as to the procedure necessary to obtain the benefits of the act will be furnished. TO BAR OUT SHARKS The law defines who are eligible to receive benefits thereunder and legal beneficiaries will receive consideration and this will be forthcoming without the intervention of agents or attorneys. Attempted assignments of claims or benefits will not be recognized. Persons eligible are cautioned to avoid the making of assignments or the discounting of claims. Advances made thereon will not be recognized. The organization was completed following meetings in Portland Thursday, a motor trip to Fort Stevens in the evening and a session at the army post lasting into the morning. At Fort Stevens the party inspected the military post and the Oregon artillerymen an camp there. The work of the citizen soldiers at drill and sub-caliber practice was observed.

Fisherman Saves Lad From Death in Willamette River

But for the timely rescue by an unidentified fisherman, 12-year-old Eldred Burchett of 354 Russell street would have been drowned in the Willamette river last night, according to declarations of persons on shore who witnessed his heroic plunge. The lad was swimming near the Victoria hotel on the Broadway bridge, at 2 o'clock, when he undertook to climb aboard a scow. His hold slipping, the lad fell back into the water, before he could be rescued. The fisherman, seeing the lad's struggles, swam to his aid and drew him up after he had sunk several times. Attendants of the Ambulance Service company took the boy to his home. The fisherman disappeared to change his wet clothes before anyone found out who he was.

Woman Swallows Open Jack-Knife; Operation Planned

Albany, Or., June 24.—Miss Emma J. Cole of Stayton has been taken to Salem for an operation for the removal of an open jack-knife, which she swallowed Thursday, according to word received by Judge W. R. Bilyeu of the county court. Miss Cole is 40 years old. She was adjudged insane and sent to the state hospital two years ago but had been paroled to her relatives, who live near Stayton on the Linn county side of the North Santiam. The knife blade and handle are reported to be five inches long. An X-Ray of the woman's stomach was taken by a Stayton physician this morning.

Tulsa, Okla., June 24.—(U. P.)—Scores of families living in lowlands between here and Sand Springs were driven from their homes early today by flood waters of the Arkansas river. No loss of life has been reported.

SIMS CALLED DOWN HARD BY SUPERIOR

Denby Administers Severe Public Rebuke to Admiral for London Speech; Officer Immediately Asks Audience With President.

Washington, June 24.—(I. N. S.) Secretary of the Navy Denby today administered a public reprimand to Rear Admiral W. S. Sims for his now famous "American jackass" speech in London. Immediately after he was notified of his reprimand, Admiral Sims, with his aide, called at the White House and requested an audience with President Harding. In a communication to Sims today, Denby said: "On June 8, 1921, there appeared in the public press throughout the country a report of certain statements alleged to have been made by you on occasion of a luncheon given in London the previous day at which you were the guest of the Emperor of the United Kingdom. PRESS ACCOUNT TRUE "Your letter of June 22, in which you furnished the department with an abstract of the speech delivered by you on the occasion in question, confirmed in essential points the aforesaid press reports. "The department is not unmindful of your record and achievements as an officer of the navy, but the conspicuous position you now hold, coupled with the fact that you have previously offended in a similar manner, merely serves to add to the gravity of the present offense. "The department deprecates the fact that it is necessary to rebuke a flag officer in public, but you have made such action unavoidable. "The department expresses its strong and unqualified disapproval of your conduct in having again delivered a highly improper speech in a foreign country and you are hereby public reprimanded." Admiral Sims said he went to the White House merely to pay the customary courtesy call of a flag officer passing through the capital. He appeared to be entirely unperturbed by the public reprimand as he sat awaiting the president, spick and span in his navy whites. "I understand you were reprimanded, Admiral Sims said to a newspaperman. "USUAL THING," SAYS SIMS "Oh, yes," replied the admiral, smiling. "It's the usual thing." The admiral told newspapermen, however, that he was sorry his speech had caused the administration any embarrassment and said that when he made it he didn't know "it was loaded." Admiral Sims was with the president but a very few minutes. He will leave tonight for Newport. Denby said that the reprimand to Sims does not involve any question of relieving the admiral from command of the navy's college at Newport. R. I. Sims can return to his post whenever he wishes, Denby said.

Blue-Clad Bulldogs Defeat Harvard in Chippy Sea After Harvard Held Lead to 3-1-2 Mile Mark; Crowds See the Contest.

New London, Conn., June 24.—(I. N. S.)—Yale's blue-clad bulldogs won today's varsity race against Harvard on the choppy waters of the Thames after one of the greatest struggles in the history of the classic event. The Yale crew spurred in the last half mile of a contest that was a gruelling affair from the start, and scored a victory, coming from behind after the Crimson crew had led them most of the way over the four-mile stretch of water. HARVARD OVERTAKEN Harvard was leading the Blue boat as the three and one-half mile mark was passed. At this point Yale started to increase her stroke and soon reached the lead of the Cambridge crew to half a length. Both crews were rowing a stroke of 30 to the minute at this stage of the race and neither was splashing. Both were getting everything they reached for. Throughout the last half mile the contest was a terrific fight for every inch of water they covered. At 2 1/2 miles Yale started her real spurt. The bulldog oarsmen bent to their sweep with magnificent effort, raising their stroke to 32. Harvard immediately increased her stroke, also, but the blue was not to be denied. Harvard entered the last quarter mile of the race that Yale forged into the van. Harvard fought gamely, rowing for dear life, but the blue boat crossed the finish line half a length in the van. The official time of the winners was 20:41. Harvard finished in 20:44. PACE IS GRUELLING Yale's oarsmen were apparently exhausted as a result of their efforts and most of the crew dropped over their oars. Harvard's oarsmen also slumped in their boat but soon straightened up. Ex-President Hadley of Yale, who rode on the regatta boat, expressed the opinion that today's race was the greatest ever rowed by Harvard and Yale crews and waved his hat in wild enthusiasm as Yale crossed the line the victors. Yale's crew was picked up by the blue launch and taken upstream to their quarters. The Harvard oarsmen were taken aboard the launch John Harvard. YALE FRESHMEN WIN Yale drew first blood in her annual regatta with Harvard today. The Blue freshmen defeated the Harvard squad in the two-mile race, from the navy yard to Redtop. Harvard evened up the score by coming right back and winning the junior varsity race—also a two-mile affair. Harvard's junior crew won in easy fashion, finishing six lengths ahead of Yale. Yale won the freshmen race in 12:13 2-5. Harvard's time was 12:22 1-5. Harvard's junior varsity crew rowed over the same course in 12:20, while Yale's time was 12:53. THAMES IS CALM Clear, hot weather greeted thousands of rowing fans who gathered here today for the classic Yale-Harvard regatta. The Thames was as calm as a mill pond and literally dotted with pleasure craft. The boatings of the varsity eights today was as follows: Harvard, 20:41; Yale, 20:44; Princeton, 21:15; Columbia, 21:30; Cornell, 21:45; Stanford, 22:00; Yale, 22:15; Harvard, 22:30; Princeton, 22:45; Columbia, 23:00; Cornell, 23:15; Stanford, 23:30; Yale, 23:45; Harvard, 24:00; Princeton, 24:15; Columbia, 24:30; Cornell, 24:45; Stanford, 25:00.

Warren Is Named Tokio Ambassador

Washington, June 24.—(I. N. S.)—President Harding late today named Charles B. Warren of Detroit, Mich., as ambassador to Japan. Warren is former Republican national committee man from Michigan.

Warren Is Named Tokio Ambassador

Washington, June 24.—(U. P.)—Dokuhobors of both sexes, many of them nude, late yesterday used pitchforks, hoses, rakes and cordwood sticks to put a rout a party of mounted police who had gone out to discipline them because they would not reply to questions by the census enumerator. There are 1500 dokuhobors in this district. They are Russian immigrants, intensely religious but good farmers. They decline to accede to man-made laws and insist they will take no notice whatever of mere government regulations. Early in the week they had thrown out the census enumerator and when a policeman served summons on them to bring them to court they tore up the official papers. Diplomacy having failed, a detachment of mounted police, consisting of Staff Sergeant Reid and two constables, went out to make arrests. The three men soon found themselves surrounded by a crowd of fighting demons whose frenzy knew no bounds. The police retired until reinforcements arrived when the mounted police were successful in capturing the men who were ringleaders in the anti-government movement. Inspectors had their uniforms torn to remnants and several of the officers were badly hurt. Eight arrests were made and fines of $20 were imposed.

U. P. President and Philip Jackson See German Chancellor

Berlin, June 24.—(U. P.)—W. W. Hawkins, president of the United Press, was given a cordial reception today at the office of Chancellor Wirth. The two had a long conversation and later Hawkins attended a meeting of the Reichstag as Wirth's guest. Minister of Reconstruction Rathenau will receive Hawkins at his office tomorrow. Hawkins was accompanied by Philip L. Jackson of Portland, Or.

Parks and Boulevards Promised

Portland has promise of a park and boulevard system the equal of that of Kansas City, by the time of the 1925 exposition. More than five miles of necessary connecting portions of boulevards, parkways and traffic streets have within the last 90 days been offered to the city by local citizens, according to announcement by the city planning commission today. These offerings, valued at some $60,000, are the first results in the campaign to "make 1921 a year of gifts to Portland," said J. C. Apsworth, chairman of the commission. Fourteen parcels of land involving 27,000 ideal feet have been approved by the commission for acceptance by the city. The connecting links in the park and boulevard system accord with the major traffic street plan and the comprehensive major traffic street plans which were the result of two years of work by the commission and careful checking by the principal engineers of the city. These plans have been officially adopted by the planning commission and the advisory park board. During the last two years the commission has acted as adviser to the department of public works, park bureau, school board and county commissioners in fitting improvements and street acquisitions to a general plan without duplication of more than 40 plans of new subdivisions have been acted on by the commission with the result that many miles of future traffic thoroughfares have been dedicated 80 feet or more in width, including several portions of boulevards 150 feet wide.

Policeman Faces Charge of Graft

Under the technical phrase of conduct unbecoming to an officer, graft charges were filed against Patrolman James J. Perkan, who was this morning suspended from the police force by Acting Mayor Bigelow for a period of 30 days. "We Weinstein and Maria Loulich, pool hall proprietors at 322 First street, signed sworn statements that Perkan demanded and received from them two payments for police protection, according to the charges placed against Perkan by Chief of Police L. V. Jenkens. Both payments, one for $5 and the other for $15, were made in the last 10 days. Protection was given to an alleged game said to have been operated in the pool hall, he said. It is probable that the charges will be investigated fully and proceedings started to have Perkan dismissed permanently. Prior to a permanent dismissal, Perkan has civil service rights to a hearing before the mayor, an appeal to the civil service board and a second appeal to the circuit court, which has been on the force more than six years. Perkan is married and lives at 1225 East Yamhill street. He was appointed to the force April 14, 1915.

Seven Killed When Roof and Wall of Theatre Collapse

Barnesboro, Pa., June 24.—(I. N. S.)—This was a town of sorrow today following the collapse of a wall and roof of the Grand theatre, a motion picture house, late yesterday, which resulted in the death of seven persons. The foundations of the theatre building, softened by rain, crumbled beneath the wall and the entire side of the structure caved in, carrying the roof into the center of the auditorium. The crash came during a second afternoon performance when the majority of those present were children. Not more than 20 persons were in the house at the time.

Two Claiming $5000 Reward for Gardner

Centralia, Wash., June 24.—Mrs. Marion Howell, who tipped the police to the fact that Roy Gardner, California mail robber, was at her hotel, and Patrolman Louis Senny, who arrested the bandit, both claim the $5000 reward which, they understand, is offered to Gardner's arrest. The postoffice department, however, declines to pay a reward. One hundred dollars, to be divided between the two, may be paid by the department of justice.

Sentenced to Prison and Fined $10,000

Washington, June 24.—(U. P.)—Julius W. (Nicky) Arnstein today was sentenced to two years in prison and given a $10,000 fine on conviction of bringing stolen securities from New York to Washington.

Girl Dies of Burns Caused by Sparklers

Grants Pass, June 24.—Dorothy De-vall, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Deval of Leland, died today from burns she received Thursday night when her clothing caught fire from a Fourth of July sparkler. The young girl was visiting with friends in this city.

Japanese Sea Captains Fined $1200

Master of Ship Port Said Maru Pleads Guilty to Smuggling 6 of Countrymen Through Linnton; 5 of Stowaways Arrested.

After admitting, by his plea of guilty, connivance at the smuggling of six Japanese stowaways into this country when the ship Port Said Maru docked at Linnton several days ago, Captain Yasuo Natto paid a fine of $1200 in the federal court this afternoon. This was the minimum under the federal statutes which impose on shipmasters the burden of keeping their vessels free from unauthorized passengers and penalizes collusion in the entrance of aliens without proper passports. Captain Natto expressed willingness to plead guilty in some of five cases, but this district attorney's office would not accept, holding that six Japanese had entered this country on his ship. The skipper finally agreed to plead to all six counts and the minimum of $200 fine for each was imposed by Judge Bean. The captain paid his fine at once, but said afterward that Sugki & Co., owners of the Port Said Maru, would absorb the penalty. The Port Said Maru arrived from Kobe recently and the six Japanese crawled ashore on the mooring hawsers. Five have been recaptured and are now in the county jail. The sixth escaped. BONHAM MAKES CHARGE J. P. Bonham of the immigration service made a charge against the ship and swore out the warrant for the arrest of the captain. He charged that it would be impossible for six men to hide in one coal bunker of a ship without collusion of the officers. "The story that these men hid in a bunker and lived on a few gallons of water and dried fish is very 'fishy,'" he said. "On the inspection it was found that the coal from the bunker they were supposed to be hiding in was used up long before the ship reached Portland. Surely these men could have been found, despite their story that they would be impossible for six men to live in the incident is merely one bit of evidence of the operation of a front in (Continued on Page Two, Column Four)
