

BOY SCOUT CAMP ON EAGLE CREEK IS TO OPEN JULY 6

Hundreds of Lads Signing Up for Outing in Mountain Retreat; Program of Camp Activities.

Camp Chindere, the official summer camp of the Boy Scouts of Portland, located 15 miles up Eagle Creek canyon, overlooking beautiful Wah-tum lake, is already taking on an air of activity looking toward the arrival of the first relay of Scouts, July 6.

For more than a week the packer has been taking supplies into camp, including an enormous hot water tank which will furnish hot water both for the kitchen and for hot baths. Assistant Scout Master J. C. Oakes and two Scouts, Allen Seidel and Thurman Hart, left Friday for camp to open the big log cabin, clear the grounds and otherwise put the place in order for the several hundred visitors both Scouts and distinguished local and eastern persons, who will share the hospitality of the camp between now and September 1.

TROOPS ARE LISTED
Over 90 Scouts have already signed up for periods of from one to eight weeks in camp, the following troops being represented in the registration: 1, 2, 8, 13, 14, 17, 18, 19, 21, 24, 27, 28, 29, 30, 32, 35, 37, 38, 39, 43, 49, 50, 52, 53, 54, 57, 58, 66, 67, 68, 69, 72, 77, 79, 85, 86, 90, 92, 99 and one troop not yet numbered.

Walter Frichard Eaton, who has written a number of Boy Scout books and stories, one of the latter being laid in Glacier National park, where it is now being filmed, will visit the camp during the summer, write a story there and supervise the filming of it in the setting of the camp.

Martin W. Gorman, who is recognized as one of the leading authorities of the great on trees, plants and flowers, will visit the camp and while there will assist in checking up on proofs of Professor A. R. Sweetser's new book on wild flowers of Oregon. It is interesting to know that in one day last year 146 varieties of wild flowers were picked and classified on the Eagle creek trail, hence Professor Sweetser's interest in having his book checked up in this great natural flower garden.

FLOWERS FLANK TRAIL
The entrance to the camp now is flanked on either side for miles with wonderful rhododendron, some of it 15 feet in height. Another prominent feature in camp this summer is Mary Roberts Reinhart, who has a ranch in the Hood River valley, and to whom invitation has been extended to visit the Scouts.

Swimming in beautiful Wah-tum lake may be said to be the chief attraction at the camp for the boys, this favorite sport being indulged in twice a day, while the intervening hours are filled to overflowing with happy, busy, and sport, the entire day being programmed.

Body of Chinese of Pasco Taken From River Near Celilo

The Dalles, June 25.—A body which has been in the morgue here two days awaiting identification, and which was identified today as that of J. M. Lee, Pasco, Wash., Chinese restaurant proprietor, who disappeared two weeks ago. Lee had lived in Pasco for many years. He failed to open his place two weeks ago Sunday.

Indians found a body imbedded in the mud left by the receding Columbia river near Celilo Thursday evening. The body was so discolored by the water that it was at first thought to be the corpse of an Indian. Upon examining the clothing, Corporal C. N. Sargent found a wallet bearing papers which led to the identification. Relatives of the Chinese are on the way to The Dalles to claim the body, which will be taken to Pasco for burial.

There is nothing on the body to indicate violence, and it is the belief of the coroner that Lee committed suicide. It was considered remarkable that the Columbia river carried the body nearly 150 miles in two weeks.

Milk Price Reduced
San Francisco, June 25.—(I. N. S.)—A reduction of 1 cent a quart on the price of milk to be effective July 1 was announced today by the principal distributing companies in San Francisco. A plentiful supply of feed at lower prices enabled the distributors to make the cut, it was stated.

The six weeks' summer extension course of the State Normal school at Monmouth has opened at Ashland with an enrollment of 155 teachers from schools throughout Oregon.

Wallowa High Girl Oregon's Entry in Big Essay Contest

Salem, Or., June 25.—Miss Juanita Powers, Wallowa high school girl, will represent Oregon in competition with high school students of all other states in the Union for the $500 Harvey S. Firestone university scholarship, according to announcement by J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of public instruction, today.

Churchill's announcement is based upon the award by the committee selected to pass upon entries from Oregon high schools in this contest, the selection being made from nine entries representing nine Oregon counties. The scholarship, to be awarded by the highway and highway transport educational committee of Washington, D. C., covers a four-year course in any university or college in the United States which the winner may select.

Miss Jennie McClell of Bay City was the second choice of the state committee.

The contest involved the composition of an essay of not to exceed 500 words on the subject of "Good Roads—Highway Transport."

Lookout Station on Mt. Emily Assured

La Grande, June 24.—Following an inspection of the high point of Mount Emily by a party of forest officials, including Supervisor J. C. Kuhns of the Umatilla national forest, Supervisor N. J. Billings of the Wallowa national forest and Supervisor P. M. Evans of the Whitman national forest, announcement was made here that a central lookout station would be established on Mount Emily. The territory that would come under the jurisdiction of the new station would include parts of the following forests: Umatilla, Minam, Wallowa, Whitman and Wenaha forest. If proper instruments can be secured, the station will probably be established this year.

NEW COURSE FOR NURSES IS URGED

Miss Jane C. Allen Talks on Profession After Spending Much Time in East.

"The big, new thing in public health nursing is the nation-wide movement to raise the standards of the nursing profession," said Miss Jane C. Allen, state advisory nurse, who returned last week to Portland after a nine months' absence in New York city, during which time she took post graduate work in the teachers' college of Columbia university.

"Leaders in the nursing and medical profession are focusing their attention on the endowment of hospitals to insure the necessary income without exploiting nurses, as is done now, in raising such an endowment.

COURSES ARE OFFERED
"The belief is that the nurses' training school should be divorced from the hospital just as the school of medicine and the school of law are divorced from the institutions sponsoring them.

"The course favored is a five-year course connected with any of the accredited universities, the first two years to be devoted to regular university work, the next two to special nurse's training and the last year to specialization, so that when a student completes her course she is not only a graduate nurse but has her B. S. degree and is also qualified to take up a special line of nursing if she so desires. Such courses are already offered at the University of Minnesota, Michigan and at Teachers' colleges in Cincinnati.

NURSES IN DEMAND
"Since I have returned I have learned that the prospects are very bright for the establishment of such a course at the University of Oregon.
"As the public is becoming informed on the value of public health nursing, the demand for these nurses, especially in the rural districts, is increasing by leaps and bounds and already far exceeds the supply. On my way home I visited the Health bureaus of Cleveland, Chicago and Minneapolis and everywhere I encountered the great demand for the

ANOTHER CLINIC FOR BABIES WILL BE ESTABLISHED

Success of One Which Has Been Conducted in South Portland Inspires Extension of Work.

So successful has the well baby clinic, which was opened in the Neighborhood house 10 months ago, proved, that a similar clinic will be opened in July in the Mount Scott district. The clinic will be held in the Arleta branch library with Dr. Ivan Woolley, who has assisted Dr. C. U. Moore, in the South Portland clinic, in charge, and with Miss Althea Stoneham, the nurse attendant, under the supervision of Miss Mary Kiernan, who is the nurse at the South Portland clinic.

"The clinic in South Portland has been in operation since the first of September," said Dr. Moore. "During that time 150 have come under our observation and care and I am particularly glad to report that we have not lost one baby in that time. In this connection I want to say that every baby that has come to us before weaning has been kept on the breast until it is 9 months old and to this fact I attribute the lack of deaths. Portland's percentage of infant mortality is such that South Portland, to average up with the other districts of the city, should have lost eight babies in 10 months. The breast feeding is not the only cause for the low mortality, of course, but it is a big factor. One of the things we do is to regulate the diet of the nursing mother and thus the baby has the right nourishment.

"The plan of the well baby clinic is in no sense a repair shop, but rather a means of keeping babies out of the repair shop. It is an effort to keep them well and to instruct mothers in their proper care and feeding so that they may develop into healthy, normal children.

"In an effort to ascertain the interest in the need for such a clinic in the Mount Scott district, we held a demonstration a few weeks ago and 52 babies were brought to us for examination, hence our decision to open the clinic as soon as possible. The new clinic will be conducted on practically the same lines as the one in South Portland is conducted."

Woman Admits She Slew Her Stepson

Carlinville, Ill., June 25.—(U. P.)—Mrs. Catherine Harmon today confessed to police that she killed her 19-year-old stepson, Roy Harmon, last Friday. Young Harmon's body was found in a cistern. She said she killed the youth with an ax after he had attacked her.

Spokane Releases Jitneys in War on Streetcar Company

Spokane, Wash., June 25.—(I. N. S.)—The city council today granted permits releasing 150 jitney buses to operate on the streets at a 1-cent fare, following the refusal of street car companies to accept a compromise 7-cent fare in Spokane's transportation battle.

Los Angeles' New Police Chief Says He'll Clean House

Los Angeles, June 25.—(I. N. S.)—A complete reorganization of the police department will be undertaken by Charles A. Jones, veteran detective-sergeant, whose appointment as chief of police has been announced by Mayor-elect George Cryer, it was reported today.

Jones gained national recognition by his efforts in connection with the disappearance of Jacob C. Denton, wealthy mining man, and laying the ground work of a case that resulted in the conviction of Mrs. Louise Feste on a charge of murdering Denton.

Use of fishtraps in the tributaries of Grays and Willapa harbors will be prohibited after July 15, according to new salmon regulations adopted by the state fisheries board.
