

SEA OF PARASOLS GREET'S JAPANESE PRINCE AT RACES

By Hudson Hawley
United News Staff Correspondent

Paris, June 27.—Crown Prince Hirohito, first member of any Japanese dynasty to grace a horse race by his presence, was the most interested spectator of the vast crowds of dignitaries who, Sunday afternoon, watched the British horse, Lennora, capture the Grand Prix at Longchamps.

The prince was greeted by a brilliant display of Japanese parasols. Longchamps has always affected the parasol. But on this occasion this equipment of the thousands of wonderfully gowned women seemed, as it was intended, a tribute only to the distinguished visitor.

Lennora, carrying the colors of J. Watson and backed to some extent by British sportsmen who had watched the finish in the British Derby, when Lennora finished third, won approximately 400,000 francs with this victory, a sum 100,000 francs above the Grand Prix of 1920.

OUTSIDERS TAKE MONEY

Flecheols of the Perrone stables were second and the Duke de Caze's Harpocrate finished third.

Ksar, entered by Mme. Edmond Blanc, proprietress of the famous Casino, was heavily backed, but failed to place. "Flecheols was a rank outsider, and Harpocrate had been discarded as a possible contender because of his poor showing earlier in the season and the continual hard luck that has attended his races.

Both of Ksar's progenitors were winners of the Grand Prix, and he had been a consistent winner previously.

Whether or not the little future monarch of Japan enjoyed the horse race, he was at any rate highly entertained, as the spectacular display of the new summer finery of the Parisiennes.

PRINCE HIGHLY ENTERTAINED

As he bowed in response to the plaudits of the crowds, he was surrounded by a melange of color which held pronounced dashes of his own native cherry blossom tints, embodied in wonderful organdies.

But the Parisiennes looked their best in the black and white combinations in which they delight—black and white monkey fur trimming with jet or beadwork and white face panels over black—or vice versa. Violet shades ran a close second.

The younger and more debonaire race devotees affected the pannaire, the appearance of the flounced petticoats suggesting the presence of pantalets. But the most distinguished matrons, clung to the straight lines, sometimes with mantles.

MILLERAND SCORNS TOP HAT

Mme. Millerand, seated at the president's left while the crown prince of Japan had the chair at his right, was noticeable in a large black plumed hat and a black coat with collar of monkey fur.

Former President Deschanel, Neville, Viviani, Bonnevay, Prince Kanin, Lefebvre and Duprey graced the presidential party.

President Millerand himself refused to don the frock coat or cutaway or two-tail hat. Instead he appeared in a "sack" coat, with a low collar, blue bow tie, and a white, summer-looking vest. He was the coolest dignitary present.

Christian Principle As Industrial Issue Solution Is Advised

Fitting the principles of the golden rule and the Sermon on the Mount to the industrial life of America was discussed this morning before the social and industrial betterment department of the Portland Federation of Churches by Dr. Worth M. Tippy, executive secretary of the committee of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

Dr. Tippy spoke before the Chamber of Commerce at noon and tonight he speaks before the Central Labor council.

Following his talks the churches of the city will determine what action they wish to take relative to a survey of relations between employers and employees in industries in Portland.

At the Y. M. C. A. Dr. Tippy said the chasm between labor and capital is constantly being widened by the quickening of class consciousness. He expressed the opinion that Christian principles must be applied in industry.

Dr. Tippy said the Y. M. C. A. had lost $50,000 in subscriptions since it commenced its survey in the industrial field, but added that most of the money had been made up in donations from other sources.

Miss Clara I. Taylor, field secretary of the Northwestern department of the International Y. W. C. A., in speaking in the morning on women in industry, said that at the first conference of employed girls, held in Washington, D. C., the young women had expressed a desire for shorter working hours.

DEMONSTRATION OF LABOR FAILS AT MINERS' TRIAL

Columbus, Kan., June 27.—(I. N. S.)—The great "labor demonstration" planned for the Howat trial appeared to have fizzled today. Instead of the 5000 men expected less than 300 miners were gathered at courthouse square when the trial of Alexander Howat, district president, and August Dorchy, vice president of the United Mine Workers, was begun.

"They'll be here tomorrow after the jury is picked," said William Freeman, president of the State Federation of Labor, who called the labor "holiday," but labor leaders were openly disappointed.

STRIKE DECLARED

The trial will be a test of the Kansas industrial law. The particular charge against Howat and Dorchy involves the calling of a strike in the Mackie, coal mines near here. A youthful miner was being paid "boy's pay." It was claimed. The operators refused to raise his wages. Howat, in defiance of the industrial court, issued a written strike order. The arrests followed.

The entire defense fund of the Western Federation of Miners has been thrown into the case.

NEW DEFENSE

For if Howat is beaten there is little doubt but that the Kansas industrial act will be copied and put into effect in a score or more of states within the coming year.

Howat's defense will be new in criminal history. He will admit the strike order, it is said, but will stand upon his constitutional right to do so.

His attorneys will seek to show a "gigantic conspiracy against labor" in Kansas. The arrests followed.

It is expected the work of securing the jury will occupy two days more.

1800 GUARDMEN FROM CAMP LEWIS WILL GIVE PARADE

The largest body of Oregon troops that has ever marched in the streets of Portland, a body of 1800 men, will be given a warm welcome by Portland citizens Wednesday afternoon, as the Oregon National Guardsmen return from their two weeks of intensive military training at Camp Lewis and Fort Stevens.

Acting Mayor Bigelow this morning urged that all business houses along the line of march make extensive decorations at their places of business and that the citizens generally turn out with flags and give the Oregon soldiery a welcome home in keeping with the great body of men who are giving their time to fit themselves for protection of the state in time of need.

The guardsmen are due to arrive in Portland between 2:15 and 2:30 Wednesday afternoon. After detouring, they will assemble at Sixth and Gilliam streets and march through the business district. At the reviewing stand they will be reviewed by a body representing the state officials, representatives of the city and of Multnomah county, ranking officers of the local veteran organizations and their state officers, and the ranking officers in Portland and Vancouver to complete details for the reception.

The returning guardsmen will march on the following route:

Starting from Union station, south on Sixth to Morrison, east to Fourth, south to Jefferson, west to Fifth, north to Yamhill, west to Broadway, north to Flinders, west to Park and disband.

Business men are urged to recognize the showing made by the guardsmen at Camp Lewis, Governor Olcott having sent a message to the Chamber of Commerce asking its members to display their flags in recognition of the Oregon unit. The message was read at the members' forum luncheon at noon today.

ANOTHER AMERICAN OFFICER MAY GET CALLED ON CARPET

Paris, June 2.—(I. N. S.)—Another American naval officer has adopted the outspoken manner of Admiral Sims, according to L'Homme Libre today.

Rear Admiral T. H. McGruder, U. S. N., naval attaché to the American embassy, was quoted by the newspaper as saying at the inauguration of the American Home for Convalescent Consumptives:

"Whatever comes, the United States always will come to the aid of France if France should be attacked. Our ambassador could not tell you that, but I can. My words do not need to be diplomatic."

The inauguration took place on Saturday and the rear admiral attended as the representative of Hugh C. Wallace, the American ambassador to France.

Admiral McGruder, when seen by a representative of the International News Service, was greatly disturbed over the version of his remarks as printed in L'Homme Libre.

"I did not say what L'Homme Libre credits me with saying at all," said the admiral. "I made an impromptu speech mentioning moral support if France is attacked."

"I am going home the middle of August. I do not want to go home unexpectedly, like Admiral Sims."

The navy department will take official cognizance of his utterances, it was stated officially.

The quoted utterance of Admiral McGruder was strikingly similar to that which brought to Admiral Sims a rebuke from President Taft 10 years ago. Sims had said the same thing about England.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 2.—(U. P.)—Mrs. W. A. Montgomery of Rochester, N. Y., is the first woman to become president of a Northern Baptist convention.

She was unanimously elected by ballot today to that office for the coming year. A formal ballot was taken after several delegates objected to an election by acclamation.

Mrs. Montgomery was made to nominate Judge S. W. Freeman of Denver in opposition, but at the request of Freeman his name was withdrawn by C. H. Bailey of Colorado.

Mrs. Montgomery's election was considered a recognition of her work in the Women's Foreign Missionary society, which raised $450,000 in six weeks for missionary work.

Seattle, Wash., was awarded the 1922 convention in preference to Atlantic City and Columbus, Ohio.

Stokessbury of Gerome, Wash., against Jonathan Bourne Jr., former United States senator from Oregon, in which the plaintiff alleges that he has been deprived of 204,000 shares in the Eureka District Gold Mining company through the loan of $500.
