

50 APPEALS FROM LICENSE BUREAU SET FOR THURSDAY

The city council has a big task cut out for Thursday, as it will devote practically the entire day to hearing appeals from the decision of the city license inspector in which renewal or issuance of new licenses for hotels, restaurants, card rooms, pool halls and soft drink places was denied.

There are 50 such appeals to go before the council at this time, and it was informed that probably 80 more such appeals will be filed. The cause of such a large number of appeals at this time is for the reason that the new quarterly issuance of licenses is at hand and many applications present phases on which the license inspector did not feel justified in issuing the permit.

In view of the general campaign to clean up the north end, it is probable the council will turn down many of the applicants.

CITY COUNCIL ACCEPTS NEW IMPROVEMENTS MADE

The city council today voted to accept the following public work, on which certificates of completion have been filed for some time:

Improvement of Brasse street from East Twenty-seventh to East Twenty-eighth street, Warren Construction company, contractors, $2947.99.
Baltimore street from Bradford to Crawford streets, United Contracting company, contractors, $4775.
Oregon street from East Fifty-second street to the west line of lot 3, block 3, Laurenton Heights, Peter Hill, contractor, $634.34.

Alley in block 25, Ladd's addition, from Lavender to East Harrison streets, O. M. Fulton, contractor, $1094.50.
Greely street from Killingsworth avenue to Williamette boulevard, Cochran Brothers, contractors, $7113.46.
Carlson avenue sewer from East Thirty-ninth street easterly, Latta & Keady company, $1194.85.

TENDERS FOR ADDITIONAL PUBLIC WORKS ARE OPENED

Bids on public work opened at today's session of the city council showed the low bidders to be as follows:
Improvement of Fenwick street, from Lombard to Tenth street, Warren Construction company, $15,133.50. City engineer's estimate, $15,133.
East Seventy-sixth street, from Section Line road to a point 741 feet northerly, Hahn & Robman, $4641.20. City engineer's estimate, $6666.
East Alder street, from East Seventh to East Tenth street, Warren Construction company, $7153.25. City engineer's estimate, $7173.

EXCLUSIVE BERRY MARKETS TO JOIN PUBLIC MARKET

The city council has passed an emergency ordinance permitting the use of Yamhill street, between First and Front streets, as an exclusive berry market for use of the Berry Market Association, an exclusive association of Graham, and to be under control of Market Master Eastman. The association is to pay $1.50 per day as rental for the space thus used. The price schedule submitted to Eastman are: Chubbett raspberries, $1.50 per crate; Marlborough raspberries, $1.50 per crate; black caps, $1.50 per crate; blackberries, $1.50.

HOPE OF STREETS FOR FESTIVAL COST CITY $147

Chief of Police Jenkins presented to the city council today a statement of the cost of repairs of streets for the Rose Festival showing that this work cost $147. Mayor Baker called attention to the fact that the city has been doing this work, which provides sockets in the

Here's a fine western milk for the wise western girl who takes care of her family's health with nourishing meals and delicious milk dishes.

She chooses Alpine, the Every Day Milk, of course—because it's twice as rich as the finest bottled milk, and always pure and handy in its bright tins.

Ask your grocer for
ALPINE
OREGON
MILK

Growing Greater
Day by Day
MORE THAN
$6,260,000.00
NEW BUSINESS IN 1932

OregonLife Insurance
Company
Corbett Building, Portland, Or.

WANTED
500
YOUNG WOMEN
to help entertain the sailors of the fleet at BROADWAY HALL, Portland's finest Dance Pavilion every evening this week.
Jerry Reed's All-Star Orchestra

LITTLE BROTHERS STARTING FOR BIG BROTHER FARM

Throng of youngsters who started for Lyon farm, near Lebanon, Tuesday afternoon as first contingent of a series of parties of city boys who will work and play and get rosy amid rural environs.

Seattle Man Gets $500,000 Stock Lost 69 Years

(By United News)
New York, July 6.—Bank stock worth $500,000, which had been lost since 1852, was in effect awarded in court Tuesday to Alfred Wolky's Seymour of Seattle, restaurateur and great-grandson of the man who originally owned the stock certificates.

Information concerning the certificates was unearthed by a genealogist. In tracing a family distantly related to the Seymours, he found that Thomas Williams, who died in Troy, N. Y., in 1822, held 67 shares of stock in the Mechanics bank, now the Mechanics and Metals bank of New York city. At that time the shares were worth $14,000.

The genealogist notified Seymour. The two found that the administrator of the Williams estate, Archibald Correll, had received a certificate for the securities in 1823, but that he died in 1823, leaving no accounting for the estate.

After the administrator's death the bank was reorganized several times and the claims of the Williams estate were forgotten. After the genealogist's discovery, Seymour was appointed administrator of the old estate, and brought suit against the bank for an accounting. Friday the court ordered that he be given a full accounting for the $14,000 original principal and all dividends and profits down to the present time, which total more than $500,000.

TARIFF FIGHT OPENS WITH ZEST IN HOUSE

(Continued From Page One)

Business of enormous proportions grew up overnight like a mushroom, extracting unaccountable war profits from the American public. For six years it has enjoyed a complete embargo against all foreign dye competition. The American dye industry is now controlled by the chemical "foundation" that represents over $500,000,000 in assets.

"This trust now demands a continuation of the war embargo so that dye prices, still maintained at several times pre-war prices, may be continued indefinitely without danger of competition, while the ultimate consumer pays the bill."

LICENSE SYSTEM CONDEMNED

Frear condemns the license system for dye importations, which the bill proposes, and administration of the system by the tariff commission. Regulations, he contends, are arbitrary and severe.

"The textile dye importer, on whom 11,000 firms depend for dyes, must crawl through the eye of a needle like the proverbial camel while begging for right under his license to import," he declared. "If he fractures any rule, regulation or tariff commission, he may have his license revoked, bond forfeited, property destroyed and be himself jailed for no more than two years with a $5000 maximum fine."

"With the ending of the war and the resumption of production in Europe, foreign competition is once more being felt," the majority report says.

COMPETITION BLAMED

"Industry and trade in the United States is at a low ebb. This industrial depression is the inevitable result of the offering of foreign goods upon the American market at less than the American cost of production."

"Prediction was made that the duties on farm products as carried in the bill would become the 'magna charta' for the perpetuation of American standards of living and be the constitution of uniform and universal prosperity."

"This is an all-American tariff on a normal basis," the report says. "When the farmer needs the protection of the tariff his need is very serious."

"The real facts of the matter are that Mr. Frear has been prodded up recently. Messrs. Kutroff and Pickard, the agents here of the German dye cartel—the trust—knowing his sympathies, appealed to their friends to write Mr. Frear on behalf of the German dye manufacturers."

"All that was sold to the Chemical Foundation was the right to license American manufacturers to use the German patents. The Foundation is simply the trustee for the American people of the German dye patents."

"As for myself, I have not a dollar of interest in the capital stock of the foundation and never have and never can, under the charter, receive a dollar in compensation for any service rendered as its president."

The county commissioners held a meeting with District Attorney Evans today to get his advice on whether they had better pay the $70,000 asked by the state from the Interstate bridge tolls or start another suit in court to determine definitely whether the bridge commission owes that sum to the state. Evans said he would give them his opinion within a few days.

County May Bring New Suit in Toll Issue With State

The conference resulted from the decision handed down Tuesday afternoon by Circuit Judge Kavanagh, holding that law passed by the state legislature in regard to the Interstate bridge was lawful in so far as it provided that the governor should oversee the taking of tolls until $70,000 was paid the state, but that it was unconstitutional in providing that the governor should take over full control of the bridge, including the power to grant franchises and make repairs.

The Interstate bridge commission, on the face of this decision, won everything it was fighting for, but what it actually opposed was the taking of tolls by the governor rather than the taking of control by the governor. It did not mean to let the governor have control under any consideration. The commissioners let it be known this morning that they would sign a check for the $70,000 within 15 minutes if there was any danger of the state getting the bridge.

What the commissioners have been worried about, and are worried about, is whether or not they actually owe the money to the state, they stated.

Seattle Man Gets $500,000 Stock Lost 69 Years

(By United News)
New York, July 6.—Bank stock worth $500,000, which had been lost since 1852, was in effect awarded in court Tuesday to Alfred Wolky's Seymour of Seattle, restaurateur and great-grandson of the man who originally owned the stock certificates.

Information concerning the certificates was unearthed by a genealogist. In tracing a family distantly related to the Seymours, he found that Thomas Williams, who died in Troy, N. Y., in 1822, held 67 shares of stock in the Mechanics bank, now the Mechanics and Metals bank of New York city. At that time the shares were worth $14,000.

The genealogist notified Seymour. The two found that the administrator of the Williams estate, Archibald Correll, had received a certificate for the securities in 1823, but that he died in 1823, leaving no accounting for the estate.

After the administrator's death the bank was reorganized several times and the claims of the Williams estate were forgotten. After the genealogist's discovery, Seymour was appointed administrator of the old estate, and brought suit against the bank for an accounting. Friday the court ordered that he be given a full accounting for the $14,000 original principal and all dividends and profits down to the present time, which total more than $500,000.

"The paper schedule removes from the dutiable list wood pulp of all kinds and standard news print. The American consumption both of pulp and standard news print is greatly in excess of our production. It is, therefore, logical in the interests of conservation and suitable supply that these articles should be put upon the free list. Sufficient authority is given the president to protect American interests should any discrimination be shown against us by foreign nations."

The Republicans claimed that the enactment of the bill would do much to relieve the present depression. "Rates of duties are proposed," the report states, "which will permit the products of American labor to compete with foreign goods in the American market without sacrificing the standard of living."

DYE TARIFF DEFENDED

Taking up the schedules in detail, the report says that the average rate on chemical dyes and pigments is 25 per cent and that the average rate on dyestuffs which can now be made in this country is justified on the ground that the development of the dye industry is necessary to national defense.

The report says "utterly unscrupulous as the German syndicate was before the war, when its supremacy was uncontested, practicing ruthlessly every form of corrupt and unfair competition known to commerce, it is inevitable that in the almost immediate future, when instead of a safe supremacy it faces possible destruction, it will attack all competitors with reckless disregard of business decency."

"That attack inevitably will be concentrated upon us," the report says. "The whole thing is untrue and Mr. Frear knows it is untrue," he added.

FREAR'S ACCUSATIONS ARE FALSE, DECLARES GARVAN

New York, July 6.—(I. N. S.)—"This is the kind of deliberate statement most commonly called a lie," declared Francis P. Garvan, former alien property custodian and now head of the Chemical Foundation, Inc., when told that he had been charged by Congressman Frear with selling valuable German dye patents "for a song" to his own corporation.

"The whole thing is untrue and Mr. Frear knows it is untrue," he added.

Washington, July 6.—(I. N. S.)—The Campbell-Willis "anti-beer bill" was ordered favorably reported to the senate today by the senate judiciary committee after a long wrangle in closed executive session which, however, only resulted in minor amendments being adopted.

The bill, as adopted, retains the house provisions prohibiting the use of beer for medicinal and other purposes, permitting physicians to prescribe only one-half pint of spirituous liquor to a single patient every ten days and extending the provisions of the Volstead act to the Hawaiian and Virgin Islands.

Committee Gives Anti-Beer Bill Favorable Report

Washington, July 6.—(I. N. S.)—The Campbell-Willis "anti-beer bill" was ordered favorably reported to the senate today by the senate judiciary committee after a long wrangle in closed executive session which, however, only resulted in minor amendments being adopted.

The bill, as adopted, retains the house provisions prohibiting the use of beer for medicinal and other purposes, permitting physicians to prescribe only one-half pint of spirituous liquor to a single patient every ten days and extending the provisions of the Volstead act to the Hawaiian and Virgin Islands.

Committee Gives Anti-Beer Bill Favorable Report

Washington, July 6.—(I. N. S.)—The Campbell-Willis "anti-beer bill" was ordered favorably reported to the senate today by the senate judiciary committee after a long wrangle in closed executive session which, however, only resulted in minor amendments being adopted.

The bill, as adopted, retains the house provisions prohibiting the use of beer for medicinal and other purposes, permitting physicians to prescribe only one-half pint of spirituous liquor to a single patient every ten days and extending the provisions of the Volstead act to the Hawaiian and Virgin Islands.

Committee Gives Anti-Beer Bill Favorable Report

Washington, July 6.—(I. N. S.)—The Campbell-Willis "anti-beer bill" was ordered favorably reported to the senate today by the senate judiciary committee after a long wrangle in closed executive session which, however, only resulted in minor amendments being adopted.

The bill, as adopted, retains the house provisions prohibiting the use of beer for medicinal and other purposes, permitting physicians to prescribe only one-half pint of spirituous liquor to a single patient every ten days and extending the provisions of the Volstead act to the Hawaiian and Virgin Islands.

Committee Gives Anti-Beer Bill Favorable Report

Washington, July 6.—(I. N. S.)—The Campbell-Willis "anti-beer bill" was ordered favorably reported to the senate today by the senate judiciary committee after a long wrangle in closed executive session which, however, only resulted in minor amendments being adopted.

The bill, as adopted, retains the house provisions prohibiting the use of beer for medicinal and other purposes, permitting physicians to prescribe only one-half pint of spirituous liquor to a single patient every ten days and extending the provisions of the Volstead act to the Hawaiian and Virgin Islands.

Committee Gives Anti-Beer Bill Favorable Report

Washington, July 6.—(I. N. S.)—The Campbell-Willis "anti-beer bill" was ordered favorably reported to the senate today by the senate judiciary committee after a long wrangle in closed executive session which, however, only resulted in minor amendments being adopted.

The bill, as adopted, retains the house provisions prohibiting the use of beer for medicinal and other purposes, permitting physicians to prescribe only one-half pint of spirituous liquor to a single patient every ten days and extending the provisions of the Volstead act to the Hawaiian and Virgin Islands.

FRANK O'CONNOR, ADMIRAL LINE AGENT, IS DEAD

After an illness of several months Frank J. O'Connor, well known in shipping circles of the Pacific coast, died at his home, 793 Clackamas street, late Tuesday afternoon. O'Connor went to a hospital several months ago for a slight surgical operation.

Later several blood transfusions were made, members of his office staff volunteering in the attempt to save their chief.

Since December, 1918, O'Connor had been agent for the Pacific Steamship company (Admiral line), in Portland. Beginning with occasional sailings he had developed the traffic in this port until the line now has weekly sailing in the coastwise run in addition to that of the Oriental trade.

Twenty-six years ago he joined the old Pacific Coast Steamship company which was later taken over by the Pacific Steamship company and had been with them since. At the time the Admiral line took the firm over he was agent at Nome, Alaska. There he remained until ordered to Vancouver, B. C., in 1917. One year later he was ordered to the Portland office.

His wife and one son, aged 2 years; his mother, Mrs. Thomas O'Connor of Alameda, Cal.; one brother, George O'Connor of San Francisco, and two sisters, survive him. Announcement of the funeral service has not been made.

Dr. Frank L. Maguire

Dr. Frank L. Maguire, 64, of Multnomah station, a retired dentist, died at the Good Samaritan hospital Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Maguire was seriously injured today when his plane crashed into a tree as they were taking off the field.

The plane and the two men fell 40 feet to the ground. The plane caught fire and burned up. The injured aviators managed to crawl out of the burning wreckage barely in time to escape cremation. This is the second serious accident within 10 days at the air station here. The plane was just taking off for a flight over the national forests. Insufficient speed in taking off is thought to be the cause of the accident.

Liquor Confiscated
A large quantity of whiskey and beer was confiscated Tuesday night in a midnight raid by apolice, who arrested

Joseph Craig, deputy game warden, Otto Erickson and Mildred Brown. The two men were charged with violating the prohibition law and disorderly conduct and the woman with violating the prohibition law. Thirty-three quarts of whiskey, 22 bottles of beer and 209 empty bottles were seized.

Jamaica will electrify its government railway, utilizing water power to produce current.

Two Men Injured When Plane Falls 40 Feet to Ground

Visalia, Cal., July 6.—(U. P.)—Pilot Everts and Observer Shalen of the forest air patrol station here were seriously injured today when their plane crashed into a tree as they were taking off the field.

The plane and the two men fell 40 feet to the ground. The plane caught fire and burned up. The injured aviators managed to crawl out of the burning wreckage barely in time to escape cremation. This is the second serious accident within 10 days at the air station here. The plane was just taking off for a flight over the national forests. Insufficient speed in taking off is thought to be the cause of the accident.

Liquor Confiscated
A large quantity of whiskey and beer was confiscated Tuesday night in a midnight raid by apolice, who arrested

Dr. Frank L. Maguire

Dr. Frank L. Maguire, 64, of Multnomah station, a retired dentist, died at the Good Samaritan hospital Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Maguire was seriously injured today when his plane crashed into a tree as they were taking off the field.

The plane and the two men fell 40 feet to the ground. The plane caught fire and burned up. The injured aviators managed to crawl out of the burning wreckage barely in time to escape cremation. This is the second serious accident within 10 days at the air station here. The plane was just taking off for a flight over the national forests. Insufficient speed in taking off is thought to be the cause of the accident.

Liquor Confiscated
A large quantity of whiskey and beer was confiscated Tuesday night in a midnight raid by apolice, who arrested

Dr. Frank L. Maguire

Dr. Frank L. Maguire, 64, of Multnomah station, a retired dentist, died at the Good Samaritan hospital Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Maguire was seriously injured today when his plane crashed into a tree as they were taking off the field.

The plane and the two men fell 40 feet to the ground. The plane caught fire and burned up. The injured aviators managed to crawl out of the burning wreckage barely in time to escape cremation. This is the second serious accident within 10 days at the air station here. The plane was just taking off for a flight over the national forests. Insufficient speed in taking off is thought to be the cause of the accident.

Liquor Confiscated
A large quantity of whiskey and beer was confiscated Tuesday night in a midnight raid by apolice, who arrested

Dr. Frank L. Maguire

Dr. Frank L. Maguire, 64, of Multnomah station, a retired dentist, died at the Good Samaritan hospital Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Maguire was seriously injured today when his plane crashed into a tree as they were taking off the field.

The plane and the two men fell 40 feet to the ground. The plane caught fire and burned up. The injured aviators managed to crawl out of the burning wreckage barely in time to escape cremation. This is the second serious accident within 10 days at the air station here. The plane was just taking off for a flight over the national forests. Insufficient speed in taking off is thought to be the cause of the accident.

Liquor Confiscated
A large quantity of whiskey and beer was confiscated Tuesday night in a midnight raid by apolice, who arrested

Dr. Frank L. Maguire

Dr. Frank L. Maguire, 64, of Multnomah station, a retired dentist, died at the Good Samaritan hospital Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Maguire was seriously injured today when his plane crashed into a tree as they were taking off the field.

The plane and the two men fell 40 feet to the ground. The plane caught fire and burned up. The injured aviators managed to crawl out of the burning wreckage barely in time to escape cremation. This is the second serious accident within 10 days at the air station here. The plane was just taking off for a flight over the national forests. Insufficient speed in taking off is thought to be the cause of the accident.

Liquor Confiscated
A large quantity of whiskey and beer was confiscated Tuesday night in a midnight raid by apolice, who arrested

Dr. Frank L. Maguire

Dr. Frank L. Maguire, 64, of Multnomah station, a retired dentist, died at the Good Samaritan hospital Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Maguire was seriously injured today when his plane crashed into a tree as they were taking off the field.

The plane and the two men fell 40 feet to the ground. The plane caught fire and burned up. The injured aviators managed to crawl out of the burning wreckage barely in time to escape cremation. This is the second serious accident within 10 days at the air station here. The plane was just taking off for a flight over the national forests. Insufficient speed in taking off is thought to be the cause of the accident.

Liquor Confiscated
A large quantity of whiskey and beer was confiscated Tuesday night in a midnight raid by apolice, who arrested

Dr. Frank L. Maguire

Dr. Frank L. Maguire, 64, of Multnomah station, a retired dentist, died at the Good Samaritan hospital Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Maguire was seriously injured today when his plane crashed into a tree as they were taking off the field.

The plane and the two men fell 40 feet to the ground. The plane caught fire and burned up. The injured aviators managed to crawl out of the burning wreckage barely in time to escape cremation. This is the second serious accident within 10 days at the air station here. The plane was just taking off for a flight over the national forests. Insufficient speed in taking off is thought to be the cause of the accident.

Liquor Confiscated
A large quantity of whiskey and beer was confiscated Tuesday night in a midnight raid by apolice, who arrested

Dr. Frank L. Maguire

Dr. Frank L. Maguire, 64, of Multnomah station, a retired dentist, died at the Good Samaritan hospital Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Maguire was seriously injured today when his plane crashed into a tree as they were taking off the field.

The plane and the two men fell 40 feet to the ground. The plane caught fire and burned up. The injured aviators managed to crawl out of the burning wreckage barely in time to escape cremation. This is the second serious accident within 10 days at the air station here. The plane was just taking off for a flight over the national forests. Insufficient speed in taking off is thought to be the cause of the accident.

Liquor Confiscated
A large quantity of whiskey and beer was confiscated Tuesday night in a midnight raid by apolice, who arrested

Dr. Frank L. Maguire

our accident within 10 days at the air station here. The plane was just taking off for a flight over the national forests. Insufficient speed in taking off is thought to be the cause of the accident.

Liquor Confiscated
A large quantity of whiskey and beer was confiscated Tuesday night in a midnight raid by apolice, who arrested

Dr. Frank L. Maguire

Dr. Frank L. Maguire, 64, of Multnomah station, a retired dentist, died at the Good Samaritan hospital Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Maguire was seriously injured today when his plane crashed into a tree as they were taking off the field.

The plane and the two men fell 40 feet to the ground. The plane caught fire and burned up. The injured aviators managed to crawl out of the burning wreckage barely in time to escape cremation. This is the second serious accident within 10 days at the air station here. The plane was just taking off for a flight over the national forests. Insufficient speed in taking off is thought to be the cause of the accident.

Liquor Confiscated
A large quantity of whiskey and beer was confiscated Tuesday night in a midnight raid by apolice, who arrested

Dr. Frank L. Maguire

Dr. Frank L. Maguire, 64, of Multnomah station, a retired dentist, died at the Good Samaritan hospital Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Maguire was seriously injured today when his plane crashed into a tree as they were taking off the field.

The plane and the two men fell 40 feet to the ground. The plane caught fire and burned up. The injured aviators managed to crawl out of the burning wreckage barely in time to escape cremation. This is the second serious accident within 10 days at the air station here. The plane was just taking off for a flight over the national forests. Insufficient speed in taking off is thought to be the cause of the accident.

Liquor Confiscated
A large quantity of whiskey and beer was confiscated Tuesday night in a midnight raid by apolice, who arrested

Dr. Frank L. Maguire

Dr. Frank L. Maguire, 64, of Multnomah station, a retired dentist, died at the Good Samaritan hospital Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Maguire was seriously injured today when his plane crashed into a tree as they were taking off the field.

The plane and the two men fell 40 feet to the ground. The plane caught fire and burned up. The injured aviators managed to crawl out of the burning wreckage barely in time to escape cremation. This is the second serious accident within 10 days at the air station here. The plane was just taking off for a flight over the national forests. Insufficient speed in taking off is thought to be the cause of the accident.

Liquor Confiscated
A large quantity of whiskey and beer was confiscated Tuesday night in a midnight raid by apolice, who arrested

Dr. Frank L. Maguire

Dr. Frank L. Maguire, 64, of Multnomah station, a retired dentist, died at the Good Samaritan hospital Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Maguire was seriously injured today when his plane crashed into a tree as they were taking off the field.

The plane and the two men fell 40 feet to the ground. The plane caught fire and burned up. The injured aviators managed to crawl out of the burning wreckage barely in time to escape cremation. This is the second serious accident within 10 days at the air station here. The plane was just taking off for a flight over the national forests. Insufficient speed in taking off is thought to be the cause of the accident.

Liquor Confiscated
A large quantity of whiskey and beer was confiscated Tuesday night in a midnight raid by apolice, who arrested

Dr. Frank L. Maguire

Dr. Frank L. Maguire, 64, of Multnomah station, a retired dentist, died at the Good Samaritan hospital Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Maguire was seriously injured today when his plane crashed into a tree as they were taking off the field.

The plane and the two men fell 40 feet to the ground. The plane caught fire and burned up. The injured aviators managed to crawl out of the burning wreckage barely in time to escape cremation. This is the second serious accident within 10 days at the air station here. The plane was just taking off for a flight over the national forests. Insufficient speed in taking off is thought to be the cause of the accident.

Liquor Confiscated
A large quantity of whiskey and beer was confiscated Tuesday night in a midnight raid by apolice, who arrested

Dr. Frank L. Maguire

Dr. Frank L. Maguire, 64, of Multnomah station, a retired dentist, died at the Good Samaritan hospital Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Maguire was seriously injured today when his plane crashed into a tree as they were taking off the field.