

GIRL RELEASED FROM FRAZIER HOME BY COURT

Alice Carpenter, 15 years and one month, was released from the Frazier home today on the grounds that she was too old to be under the jurisdiction of the court of domestic relations.

Judge Jacob Kanzer agreed to her dismissal after a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus proceedings before Circuit Judge Taswell, at which Judge Taswell and George Mowry of the district attorney's office gave it as their opinion that Judge Kanzer had no power over a person who had reached the age of 15 years.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED

Miss Carpenter was examined by Dr. S. C. Kohns, psychologist of the court of domestic relations, and found to have a mental age of 8 years and 6 months. Judge Kanzer sent her to the Frazier home and prepared a commitment to send her to the school for the feeble minded.

Frank J. Carpenter, brother of the girl, through his attorney, Wilson T. Hume, brought habeas corpus proceedings, charging that the girl's father, Lewis Carpenter, did not wish to support his daughter and was conspiring with the court to have her put in the school for the feeble minded.

The petition also claimed that the court was preparing to have the girl sterilized at the school. The decision to turn her loose today was based entirely on the legal question of age.

SEEKS OPINION

"I have no jurisdiction in the matter of sterilization and never claimed to," Judge Kanzer stated. "We have legal blanks for commitment to the home for the feeble minded and there is no deviation from these blanks."

Judge Kanzer stated he would ask the attorney general for an opinion on whether he had jurisdiction over a person 15 years old. The statute reads "15 years or under," but Deputy District Attorney Mowry and Judge Taswell were of the opinion that, in accordance with an opinion handed down by the supreme court of Colorado, this meant "under 15 years of age."

A complaint can still be filed against Miss Carpenter in the circuit court if anyone wishes to claim that she is feeble minded. Wilson T. Hume produced a paper at the hearing, signed by many acquaintances of the girl, giving the opinion that the girl is of hale mind.

North End Veterans Again Say 'Howdy' In Police Tribunal

Veterans of the old campaigning day in the North End held a convention in the municipal court this morning. Four old timers came up before Municipal Judge Rosman with the old familiar greeting, "Good morning, judge." Joe Mielke, who has been to court many times on various charges, came up today on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. Mielke and Bertha Smith were arrested in a small hotel where they were occupying the same room. Mielke was sentenced to seven days in jail. Bertha Smith's case will be decided later.

"Bay Rum Charlie" Davenport drank too much again. The court will have to wait a few hours for decision in his case. He can't come down this morning. Maggie Gallagher is also resting up before she comes down from the woman's jail to face a charge of being drunk again.

Missing N. Y. Woman Gives First Clue in Letter From Oregon

Salem, Or., July 21.—What has become of Mrs. Laura Mayne, 31, of Albany, N. Y., who claims that, while bound from New York to Gunnison, Colo., she was drugged by a man and woman who later held her captive?

That is the question put to Governor Olcott in a telegram this morning received from Oliver H. Shoup, governor of Colorado, who says that the only letter received from Mrs. Mayne was postmarked Milton, Or. Governor Olcott's assistance in locating the missing woman is sought by the Colorado executive.

The Colorado governor was notified of the woman's disappearance by Jacob Starr of Crested Butte, Colo., who received the letter, dated July 7, from Mrs. Mayne. The letter, Governor Shoup stated, apparently was written under great nervous strain and is believed to have been mailed by a hotel maid. The Colorado governor added that Mr. Starr has received word from the mayor of Milton, stating that efforts to find Mrs. Mayne have been unavailing.

The missing woman is an American weighing 135 pounds. She is five feet four inches tall, has brown hair and eyes, is said to be well educated and well dressed.

Zukernan Can't Be Taken Again, Yet Sheriff Has Him

Louis Zukernan is wandering, and with just cause, where he stands. Arrested and sentenced by Judge Morrow for passing bad checks and then paroled, Zukernan was taken in custody by the sheriff's office on a telegraphic warrant from Seattle, charging the same offense. Morris Goldstein, attorney for Zukernan, brought habeas corpus proceedings on the grounds that an old decision of the Oregon supreme court stated a paroled man could not be taken to another state on a warrant for an offense committed before the parole.

Wednesday the district attorney ordered Zukernan's release. This morning he was informed that a recent act passed by the legislature specifically stated a paroled man could be taken to another state.

Zukernan is in custody again. Evans states the point may be threshed out in court.

ELKS PLUNGED IN ROUND OF GAETIES; NEW HERDS COME

Portland continued to be the Mecca today for hundreds of delegates returning from the national convention of Elks at Los Angeles, the new arrivals joining hundreds who arrived in the city Wednesday and were so impressed with the beauties of the City of Roses that they prolonged their visit another day.

Three special trains bearing the representatives of Elksdom homeward, arrived this morning. The first special train, arriving at 7:30 o'clock, brought 111 "Brother Bills" from Baltimore, and two special trains arriving at 11:15 and 11:30 o'clock, brought 254 Philadelphiaans.

HIGHWAY IS MAGNET

The Baltimore Elks voted en masse to take a tour of the Columbia river highway and could hardly wait until they had breakfast. A part of the Philadelphia crowd left for a highway trip, another part left aboard the gasoline launch Dix for a trip down the river, while still a third party went on a theatre party to the Liberty.

The Baltimore and Philadelphia ladies voted before they arrived here to spend a part of the day shopping in Portland streets, and these groups were to gather at the Multnomah hotel late this afternoon.

In addition to the guests of the local organization who arrived on special trains, there were a great number who came individually. It was estimated that there were about 1000 visiting Elks in the city at noon today, when the honorary luncheon at the Imperial hotel convened. Many of the visitors were scattered around at various scenic spots, however.

Treatment of Vets Is Declared 'Rotten'

Washington, July 21.—(I. N. S.)—"Rotten," was in term applied to the medical treatment given ex-service men at the Navajo (N.I.) vocational training center, by Captain Myron E. Adams of Chicago, an officer of the Post Veterans Association of World War Veterans, in testifying today before the senate committee investigating the case of dependent and incapacitated ex-service men.

HARD CONCERT SUCCEDES

Wednesday was the biggest day for the local lodge of Elks since the bearing of the royal purple took possession of the city in 1912. The band concert at Laurelhurst park beginning at 8 o'clock was a big success, and several thousand guests mingled with the local Elks to hear the band and watch the drills.

FUGITIVE HELD HIM UP, SAYS DRIVER

Police are continuing the search for Andrew M. Holman, who shot and seriously wounded Special Patrolman Robert L. Whitesides in a fight at Twenty-first and Washington streets Tuesday night. It is thought he fled across the Interstate bridge and is hiding in Washington.

William J. Baker, 343 Mt. Adams drive, reported to the police that he was held up by Holman about three-quarters of an hour after the shooting on Vista avenue, just off Washington street in his automobile, when Holman stepped from the curb and jumped onto the running board, demanding that Baker turn around and drive him down town.

Baker reconstrated with him and Holman was about to force him to turn around when a woman believed to be Holman's wife stepped from the curb and begged him not to get into any further trouble and started to pull him out of the machine. While Holman was hesitating Baker gave him a shove from the car and sped up Vista avenue. He said that Holman had a revolver in his hand at the time.

No attempt was made by Holman to get money from Baker.

Pour it on, Mother!

SON can't wait for the Alpine to trick! creamily Sover the cereal. Being a regular boy he just naturally likes good things, so mother not only makes his morning cereal extra nourishing with Alpine, but she makes his cocoa with it too, and he finds her using it in father's coffee, and for the flaky batch of evening biscuits, or the cream sauces, and for all the other dishes mother knows best how to make. If you could see Alpine packed away in its tins, close to the big Oregon dairy farms, you would know why it comes to you so creamy, so rich, so pure.
