

MORE THAN 200 TO CLIMB HOOD WITH AMERICAN LEGION

Hood River, Or., July 26.—With acceptance already in from Governor Ben Olcott, Secretary of State Sam Koser and Adjutant General White, the Hood River post, American Legion, reports that to date more than 200 persons have announced their intention to climb Mount Hood in the first annual event arranged by the post.

Mark Weyandt, veteran leader of the mountain guides, will have charge of the party and already has secured the services of a number of proven guides of the Parkdale section. Under supervision of local ex-service men camps and kitchens will be established above Tilly Jane canyon and the efficiency of a military camp will be apparent in all the arrangements on the ascent of the mountain.

CLIMB OPEN TO ALL
Anybody in the state is welcome to join the party, the only requirement being that the individual will obey all orders issued before the climb commences. These orders will be given for the safety of all. On the summit of Mount Hood an initiation into the Societe des 8 Hommes et 4 Chevaux will be put on by the legion, the first of its kind in the United States, and the ascent will be an annual event. The cost, which will be $12.50 a person, will cover everything from food to guides from the time of leaving Hood River Saturday, July 30, until the return to Hood River, July 31, Sunday evening.

ROUGH CLOTHES URGED
Those taking part are asked to wear high top shoes with Hungarian cone-headed nails, clothes suitable for fishing or hiking, together with a macintosh, sweater, leather coat, woolen socks or stockings and to equip themselves with a pair of amber colored glasses and a six-foot stout stick with pointed end. As a large number of women will accompany the party, the dress requirements apply to them and the guides particularly ask that climbers refrain from wearing heavy underclothes which will impede them on the higher levels of the mountain.

Kent Shoemaker, county clerk of Hood River, is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements and all wishing to join the party may write him before Thursday of this week.

Good Samaritan to Indian Gets Bullet In Head as Reward

White Swan, Wash., July 26.—(I. N. S.)—William Burton, Indian, shot Arnes Moore in the head, wounding him slightly, because the latter tried to prevent him from throwing away $240, and now resides in the Yakima jail, as the result of a moonshine spree.

"Paleface heap damn fool," shouted Burton when Moore made his good Samaritan effort to save the Indian's money, emphasizing his opinion with a revolver shot. Moore ducked opportunely, however, and the bullet bounced off his head, doing little damage.

A posse of citizen chasers, Burton through the sagebrush for half a day, finally capturing him and tying him to a hitching post until he sobered up, when he was taken to Yakima and lodged in the bastille.

FIRE LOSS CAUSES SUIT
Lewiston, Idaho, July 26.—Annie B. Herrington has filed a damage suit against the Northern Pacific railroad to recover $2,947.50. Her property, lying near the tracks, was burned, she alleges, through carelessness on the part of the company in not keeping the right of way clear of combustibles.

Open Cutouts Cause Fires Along Roads; Grain Is Destroyed

Walla Walla, Wash., July 26.—Farmers of Walla Walla and Umatilla counties reporting grain fires at the close of last week's harvesting are irate at autoists and truck drivers who drive along country roads with their cutouts open.

Of nine fires reported at least three, ranchers declare, were started by blazes which began in roads, strawed to make grain hauling easier, following the passing of automobiles or auto trucks with cutouts open. In one instance a cigarette stub thrown in a strawed road near Walsburg is said to have caused the loss of between 40 and 50 acres of grain on the Arthur Ranch farm.

The total loss suffered in Walla Walla county and Northern Umatilla county is reported as approximately 450 acres of standing grain, together with two harvesters. All of the fires reported, with but one exception, were caused by backfires from combine harvesters or from blazes which had their origin in strawed roads.

Longshoreman Held In Connection With Chinaman's Murder

Fred Taylor, a longshoreman staying at the Grand Union hotel, 387 1/2 East Burnside street, was arrested Monday afternoon by inspectors McCulloch and Horack on a warrant issued by the sheriff of Clatsop county. Taylor is wanted in connection with the murder of a Chinese merchant at Astoria about two weeks ago.

Taylor is said to have been working regularly at his trade and his connection with the murder in Astoria is doubted by the inspector's department here. After hearing rumors that he had had part in the killing of the Chinese, Taylor came to the inspectors and gave them his address at the Grand Union hotel.
