

SOUTHERN PACIFIC TO BE MOVED TO FOURTH AND STARK

The passenger ticket business of the Southern Pacific company will be withdrawn from the consolidated ticket office at Third and Washington streets on August 1 and will be handled after that date through the company's passenger station at Fourth and Stark, according to announcement made today by J. A. Ormandy, assistant general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific in Portland.

C. W. Stinger, manager of the consolidated ticket office, will be in charge at the Southern Pacific station. C. E. Warren, a former employee of the Southern Pacific, who has been attached to the consolidated office since its establishment September 1, 1918, will succeed Stinger as manager of the office.

Other members of the staff of the new Southern Pacific ticket office are: John Gardner, chief clerk; H. G. Pomeroy, assistant chief clerk; A. W. Bennett, cashier; G. E. Cote, M. D. Copenhaven, D. E. Caldwell and Mrs. P. B. Sillp, ticket clerks; W. Carson and H. G. Lowry, information clerks; Miss Frances E. Williams, stenographer. A. D. Wick, now acting as ticket agent of Southern Pacific electric lines at the Fourth street station, will resume his former position as traveling passenger agent of the company, with headquarters at Portland, beginning August 1.

Stinger has been in the employ of the Southern Pacific continuously since 1883. He served as ticket clerk and cashier until September 1, 1901, when he was made cashier and chief clerk of the ticket office of the O-W. R. & N. and S. P. roads under the Harriman consolidation. When the roads resumed separate management in February, 1918, Stinger was placed in charge of the city ticket office of the Southern Pacific company and was promoted to control of the consolidated ticket office September 1, 1918.

The consolidated ticket office will continue to handle the business of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and S. P. & S. railways, the Union Pacific company and the San Francisco & Portland Steamship company.

purpose and lowered himself to her side.

Gathering his wife in his arms, Dr. Stone attempted to climb back. He lost his footing and fell back into an even deeper crevice. Death was believed to have been instantaneous, so great was the fall.

Mrs. Stone tumbled back into the shallower crevice, where she was forced to lie until rescuing parties found her Sunday.

ENTHUSIASTIC CLIMBERS
Dr. Stone was one of the most widely known educators in the United States, specializing in agricultural research. He had been identified with Purdue university since 1889 and was a prominent member of the Indiana board of education.

The first woman to reach the top of Mount Assiniboine, the highest of the great peaks of the Canadian Rockies. The Stones were enthusiastic mountain climbers and for years have spent their summers in the mountains.

Vendor of Drinks Changes Mind; Fined

Antone Covich, north end soft drink vendor, changed his mind a second time within two days, and pleaded guilty to violating the liquor laws this morning before Federal Judge Bean and was fined $100. Covich came before Judge Tuesday morning and backed down at the last minute, indicating that he was going to get a lawyer and fight the case. Today he appeared with an attorney but made no contest, other than that he was not selling the drink, but merely treating a friend.

POSTMASTER WILL BE DETERMINED BY COMPETITIVE TEST

Examination of applicants for the position of postmaster of both Portland and Pendleton will be held August 15, according to information received at the Portland office. Applications for the position must be in the hands of the postmaster general at Washington, D. C. before August 15.

While the postmaster at Portland has been vacant since January 31, 1920, the place has been filled by John M. Jones, who passed the required examination and was nominated for the office by President Wilson. His nomination was never confirmed. Jones repeated this morning he would be a candidate for examination for the appointment to be made this year.

Under an order issued by President Wilson the position of first-class postmaster is under civil service ruling by executive order. The examinations are held by the civil service commission and the names of the three highest men is turned over to the senator from the district in which the postoffice is located. Any one of the three may be confirmed.

The civil service commission also announces open competitive examination to be held on September 3 for positions of clerk and carrier in the Portland postoffice.

ALBERS DIES; END CHEATS NEW HEARING

trial of the case. Immediately effort was made to have Albers held for retrial and a supreme court mandate remanding him to the custody of United States Attorney Humphreys and the federal court here for "further proceedings" was received only a week ago.

Albers was born 55 years ago in the little town of Lingen, Hanover, Germany. He was one of nine children. His father was a grain merchant. He was educated in the public schools near his home until 14, when he started to learn the grain milling business. His mother died when he was 8 years old.

In 1891, when 25 years old, Albers left Lingen for Portland, Or., with 1000 marks in his pocket. Two of his brothers were already here, one brother, Bernard Albers, having come here four years earlier. Henry Albers was never married.

Upon arrival in Portland Albers went to work in the kitchen of the Bishop Scott academy, a boys' school, where he baked bread, did the butcher shop work and such other tasks as he was assigned to. Albers had learned how to bake in Germany. Later he cooked for three months at a Seaside hotel.

After returning to Portland he secured a position in the McKay building, looking after the machinery and operating the elevator, as he had learned considerable about machinery in his father's mill in Germany. He later became janitor of the McKay building, collecting all the rent and taking care of the building in general. He held this position for three years, or until May 1, 1895.

At that time Albers, his brother Bernard, and Mrs. Schneider went into partnership and opened a grain milling plant at Front and Main streets under the name of Albers Brothers & Schneider. The name was later changed to the United States Mills. From that small beginning grew the chain of mills which at the time of Albers' trial extended to Seattle, Bellingham, San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles and Ogden.

Albers took little interest in the sales department or office work of the concern.

HE BUILDS MILLS
He built practically all the mills which the concern owned, as he was considered a good machinist. It was his duty to keep the mills running and to this end he used to work considerable at nights. He testified at his trial that as a result of strenuous labor he had impaired his health.

Albers was president of the Albers Brothers Milling company at the time of his trial. When public criticism became great at the time of his trial, Albers resigned the presidency. At that time the firm was reported to have lost considerable business, the public refusing to purchase Albers' products.

At the outbreak of the war in 1914 Albers was at Buenos Aires, South America, purchasing corn. Albers returned to Germany in 1910 and 1912. He was naturalized here in December, 1906.

The alleged seditious remarks which brought about Albers' arrest are said to have been made on October 15, 1918, while en route from San Francisco to Portland. February 6, 1919, Albers was fined $10,000 and sentenced to three years at McNeil's island prison by Federal Judge C. E. Wolverton after a jury had found him guilty.

Henry E. McGinn acted as counsel for the defendant while the government was represented by Bert E. Haney, then United States district attorney for Oregon.

APPEAL IS TAKEN

From this decision an appeal was taken to the circuit court of appeals at San Francisco, where one year later the decision of the Oregon district was upheld. By writ of certiorari the case was removed to the United States supreme court by Attorney Charles H. Carey of the law firm of Carey & Kerr.

Supposedly under instructions from Attorney General Daugherty, Solicitor General Frierson confessed error in the Albers case on April 27 of this year before the supreme court, after strong pressure had been brought to bear. The supreme court then referred the case back to the Oregon district for "further proceedings."

The supreme court mandate was verified by William H. Taft, as chief justice of the supreme bench.

Lightning Causes Numerous Fires in Whitman Forest

Baker, July 27.—Lightning Saturday and Sunday nights in the Whitman national forest, west of Baker, started more than 30 fires that were discovered from the fire lookout stations. Sunday every man on the old Whitman forest was fighting fire, with more than enough fire to go around. More fires have been reported since Sunday. In each instance the fires are reported to have been caused by lightning. It is thought that all will be put out without much loss. Some are in localities where they would cause much damage should they get out of control.

Fire guards and rangers who were in the mountains during the electric storms of Saturday and Sunday report them the hardest storms of the kind they have seen in a number of years.

SHERIFF PURSUES REDDING BANDITS

Redding, Cal., July 27.—(I. N. S.)—Sheriff Richardson today was leaving no stone unturned to capture two bandits who late yesterday afternoon robbed the Fall River Mills bank of $1023.

Officers in Fall River Mills were inclined to the theory that the robbery was the work of local people, the same who raided a pool room there recently. The robbery took place at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but it was not until 5 o'clock that word reached the sheriff here. Before entering the bank the bandits had cut the wires leading from the town in all directions.

One of the bandits remained in an automobile outside the bank while the other, unmasked, entered the institution and presented a check. Miss Edna Black and Miss Blanche Lee, employees, were alone and after they had cashed the check, were suddenly confronted by a revolver in the hands of the supposed customer. He fired one shot into the floor and ordered the two girls into the vault, slamming the door on them.

He then scooped all the money in sight into a handbag and with his companion fled in the automobile. It was 30 minutes before the young women prisoners discovered that the vault was not locked and gave the alarm. Two hours then intervened before word was relayed here of the robbery.

The bank is a branch of the Lassen Industrial bank of Susanville. Its main cash reserve was safely locked in a safe in the vault.

Two Portland Boys Decide to Hike to San Diego and Back

Earl Henry, 16, and Jack Reid, 15, two Franklin high school fifth-termers, will begin a 1800-mile walking journey to San Diego next Monday morning, with a total bank account of less than $50.

"Of course we won't refuse a ride," said one of the lads when asked how they expected to make the 3000-mile trip and get back for school on September 4. The boys hope to find many liberal motorists along the route. Should their funds become depleted they intend to work in the fruit orchards.

Henry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Henry, 5505 Thirty-sixth avenue southeast, and Reid is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Reid, 885 East Thirty-seventh street.

ALLEGED THIEF KILLED IN FIGHT

Bellingham, Wash., July 27.—(I. N. S.)—In a gun fight with Sheriff George Reay at Mount Vernon today, John Higgins, a suspected automobile thief, was instantly killed, and James O'Brien, a companion, was shot in the neck.

D. E. Wolfe and his wife, members of the Higgins party, were arrested by the sheriff at the conclusion of the fight. Deputy Sheriff Al Solentine, at the beginning of the battle, was disarmed, later being shot through the jaw.

DR. STONE KILLED TRYING TO SAVE WIFE

had fallen into the crevice while attempting to rescue his wife.

Mrs. Stone was found seriously injured, lying at the foot of the crevice.

BODY IS LOCATED
Mrs. Stone was rushed to an emergency hospital at Camp Assiniboine and a corps of doctors and nurses, sent from here, ministered to her.

The body of Dr. Stone was found Sunday. It took nearly an entire day to remove it from the crevice and guides from Assiniboine camp did not return here with the news until late last night.

The brief word reaching here from the guides was a message telling of heroism and tragedy.

Mrs. Stone lost her footing on the steep slope of Mount Ancon and fell into the crevice.
