

MISS BELLE BISHOP WILL HEAD SCHOOL AT LAKE GROVE

New Building Is Not Completed, but Contractors Promise It by September 1.

Signs of waning summer and the approach of the school season were made manifest Tuesday evening at Lake Grove when J. W. Stone, Ray Stoetzel and George Simpler, members of the school board of that district, met to elect school teachers for the coming year.

Miss Belle Bishop of Gladstone was elected to have charge of the Springbrook school, which is to house the sixth, seventh and eighth grades. Miss Bishop has for several years been an instructor at the Louise Home and is in every way qualified to have charge of the upper grades of the grammar school.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Fredericksen, formerly residing at Lake Grove, were house guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Max Boulanger, Saturday August 20.

Miss Mina Savage and Miss Helen Page have been spending the week at Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Runkle and children motored to Vancouver, Wash., where they spent last week end with friends.

Miss Helen Miller has been the guest of her Aunt, Mrs. Rena Le Noir, for the past two weeks.

Geoffrey P. Nock of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company, now stationed in San Francisco, has been transferred to the Portland office of that company.

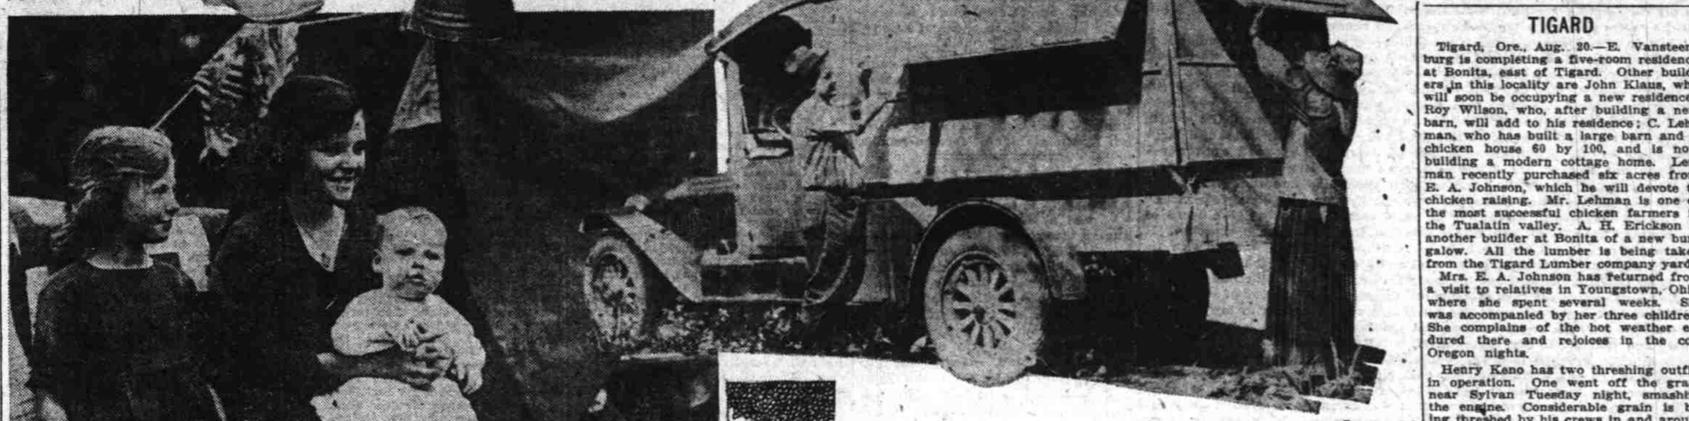

Little Claribel Robertson, the 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Robertson, accompanied her mother to an afternoon party at which punch was served.

Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Payne have been entertaining Mrs. Payne's aunt, Mrs. M. R. Reynolds of Minnesota. Mrs. Reynolds expects to stay several weeks with her hosts.

Miss Laura Thompson of The Dalles has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Simmonson.

An elaborate afternoon was given Wednesday by Mrs. Irving Stanton and Mrs. C. F. Harris at Mrs. Stanton's home near Goodin. Rain interfered with the hostess' plans for a lawn party, but the house proved spacious enough to accommodate the many ladies. Mrs. Stanton and Mrs. Harris' guests were: Mrs. Russell Robertson, Mrs. H. H. Albers, Mrs. J. P. Johnson, Mrs. C. E. Calvert, Mrs. S. B. Vincent, Mrs. E. Barnes, Mrs. G. F. Nock, Mrs. W. S. Wade, Mrs. Duffey, Mrs. Atkinson, Mrs. R. K. Kennedy, Mrs. L. W. Wells, Mrs. Martha

WOULD YOU NOT LIKE TO ANSWER THE CALL OF THE GREAT OUT-OF-DOORS, IF YOU COULD?

Some glimpses of real enjoyment snapped at Portland's tourist camp. Above, left to right, Fletcher party from New York. They don't care where they come from, they don't care where they go; they are just on the road to everywhere and have gone already 23,400 miles of the distance. Just arrived, too hungry and too busy to tell who they are or where they came from. They are here for a week's stay. Below, left to right, the Williamson party from Salt Lake City; Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Fuller, from Placeta, Cal.

Portland Leads in Building New Yorkers Note Activity

"We have been all the way from Los Angeles to New York and this far back again, and there is more building going on in Portland than in any other city we have been in," said H. B. Stevenson, who, with Mrs. Stevenson, arrived Friday at the municipal automobile camp, opposite Peninsula park, for a few days' stay.

"Things had been pretty dull in Los Angeles, but we were beginning to pick up a little before we left, the first of May, but business is surely in a bad way in the East. My brother-in-law has been with the Westinghouse Air Brake concern in Pittsburgh for 20 years, but he is only working three days every other week now. From 6000 to 8000 men are employed normally there, but there are not more than 1600 working now. It isn't because they haven't any business, but because they have enough orders to keep them busy for years to come, but they just propose to wait to fill them until labor gets cheaper, and the only way to make it cheaper is to starve the men to it. This same condition obtains in the automobile factories, the tire concerns—in fact, in all lines of manufacture. Of all the places we passed through, I think Butte was the deadiest. There simply isn't anything doing there."

FIND PROPERTY HIGH
Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kendrick, who have spent the last 20 years in Alaska, have decided to spend the rest of their lives in the states and are taking a leisurely trip down the coast to find out just where they want to locate. "We like Oregon mighty well, but your property is pretty high. We want to get a few acres out in the edge of town, but we think $1500 to $1700 an acre is too high, so we are going to look a little farther, but we may come back here, we went into Alaska in 1899, went into Fairbanks when that opened up and later was in business in Cordova and Juneau. He is a furniture dealer.

ENOUGH OF CALIFORNIA
"We've been to California, but we have had enough of it and are on our way back to Kansas City," is the inscription chalked on the back of a big touring car carrying the family of W. H. Williams comprising nine persons, five children and Mrs. Williams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Kincaid, from JACKSON, MICHIGAN.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Fox arrived Thursday from Jackson, Mich. They will visit relatives in Washington before returning to their home. They are delighted with Oregon and the West. "We think we have pretty fine scenery along the Hudson river, but it doesn't compare with your Columbia river highway," said H. T. Reynolds, who, with Mrs. Reynolds and their son, Howard, arrived Friday from Clifton, N. J. "After 1800 miles through a flat, uninteresting country, your wonderful trees and green hills surely look good to us. We are on our way to California for the winter."

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tye and daughter, Ida Elmer, have arrived from Blaine, N. D., expecting to make Portland their future home, and while looking around are enjoying the hospitality of the camp ground.

COME FROM RENO
Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Riley and daughter, Maxine, and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jones and Clara Marr of Reno, Nev., arrived Thursday evening after a two weeks' trip up the coast, during which they touched points of interest in California. They are delighted with Portland and will spend several days here. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Arneson of Valley City, N. D., are on their way to San Francisco for the winter and expect to locate somewhere in the West. "To the Pacific coast or bust, we did, and we didn't," is painted in red letters on a box strapped onto the back of a

TIGARD

Tigard, Ore., Aug. 20.—E. Vansteenberg is completing a five-room residence at Bonita, east of Tigard. Other builders in this locality are John Klaus, who will soon be occupying a new residence; Roy Wilson, who is erecting a new barn, will add to his residence; C. Lehman, who has built a large barn and a chicken house 60 by 100, and is now building a modern cottage home. Letman recently purchased six acres from E. A. Johnson, which he will devote to chicken raising. Mr. Lehman is one of the most successful chicken farmers in the Tualatin valley. A. H. Erickson is another builder at Bonita of a new bungalow. All the lumber is being taken from the Tigard Lumber company yards.

Mr. E. A. Johnson has returned from a visit to relatives in Youngstown, Ohio, where she spent several weeks. She was accompanied by her three children. She complains of the hot weather endured there and rejoices in the cool Oregon nights.

Henry Kano has two threshing outfits in operation. One went off the grade near Sylvan Tuesday night, smashing the engine. Considerable grain is being threshed by his crews in and around Tigard. None of the waiting stacks was injured by the rains of Wednesday night. Charles Woolfer recently bought a 10-acre tract from John Schaal between Durham and Tigardville, which he is rapidly making into a modern small farm. A six-room bungalow with all modern conveniences is being constructed.

H. M. Stiles will soon occupy his new bungalow near Walnut avenue. It has been brought to the last stages of completion.

R. E. McMichael of the Portland police force is having a new house built on his acre tract back of Walnut avenue. A. E. Johnson is preparing to build two cottages near the Catholic church, one of which he and his family expect to occupy. No lumber is on the ground yet, but excavation work has begun.

The Tigard Lumber company will move across the creek as soon as possible. Work on a new business office and a set of lumber sheds will be begun soon. Other buildings may be constructed if leases can be made. Owing to the continued rush of business, the regular yard force has been unable to get at the building.

Arrangements have been made for a dance every Saturday night at Cobb's hall.

The First Bank of Tigard is kept busy overtime these days accommodating customers in connection with the rush of farm business.

On their thirty-sixth wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. C. Schamoni were given a dinner on August 7 at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Burch, in Tigard. The party at dinner numbered 18 relatives and friends. In the evening a larger gathering surprised the Schamoni upon their return from an auto ride. Supper was served at 11:30 by Mrs. Burch. Ernest Lang is on a trip East, where he will visit relatives in Illinois.

WOODSTOCK

Mr. and Mrs. John Bergstrand and children, 5300 Fifty-third avenue, Woodstock, have returned home after spending a week camping at Pacific City. Mrs. W. Imbler leaves Saturday for Barbara Louise, 6123 Forty-seventh street, have returned from a visit at Hood River.

The Ladies Aid society of the Methodist church will meet Wednesday afternoon, August 24, at the home of Mrs. S. L. Seal, 6037 Fifty-fourth street. J. R. Delk is building a home at the corner of Forty-seventh and Sixty-third avenues.

Mrs. Charles Hill, 5335 Forty-fourth street, and Mrs. Helen Lewis, 1172 Carlton avenue, returned Monday from Cannon beach, where they spent several weeks. Miss Lewis leaves Saturday for Sutherlin to visit her sister, Mrs. E. Adams.

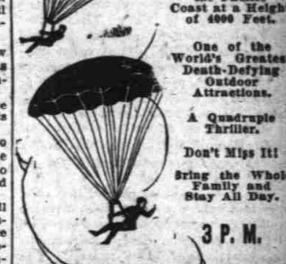

About 20 friends surprised H. S. Lewis Tuesday evening at his home, 1172 Carlton avenue, in honor of his sixty-sixth birthday. The Church Calendar club will give a social at the Methodist church Friday evening, August 24. An excellent program will be given in the auditorium and refreshments served in the church parlors.

Mrs. S. L. M. Farmer and her sister, Mrs. S. H. Moore, are spending the week at Cannon Beach hotel. The quarantine for diphtheria has been lifted from the home of Rev. John McCormick, pastor of the Episcopal church, corner Forty-first street and Woodstock avenue.

Freeman Pike, 6113 Forty-eighth street, is visiting his aunt, Mrs. A. L. Swager, at Felida, Wash.

FARMERS WIN TAX FIGHT

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 20.—Fifteen hundred farmers, meeting at the courthouse, battled their way to victory against members of the board of equalization, who had called a meeting for the purpose of boosting the assessed valuation of county automobiles. The board voted to let all present assessments stand.
