Beavers Win Amazingly From Oaks

OKLAND, Cal., Aug. 25.—What's going to happen? The Beavers actually stepped out and annexed an easy victory Wednesday over the Oaks. The Mackmen slaughtered the offerings of Pitchers Arlett and Winn of the Oaks for 20 bingles, including five doubles, for a 15 to 8 victory.

The Mackmen got away from front by lambasting Arlett, who is usually credited with a victory over Portland the moment he steps onto the mound, for three runs in the first inning and chased him to the showers by scoring five more in the third.

OKland scored two runs in the third inning off Pillette, and no more tallies were chalked up until the seventh, when the Beavers chased over two more runs. In the eighth they added four more, and when Pillette eased up in the eighth the Acons put across six runs. Portland added one in the ninth for good measure.

Every Beaver got one or more hits. Cox made four hits in five times up and Hale landed out four in six trips. Poole made three bingles. Knight led the Oaks in hitting with three hits, including a homer.

Table with columns: AB, R, H, PO, A, E. Rows for various players like Gindardi, Kruz, Cox, Poole, Greenham, Arlett, Pillette.

Australian Net Stars Beaten in Davis Cup Play

SELECTION of a matchmaker for the fall and winter ring season was deferred for a fortnight by the Portland boxing commission at a meeting of the members Wednesday night.

The commissioners took no action on the resignation of Bobby Evans, which they have had for several weeks. Among those who would step into Evans' shoes are Ralph Gruman, who has been acting as referee for the last few shows staged by the commission; Abe Martin, who has been identified with the game as a manager for several years; Harry Hamsel of the Army Athletic club and M. C. Hill, another manager of boxers.

Evans has declared that his future as matchmaker is entirely in the hands of the commissioners.

The commission voted, upon the recommendation of Mayor Baker, to remit $580 to the B. P. O. E. and $360 to the Spanish War Veterans. These sums represent the 10 per cent of the total gate receipts of the benefit shows staged by these organizations this year.

Admission prices to the benefit smoker scheduled to be staged in the Heilig the afternoon, September 2, have been set at $1.10, $2.20 and $3.30.

Following are the bouts that have been arranged for the card: Frankie Murphy vs. Jack Edmondson, Joe Gorman vs. Muff Bronson, Abe Mieshkin vs. Weldon Wing, Jockey Bennett vs. Abbie Gordon, Johnny Fugate vs. Joe Dunn and Freddie Lough vs. Johnny Trambitas.

FANS WANT ACTION In view of the fact that all the bouts are to be of four rounds' duration, the writer suggests that the battlers draw for positions on the card. This idea of setting out any special bout as a main event on a benefit card of this character is not fair to the boys who are giving their services gratis.

What the ring fans want is action. The commissioners should demand battles just as if they were paying the boxers. The ring game is harmed by stalling just as much as it is by framed contests.

There's no reason why any boxer should go into the ring and stall for four rounds for the sake of a card. This idea of setting out any special bout as a main event on a benefit card of this character is not fair to the boys who are giving their services gratis.

Net Stars in Semi Final Of Doubles

LONGWOOD CRICKET CLUB, Chestnut Hill, Mass., Aug. 25.—Brilliant tennis was played on the Longwood courts Wednesday in the fourth round of the national doubles championship. Three of the four teams to survive for the semi-finals have members of the United States Davis cup selections on the list.

R. Norris Williams and Watson Washburn, who will represent America in the challenge round of the Davis cup as doubles partners, had a difficult time today in disposing of Howard Voshell and Samuel Hardy, veteran New York players. It was a five set match and in the middle of the fourth set it looked as if Voshell and Hardy might win.

Williams was far from being at his best. He exhibited but little control of his stroke and smashed the ball into the net or outside. Voshell and Hardy made a determined effort to win and never played better than against the Davis cup pair.

William Tilden II, the world's tennis champion, and Vincent Richards showed in their match with Lawrence Williams and Fritz Bastian, the Western doubles champions, that they are going to be hard to beat in this tournament.

The draw for the semi-finals was held today at the home of Howard Voshell and Samuel Hardy, veteran New York players. It was a five set match and in the middle of the fourth set it looked as if Voshell and Hardy might win.
