

NEXT SUNDAY

Four world-wide news gathering organizations and a complete local staff of news writers is already engaged in the preparation of The Sunday Oregon Journal for next Sunday. That is one of the outstanding reasons for the predominance of excellence of the big week-end paper—the home paper of the Oregon country.

Vera Temple to
Wed Mr. Judd
Next Month

CARDS have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Slusher of Pendleton for the marriage of the latter's daughter, Miss Vera Temple, to Mr. Henry Clay Judd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Judd of this city. The wedding will take place in the Church of the Redeemer (Episcopal) at Pendleton the evening of September 11.

The bride, who has been a frequent visitor in Portland, attended Ward-Belmont school in Tennessee and later was a student at the University of Oregon, which school Mr. Judd also attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Judd will go to Pendleton to attend the wedding ceremony, which will be followed by a smart reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. R. C. Coffey was hostess for a luncheon of 14 covers at the University club today honoring her house guests, Mrs. John C. Munro and Miss Alice Munro of Boston, who have been at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Coffey for some time. Other guests who shared honors with Mrs. Munro and her daughter were Mrs. Franklin H. Martin of Chicago and Mrs. John Osborn Oloak of Brooklyn, who are in the city on their husbands during the convention of the Portland unit of the American College of Surgeons.

The many Portland friends of Dr. and Mrs. Clarence True Wilson and baby daughter, Mary Elizabeth, will be interested to know that they sailed last Saturday for London, where Dr. Wilson will attend and be one of the speakers at the Ecumenical conference to be held in that city. They will visit Paris and the battlefields of France before returning to the United States. Dr. and Mrs. Wilson still call Portland their home although they are compelled to spend most of their time in Washington, D. C.

Miss Eleanor Anstey and Miss Dorothy Franklin were hostesses for a delightful lawn party last Wednesday evening. Dancing furnished diversion for the occasion, and guests included about 40 of the school set. Miss Anstey and her brothers, Jack and Edwin, gave a number of selections, piano, saxophone and violin. Miss Franklin gave a special dance number. The gardens were decorated with Japanese lanterns and colored lights for the affair.

Mrs. Harriet Enna-King, a sister of A. Enna and Dr. Emil Enna of this city, arrived here a few days ago from the East on a visit. Mrs. Enna-King will spend the winter in Portland as the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. Enna, at their home, 768 Johnson street.

Miss Joy Aydelott is to be married to Clyde Robbins of Dallas September 14. The affair is to be celebrated at the Forest Grove Christian church and will occur at 2:30 in the afternoon. Miss Aydelott is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Aydelott of this city and she was a student at the Eugene Bible college last year.

Miss Bernice M. Nielsen whose marriage to Dr. Thomas Chambers Bailey will take place early in September, will be the guest of honor at an informal tea for which Mrs. John Mortimer Bruhn will be hostess at her home in Irvington Tuesday.

The engagement of Miss Helen Elmsinger of St. Paul to Mr. Harry S. Haas of St. Louis is announced. Miss Elmsinger is a sister of Mrs. Julius C. Lang of Seattle and is well known in both Portland and Seattle.

Mrs. Lenora Corder, accompanied by her daughter, Florence, and son, Lewis, have returned to their home at Mount Rainier, Idaho, after a two weeks' visit at the home of Mrs. Corder's brother, H. C. Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Cheney were hosts for a dancing party at their home in Westmoreland Saturday evening, honoring Miss Charlotte Mercer of Berkeley, Cal., who is their house guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Crouch, Mr. and Mrs. James R. McCracken, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Harrington and Mr. and Mrs. John D. Wilcox have been guests of Mrs. Rose Couden-Reed the past week at Ecota.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles C. Patherman and their cousins, Laura and Edward Drake, have returned from a most enjoyable vacation spent at Lake Lytle hotel near Rockaway.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Morrison have been spending a few days at Seaview as guests of Mrs. Morrison's mother, Mrs. David H. Dunbar of Seattle, who is spending the summer there.

Mrs. W. M. Kapus left the city Thursday for Pasadena, Cal., to be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Frank Dodge. She expects to return to Portland about October 1.

Mrs. Nellie Glutich and her daughter, Miss Gertrude Druck Glutich, who recently returned from a motor trip to California, are spending a few days at Seaview, Wash.

Mrs. R. P. Seeley of Los Angeles, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. John V. C. Fox, left the city Saturday for her home in the South.

Mrs. Henry E. Judd returned last week from a visit of several days at Oceanview, where she was the guest of Mrs. James D. Hart.

Miss Louise Hall is the guest of her mother, Mrs. E. W. Youso. She arrived last week from Seattle.

Italian Building
Association Will Construct Temple

Organization of a building association among members of the various Italian societies of Portland was effected at a meeting attended by more than 200 representatives Sunday afternoon. The new organization proposes to erect a temple as a center for Italian social and intellectual development. The temple will be built on a 30x100 foot site recently purchased by the Italian federation at the southeast corner of Fourth and Madison streets.

Officers elected at the meeting Sunday were: David Penni, president; J. Tusi, first vice president; Mrs. V. Bloncone, second vice president; G. Stasi, treasurer; A. Garbarino, assistant treasurer; D. Binando, secretary; L. Gino, assistant secretary; G. Cordano, O. Colistro, G. Passaro, U. Carghino, E. Bonfanti, M. Carnes, N. Cozzano and E. Para. Chini, directors; G. Spinali, F. Jachef and E. Marchi, auditors.

DRESS

No. 6220

EMB. 506

No. 6221

Chic Afternoon Frocks

Talented for chic, attained without apparent effort, with which the French seem to be born, and which we frequently imitate, may be charmingly simulated by the use of a frock of the type illustrated at the left is the medium. The graceful blouse has the surprise closing line which is so universally becoming and which complements the wide sleeve of the present mode. Extravagantly long sash panels and a crushed girdle may repeat the color of the chemise, which is worked in decorative spots to add distinction. The frock at the right is also distinctly Parisian, with its oval neckline, free armhole and mandarin collar as outstanding features of a rather long, scalloped blouse, which is attached to the interesting skirt by means of narrow panels looped under at the lower edge, culotte fashion. In this case, the sleeves may be elbow length and finished with scalloped. (Copyright, 1921, by The Vogue Co., New York)

Geo. W. Bloomhardt,
Pioneer South Bend
Citizen, Is Honored

South Bend, Wash., Aug. 29.—Citizens who had lived here at least 30 years gathered Friday night for a dinner in honor of George W. Bloomhardt of Menlo, on the thirty-first anniversary of his election to the first town council of South Bend, of which he is the only surviving member. Superior Judge Hewen, city clerk at the time, Ray Nettleton, E. Robinson, J. G. Heim, George H. Peters, C. P. Clyde, Charles A. Worley, Mayor Coulter, F. A. Hazeltine, Andrew Gjersten and Eli Rockey were present. E. M. Connor was a guest.

Interesting tales were told of the days before South Bend had a railroad and when saloon keepers and gamblers were admitted to the best society. George U. Holcomb was the first mayor, defeating the late Captain A. T. Stream, who later was a member of the legislature.

Tenants Advised to Resist Rent Hogs

Boston, Mass., Aug. 29.—"Refuse to permit any hold-up."

This was the warning to householders, spread broadcast by the state commission on the necessities of life today after it was learned that hundreds of landlords plan rent increases next month.

Replacements costs have dropped 40 per cent, the commission pointed out, and rent increases are not justified.

IMPROVE SEWER SYSTEM

Lebanon, Aug. 29.—The city council at its last meeting provided means for cutting a direct channel from the outlet of the city's sewer system on Mark's slough to the river. When this work is completed provision will be made for flushing the channel with water taken from the canal above the dam. The Wilmette Pulp Paper company, which also uses this slough for the disposal of its refuse, will assist the city in keeping the channel clear.

BUDGET COMMITTEE NAMED

Lebanon, Aug. 29.—Under the new state budget law six taxpayers were appointed at the city council meeting Friday night to act with the council as a budget committee. Those appointed were: Thad Sterling, E. F. Guy, A. I. Crandall, W. E. Bohle, J. V. Cramer and D. A. Reeves. The new budget committee will prepare and file estimates of proposed expenditures and probable receipts from all sources of revenue.

PORTLAND MAN GETS LICENSE

Albany, Ore., Aug. 29.—Dr. H. R. Dewey, Portland chiropractor, and Miss Sylvia Lee of Brownsville, were issued a marriage license at the Linn county courthouse. They plan to be married while on a hunting trip and outing.

SHELBURN BOY INJURED

Albany, Ore., Aug. 29.—George Coombs, 6 years old, nephew of C. V. Ashbaugh, Southern Pacific agent at Shelburn, is suffering from a compound fracture of the leg as a result of being pinned beneath a motorcycle at Shelburn. The boy was taken to the Scio hospital.

SUMMER SESSION TO CLOSE

University of Washington, Seattle, Aug. 29.—The summer quarter of the University of Washington closes Tuesday, the most successful in the history of the university, approximately 3000 students having attended.

SCHOOL TEACHERS NAMED

Dee, Aug. 29.—Mrs. Don J. Yeck and Mrs. R. A. Terry will be the teachers in the public school, which opens September 1.

Stage.. Screen.. Society.. Clubs

De Maria Five
Wins Hand
At Hipp.

By F. H. McEn.

THE billing for the Hippodrome show this week says that the De Maria Five are the headliners and, after seeing the show and hearing the reception that was accorded them Sunday night, there is no disputing the fact that they are really headliners. Their setting and costumes are a little out of the ordinary in that they are fresh. The drop looks as though it had just come from the studio.

The De Maria Five present a Neapolitan act in which the singing of three of the principals is the main feature and the accordion and flute playing of two others runs a close second. The singing of the two men and a woman is really worth while.

The opening act is the Flying Howards, whose work on the rings and flying trapezes is better than that found in most opening acts of its kind. The fact is that too many such acts, of a mediocre nature, have been seen recently and that has militated against a good act, such as this, getting its due. The Flying Howards, however, are entitled to more appreciation than was given them on Sunday night. This could probably be corrected by changing their place on the bill.

Irene Zolar and Billy Know have a fair act in which Miss Zolar does a bit when such a frock as the one illustrated at the left is the medium. The graceful dancer is really very attractive, and the support of her partner on the piano is worthy of mention.

Tris and Harvey Speck, in "Pause, Gaze and Harken," have a novelty that is foolishness from beginning to end, but the kind of foolishness that most people like. Laughs and more laughs are the contribution of Ward and Wilson. Working from the stage and the front row of the theatre, these two get a laugh with every gag they pull.

Alice Lake, in "Over the Wire," furnishes the motion picture end of the program. There is nothing in the play that requires any heavy work on the part of the star, but the story sustains the interest to the end.

The Sunday program will be continued through Wednesday.

J. A. Montpelier Is Returned to Face
Fraud Indictments

Deputy District Attorney Graham returned from Green River, Wyo., this morning, bringing J. A. Montpelier, arrested there under a secret indictment of the Multnomah county grand jury charging bad check operations. Since Graham left for the East, a second indictment was found against Montpelier, charging larceny by bailee of an automobile belonging to S. D. Dove.

Several check manipulations are alleged in Montpelier's case, among them being a check for $15 in which the Bank of Green River was cashed and one for $10 cashed by Stellas Pappatonia.

Portland Court of the Rose, Junior Macabers, will have a banquet and outing Tuesday afternoon at Peninsula park.

Thursday night at Greaham many Masons of Portland will be present to assist in the work of conferring the degree of Master Mason upon a well known electrical worker. The work will be given by a special team of employees of the Portland Railway Light & Power company and the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company. Other prominent members of the fraternity who are friends of the candidate will be present.

The tank and baths of the Knights of Columbus at the K. of C. club house, Park and Taylor street, are open to boys on Saturdays from 10 a. m. to 12 noon, and to girls from 12:30 to 2:30 p. m. Wednesday evenings, beginning at 8 o'clock, a social swim is held. Thursday evenings men are instructed in swimming. Friday afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock is reserved for ladies and small children. Friday evening from 8 to 10 o'clock is for ladies.

Kirkpatrick council, Security Benefit association, kept Crystal Lake park Sunday a busy and enjoyable place. From 10 a. m. to 12 p. m. there was something doing every minute. The swimming tank was well patronized by men and women, boys and girls. The baseball matches attracted a large crowd of fans. At noon the tables were well occupied with family and party picnic. Of course the pavilion was a busy place. Over 1000 people were admitted.

German Methodist Church Ministers
Selected by Bishop

The seventeenth annual session of the German Methodist Episcopal churches of Oregon and Washington closed at First German Methodist church, Fifteenth and Hoyt streets, when Bishop W. G. Shepard, president of the conference, read the appointments of ministers for the ensuing year. The assignments follow: Oregon District—(A. J. Weigle, superintendent)—Bethany and Yamhill, G. J. Kleinbusch; Clatsop to be supplied by J. Weigle; Metolius, G. A. Maag; Newberg, J. P. Sehnert; Oak Grove and Logans, A. Beck; Portland First church, E. D. Hertler; Portland Rodney avenue, F. A. Schumann; Ridgeville, W. L. Woche; Salem, G. S. Wiedner; Willamina, to be supplied by F. H. Lucke. Washington District—(A. F. Hilmer, superintendent)—Connell and Paradise, E. J. Tragilo; Edwadi, to be supplied by Hilmer; Moscow, Ida., to be supplied by Hilmer; Moscow, Ida., to be supplied by Hilmer; H. B. Mann; Rocklyn and Davaport, F. Cramer; Rosalia, C. A. Wentsch; Seattle, to be supplied; Spokane, H. F. Lange; Walla Walla, J. C. Mendenhall; John Beethorn, member of the quarterly conference, left without appointment to attend school.

Women's Clubs

Woodstock W. C. T. U. will have an all day meeting from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. E. R. Body, 5721 Sixtieth avenue southeast.

SORORITY CONVENTION OPENS

University of Washington, Seattle, Aug. 29.—Delegates are arriving here from all parts of the country to attend the national convention of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, first national sorority convention ever held in the Northwest. The convention will last until September 2.

WHO
HAT?
HERE?

ROAD SHOWS

BAKER—Dak. Season opens September 4. VAUDEVILLE

ORPHEUM—Dak. Season opens September 11. PANTAGES—Broadway at Alder. High-class vaudeville and photographic features. Afternoon and evening. Program changes Monday afternoon.

LOWE'S HIPPODROME—Broadway at Yamhill. Direction Ackerman & Harris. Vaudeville. Afternoon and evening.

PHOTOPLAYS

COLUMBIA—Sixth at Stark. Gloria Swanson in "The Great Moment." 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

LIBERTY—Broadway at Stark. Jewel Corman in "Nobody." 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

RIVOLI—Washington at Park. Babe Daniels in "One Wild Week." 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

MAJESTIC—Broadway at Park. Harold Lloyd in "I Do." 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

PEOPLES—Aber at Alder. Eugene O'Brien in "Gilded Lies." 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

STAB—Washington at Park. "If Women Only Knew." 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

GIRGLE—Fourth near Washington. "The Woman in Charge." 9 a. m. to 4 o'clock the following morning.

AMUSEMENT PARK—Paradise Police company's last performance. Afternoon at 2 o'clock and evening at 9 o'clock. Skating, concessions.

PEOPLES

Scenes are shifted from the snow-bound north in Canada to balmy Palm Beach in Florida in "Gilded Lies," in which Eugene O'Brien is featured at the Peoples. O'Brien plays the part of Keene McComb, an explorer who is reported dead after being lost on an expedition in the frozen north. His fiancée, played by Martha Mansfield, is persuaded by her coarse and brutal husband to marry him, and she is convinced that her lover is dead. The young explorer is saved and returns home to find his sweetheart married. His sympathy is aroused when he discovers that she was forced into the marriage and is very unhappy and mistreated by her coarse and brutal husband. After both have suffered the picture ends happily. The happy ending consists in a fight on a cliff which results when the villain, quitting and trying to escape, falls to his doom, leaving the hero and heroine to work out destiny's decree. There are many opportunities for splendid acting by O'Brien, ably aided by Miss Mansfield. A Paramount cartoon, a travel picture of life in Africa, the Kingmans and the Peoples theatre orchestra are the rest of a satisfactory bill.

Auto Theft Foiled;
2 Frightened Away

Mosier, Aug. 29.—An attempted theft of the automobile of E. F. Middlewar was thwarted here when I. M. Wilson discovered two men rolling the car onto the highway. Seeing that they had been discovered the would-be thieves ran away, leaving two coats as they ran. From these garments, it was found, had been stolen from two Mosier men. The thieves were followed into the timber, where they disappeared.

TOPICS FOR MUSICIANS

A full report on the musical affairs of the city and state is a feature of The Sunday Journal. Authoritative information, interestingly written, characterizing the big music scene—news columns wherein musicians and music lovers may keep in close touch with matters of timely interest.

BURGESSE
BEDTIME STORIES

Stripped Chipmunk's Philosophy

By Thornton W. Burgess

The secret of true happiness is to be found in the heart. It is not in the things of the world, but in the things of the heart. It is not in the things of the world, but in the things of the heart. It is not in the things of the world, but in the things of the heart.

PHIL-OSO-PHY seems like a big word to be connected with such a little fellow as Striped Chipmunk, but if you divide it and say it slowly it doesn't seem so big. And Striped Chipmunk would tell you that to him its meaning is quite simple. It means the way of getting the most out of life and all the best things out of life.

When he told Peter Rabbit that one of the reasons he was so happy that morning was because he was going to be busy working all day, Peter fairly snorted. "Huh!" said he, "that isn't a reason for being happy."

"Oh, yes it is," retorted Striped Chipmunk. "There isn't any true happiness, if not the best reason, I've got for being happy this morning. I couldn't be idle all day long and be truly happy. Now, could I?"

Peter scratched a long ear with a long hind foot. Then he scratched the other long ear with the other long hind foot. "Well," said he slowly, "I could. If I were in your place I couldn't be happy knowing I had a lot of work to do."

You see Peter was honest. Striped Chipmunk laughed right out. "You old laxybones!" cried he. "I believe you really mean that."

Peter nodded. "I most certainly do," said he. "I hate work."

"Fie, Peter! Fie," cried Striped Chipmunk. "There isn't any true happiness in all the Great World like that of keeping busy at something useful. It is the idle who are most often unhappy. I don't have time to be."

"Huh!" exclaimed Peter. "Huh! You can work yourself to death if you want to. I don't believe in it."

"You don't need tell me that," chuckled Striped Chipmunk. "Everybody knows it. I don't know anybody who can run away from work as fast as you can. And I don't know anybody who can get in trouble as often or as easily as you can. Old Man Trouble seldom bothers busy people, but idleness is his delight and he always makes the most of it."

"Poo!" said Peter. "And people caught by Old Man Trouble are seldom happy," added Striped Chipmunk.

"Poo!" said Peter again. "What is more," continued Striped Chipmunk, "idle people seldom are happy even when free from Old Man Trouble. Now don't you dare say 'poo' to that, Peter Rabbit."

Peter didn't. Instead he wanted to know why Striped Chipmunk should start a storehouse for winter in the middle of summer. You know Striped Chipmunk had said that that was the work he must do that very morning. "Time enough to think of winter when winter is somewhere near. It comes soon enough without thinking about it on a beautiful summer day like this. That is what I call foolishness," said Peter.

"Did you have hard work getting enough to eat any time last winter?" asked Striped Chipmunk as if to change the subject.

"I should say I did!" exclaimed Peter. "I didn't," chuckled Striped Chipmunk, "and I won't have next winter. That is why I shall begin that storehouse this morning and why I shall be happy building it. Now, I've talked long enough. Come see me often, Peter." With a whisk of his flat little tail Striped Chipmunk disappeared between the stones of the old wall.

(Copyright, 1921, by T. W. Burgess)

"You old laxy bones!" cried he. "I really believe you really mean that."

middle of summer. You know Striped Chipmunk had said that that was the work he must do that very morning. "Time enough to think of winter when winter is somewhere near. It comes soon enough without thinking about it on a beautiful summer day like this. That is what I call foolishness," said Peter.

"Did you have hard work getting enough to eat any time last winter?" asked Striped Chipmunk as if to change the subject.

"I should say I did!" exclaimed Peter. "I didn't," chuckled Striped Chipmunk, "and I won't have next winter. That is why I shall begin that storehouse this morning and why I shall be happy building it. Now, I've talked long enough. Come see me often, Peter." With a whisk of his flat little tail Striped Chipmunk disappeared between the stones of the old wall.

(Copyright, 1921, by T. W. Burgess)

"You old laxy bones!" cried he. "I really believe you really mean that."

middle of summer. You know Striped Chipmunk had said that that was the work he must do that very morning. "Time enough to think of winter when winter is somewhere near. It comes soon enough without thinking about it on a beautiful summer day like this. That is what I call foolishness," said Peter.

"Did you have hard work getting enough to eat any time last winter?" asked Striped Chipmunk as if to change the subject.

"I should say I did!" exclaimed Peter. "I didn't," chuckled Striped Chipmunk, "and I won't have next winter. That is why I shall begin that storehouse this morning and why I shall be happy building it. Now, I've talked long enough. Come see me often, Peter." With a whisk of his flat little tail Striped Chipmunk disappeared between the stones of the old wall.

(Copyright, 1921, by T. W. Burgess)

"You old laxy bones!" cried he. "I really believe you really mean that."

middle of summer. You know Striped Chipmunk had said that that was the work he must do that very morning. "Time enough to think of winter when winter is somewhere near. It comes soon enough without thinking about it on a beautiful summer day like this. That is what I call foolishness," said Peter.

"Did you have hard work getting enough to eat any time last winter?" asked Striped Chipmunk as if to change the subject.

"I should say I did!" exclaimed Peter. "I didn't," chuckled Striped Chipmunk, "and I won't have next winter. That is why I shall begin that storehouse this morning and why I shall be happy building it. Now, I've talked long enough. Come see me often, Peter." With a whisk of his flat little tail Striped Chipmunk disappeared between the stones of the old wall.

(Copyright, 1921, by T. W. Burgess)

"You old laxy bones!" cried he. "I really believe you really mean that."

middle of summer. You know Striped Chipmunk had said that that was the work he must do that very morning. "Time enough to think of winter when winter is somewhere near. It comes soon enough without thinking about it on a beautiful summer day like this. That is what I call foolishness," said Peter.

"Did you have hard work getting enough to eat any time last winter?" asked Striped Chipmunk as if to change the subject.

"I should say I did!" exclaimed Peter. "I didn't," chuckled Striped Chipmunk, "and I won't have next winter. That is why I shall begin that storehouse this morning and why I shall be happy building it. Now, I've talked long enough. Come see me often, Peter." With a whisk of his flat little tail Striped Chipmunk disappeared between the stones of the old wall.

(Copyright, 1921, by T. W. Burgess)

"You old laxy bones!" cried he. "I really believe you really mean that."

middle of summer. You know Striped Chipmunk had said that that was the work he must do that very morning. "Time enough to think of winter when winter is somewhere near. It comes soon enough without thinking about it on a beautiful summer day like this. That is what I call foolishness," said Peter.

"Did you have hard work getting enough to eat any time last winter?" asked Striped Chipmunk as if to change the subject.

"I should say I did!" exclaimed Peter. "I didn't," chuckled Striped Chipmunk, "and I won't have next winter. That is why I shall begin that storehouse this morning and why I shall be happy building it. Now, I've talked long enough. Come see me often, Peter." With a whisk of his flat little tail Striped Chipmunk disappeared between the stones of the old wall.

(Copyright, 1921, by T. W. Burgess)

"You old laxy bones!" cried he. "I really believe you really mean that."

middle of summer. You know Striped Chipmunk had said that that was the work he must do that very morning. "Time enough to think of winter when winter is somewhere near. It comes soon enough without thinking about it on a beautiful summer day like this. That is what I call foolishness," said Peter.

"Did you have hard work getting enough to eat any time last winter?" asked Striped Chipmunk as if to change the subject.

"I should say I did!" exclaimed Peter. "I didn't," chuckled Striped Chipmunk, "and I won't have next winter. That is why I shall begin that storehouse this morning and why I shall be happy building it. Now, I've talked long enough. Come see me often, Peter." With a whisk of his flat little tail Striped Chipmunk disappeared between the stones of the old wall.

Adventists Consider
Moving to Spokane

Walla Walla, Wash., Aug. 29.—Churches of the Upper Columbia conference of Seventh Day Adventists, which for almost 40 years have had their headquarters at College Place, are considering a move to Spokane. Definite action will be taken on the plan on September 6, when the vote of the conference, which is being taken, will be made known. Officials of the conference have secured options on property in Spokane. Division of the conference has made Spokane more nearly the central location. Five Oregon counties are included in the conference.

CHURCH MEMBERS PICNIC

Forest Grove, Aug. 29.—About 120 members of the Emanuel Evangelical German Lutheran church of Cornelius combined their Sunday service with a picnic Sunday at Rippling Waters, a well known camping site near here. The Rev. J. H. Karpenstein, pastor, conducted a short service following the dinner hour, speaking on the "Love of Nature." Games were provided for the children, and the older people sang folk songs.

HOT LAKE ARRIVALS

Hot Lake, Aug. 29.—Arrivals at Hot Lake sanatorium Friday were: Mrs. Elizabeth Lane, Cascade Locks; Mildred Martin, Spokane; Tom Baxter, Walla Walla; Alfred Bergstrom and John Bergstrom, Hagerman; Mr. James B. Baker Jr., Mesacham.

Arrivals Thursday were: Mrs. W. J. Maynard, Milton; Mrs. A. N. Schrader and A. F. Kees, Walla Walla, Wash.; W. J. Maynard, Milton; Leo Adler, Baker; S. P. Miller, Cove; Herbert Goldsmith, Portland; L. E. Freitag and C. H. Kiefer, Baker; George Adair, Pendleton; Henry Tapp, Portland.