

WHEN COOK GOES TO PREPARE FOOD PATRON TAKES $26

While J. Takida, restaurant proprietor at 291 First street, was in the kitchen Wednesday afternoon preparing his lone customer a meal, the customer took advantage of the situation and robbed the till of $25. Takida returned to the front room in time to see his customer fleeing out the door. Takida overtook him and managed to get $6 back, but he lost the robber.

The prisoner threw $6 on the pavement when Takida caught him, exclaiming, "There's your money, take it." Takida refused to let go of him, however, and the crowd which gathered appeared to sympathize with the white man, as no one made an effort to help Takida. At the melee the white man finally escaped.

LONG LIST OF ROBBERIES.

The long list of robberies which the police were called on this morning to investigate include the following:

Elvin Morrow, 913 1/2 Williams avenue, had overcoat stolen from his automobile, which was parked at Park and Morrison streets.

Alice Northill, 471 Washington street, reported purse stolen. Contained $7 cents and personal effects.

Some time during the evening some one entered the kitchen in Mrs. I. Calmon's boarding house at 193 North Seventeenth street and took a pocketbook containing $35 from her coat pocket.

While E. M. Nordstrom was absent from his home at 466 East Eleventh street, North, Wednesday, a burglar stole a $600 diamond ring from his bedroom.

Mrs. Sadie Davis, 509 Royal court, fared a little better than most of the people robbed Wednesday. The burglar who visited her apartments at 509 Royal court took $25 in currency and left $150 in currency and $7.50 in change behind. The janitor, C. A. Wheeler, heard a man dart down the rear stairs of the apartment as Mrs. Davis was returning to her room. He furnished the police with a description.

L. Elper reported that a tool house at 846 East Sixty-third street, North, had been robbed of its contents Tuesday night.

Back Wages Claims Collected for Many

Olympia, Wash., Sept. 22.—Claims for back wages totalling $5413.27 have been collected through the Seattle office of the division of industrial relations, according to the report submitted by Supervisor Younger to Director Clifford of the department of labor and industries. Forty-nine, amounting to $2898.41 are pending and 10 were not settled. Collections for the Spokane office totalled $1939.31 in 33 claims, leaving six cases pending and seven not settled. The Tacoma office did not report.

S. S. MEETING SCHEDULED

Quincy, Or., Sept. 22.—Representatives from 20 Sunday schools of Marion county, comprising the Hayesville district, will meet in quarterly convention at Wacanda, Sunday. An all day program has been prepared, with a basket dinner at noon.

Baby Strangles to Death in Stanchion In Idaho Cow Barn

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 22.—Jessie Clare Kuster, infant daughter of J. R. Kuster, a farmer living near Eagle, was accidentally killed Wednesday afternoon at play in a cow barn on the ranch. The child, who was 19 months old, was missed by the mother and soon after found in the barn, strangled in a stanchion. It is supposed that she was climbing about in the barn and slipped, catching by her head in the stanchion, where her feet could not reach the floor. All efforts to resuscitate her failed.
