COMMON LAW ARE DECLARED LEGA

A common law marriage is legal in this morning on a demurrer in the case of Fred C. Twigger against Martha I wigger, his stepmother, directly passed upon this question for the first time in the history of the state. Twigger was suing for a half interest three lots on Columbia heights, ming that his father, F. C. Twigger was not legally married to Marths Pwigger. According to the complaint Mrs. Twigger was divorced in Clackanas county on July 18, 1914, from A. J. Ward, and married Twigger in Steven son, Wash., before the end of the month ich as the six months fixed by the law had not elapsed between the ivorce and the marriage, the complaint ges that the marriage was not legal.

The couple returned to Oregon ately and lived together in Portland un-til Twigger's death last May. He died ut leaving a will. Mrs. Twigger's attorneys filed a de

Mrs. Twigger's attorneys filed a demurrer to the complaint, claiming that in living together in Oregon the couple became man and wife under the common law. Judge Stapleton agreed and threw the case out of court. His decision was based primarily upon a recent federal decision in Alaska, where the statutes are similar to those in Oregon. Judge Stapleton's decision is expected to have considerable bearing upon the suit of Mrs. Jeanne Descamps, who has gone to the courts in an effort to secure the $70,000 estate of Ernest Descure the $70,000 estate of Ernest Descured in the courts in an effort to secure the $70,000 estate of Ernest Descured in the courts in an effort to secure the $70,000 estate of Ernest Descured in the courts in an effort to secure the $70,000 estate of Ernest Descured in the courts in an effort to secure the $70,000 estate of Ernest Descured in the courts in an effort to secure the $70,000 estate of Ernest Descured in the courts in an effort to secure the $70,000 estate of Ernest Descured in the courts in an effort to secure the $70,000 estate of Ernest Descured in the courts in an effort to secure the $70,000 estate of Ernest Descured in the courts in an effort to secure the $70,000 estate of Ernest Descured in the courts in an effort to secure the $70,000 estate of Ernest Descured in the courts in the court cure the $70,000 estate of Ernest Descamps, prominent Portland Frenchman who disappeared last year and is sup-posed to have been murdered.

Mrs. Descamps was married by a fake priest and left Descamps when she found this out in 1916. She had lived with him for many years, however, and now claims to have been his common law wife. The other claimants to the Des-
