

ARMISTICE DAY MARCHERS TO BE OF MANY NATIONS

Horizon blue and campaign gray will flash along in a steady flow of olive drab on Portland's streets on Armistice day. The parade committee appointed by Mayor Baker announced Thursday that the parade will be headed by a composite battalion of soldiers of all the allied armies.

Yanks, Canadians, Aussies, Tommies, French, poilus, Italians and as many others as are, sojourning in Portland will march in war equipment behind the massed colors of their native countries. A number of features not presented before in Portland were decided upon at the meeting of the committee Wednesday night. The mobilization of the composite battalion will be in the hands of J. R. Strang and J. A. Nichols.

Brigadier General R. M. Blatchford gave the committee assurance that all troops that can be spared will be on hand from the regular army post at Vancouver. Five hundred men will cross the river, transportation being furnished by courtesy of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company. The regular army's contribution to the parade will include four line companies, three machine gun companies and 100 horses and mules.

BRIDGE TOLL ISSUE

An effort will be made to have the county commissioners of Clark and Multnomah counties waive bridge tolls. In addition to the participation of regular army troops, a rare occurrence in civil celebrations, the Oregon National Guard will be represented by 600 men, infantry, artillery and engineers.

The committee has taken steps to assure the presence of army airplanes from Camp Lewis.

A meeting of the general committee will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in room 312, Yeon building. W. A. Ekwall, chairman, will preside.

Own Shotgun Kills Mt. Angel Farmer

Salem, Oct. 21.—Alfred Bourbonnais, 27, a farmer residing in the Mount Angel district east of here was almost instantly killed shortly before noon Thursday when a shotgun which he was carrying was accidentally discharged, the charge entering his body, Bourbonnais, according to information received by Coroner Rigdon, was plowing in a field when he saw some geese. Picking up his shotgun he started after the game. In climbing a fence the gun was discharged. There will be no inquest.

RANCHER SUES FOR $100,000 DAMAGES

Klamath Falls, Or., Oct. 21.—Alleging that he had been "fraudulently, wrongfully and maliciously conspired against," to deprive him of a ranch and certain personal property, J. B. Mitchell, prominent stockman of this city, Thursday filed suit in the circuit court here for $100,000 damages against D. M. McLemore, the First State & Savings bank, and Marshall Hooper, vice president of the bank.

The suit grew out of proceedings brought in the United States district court, at Portland, when McLemore sought receivership for the property in question, which is located near Bly, the case being dismissed when a settlement was reached here.

Mitchell also alleges that the defend-

Driver of Car in Death Crash Fined

Mrs. R. E. Pinney, 606 East Fifty-fifth street, driver of the automobile that collided on September 28 with a motorcycle driven by B. Campbell at Fifty-fourth street and Sandy boulevard when the latter was so injured that he later died, was fined $50 by Judge Rossman in municipal court Thursday for reckless driving. According to witnesses Campbell had been speeding, while Mrs. Pinney was going about 18 miles an hour. In addition to the fine, Mrs. Pinney's driver's license was suspended for nine months.

A Seattle judge let a burglar off and advised him to get married. Was that clemency?

If you had been either of these women

could you have forgiven him?

If you had staked all you had—your youth, your fortune, your life's happiness, as Mimi Warren did, on one man's devotion—could you have forgiven him when he turned to another woman?

If you had been beautiful mysterious Lucretia Lombard, and had known all the misery an unhappy marriage could hold—would you have been able to give up the man you loved?

In the most enthralling story Kathleen Norris has ever written, she gives you, with unmatched skill, the story of a man whom two women loved.

You feel yourself carried along in their sudden rush of feeling for each other. You feel yourself drawn with them into an unescapable dilemma of love and pity. You hang breathless as the fate, first of one woman, then of the other, trembles in the balance.

Don't fail to begin this wonderful novel in Pictorial Review for November.
