By Testbrook Pegler

United News Staff Correspondent. New York, Nov. 2.—Thirty-two New Tork fat women, weighing 3½ tons, are in the third week of a struggle for revision downward, able to lace their own boots of a morning for the first time in years, and all very much obliged to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, city health com-missioner, who reduced the squad by some 600 pounds without resort to am-putation. These are fat women, too fat for too many years to fool themselves or be fooled with such words as "plump,"

To enter Dr. Copeland's class when the recruits were being selected three weeks ago they had to prove themselves fatter and fitter than many other fat women, because the health commis-sioner was picking only the fattest for his diass, and the only requirement in addition to colossal displacement was the physical ability to stand the strain of reducing. Heart trouble and other form of internal dilapidation, incipient or aggravated, caused the disqualifi-cation of a number of married women wh swould have been splendid recruits in better beath.

But the shrinkage of his fat women after more than two weeks of work and dicting is no surprise to the commis-sioner. That's what he had in mind when he started the class. What has amazed the good doctor is the discovery that a large proportion of all women are either too fat or too thin. The fats, by the way, have it by a large, not to say ponderous, majority.

The sylph-like bride of say three years ago detects a coldness in her husband's manner and puts it down to the fact that his arm requires two grabs to enrirdle her waist-the same arm that used to make the course in one with room to spare. Dr. Copeland will find stamped. addressed envelope inclosed, wherein he will please send her by return mail his recipe for restoring her high school form, for which, thanks very much to the advance from this very truly, distracted

An unmarried girl in her twentles but flirting with 30 and disengaged believes the young gentleman on the floor below might take her to the gopher social and athletic club's grand box party and ball some Saturday if she could train down to say P45 from 175.

Calory counting is no fad. The let-ters that Doctor Copeland is receiving from net only New York but from Atlanta, from Ohio cities, from the West and the Southwest and New England show that fat is a mental scourge to women, who want to be fashionable and retain their youth, and a constant trial to the very fat women who has kissed romance a conditional farewell and first of all wants to become comfortable once Diet and exercise are the Copeland prescription that has brought down his class of fat women on an average of almost 20 pounds. In the next two weeks he expects them to lose almost as much more, each woman in propor-tion, and those who have lost most when he experiment is over will be entertained at the big public health exposition here beginning November 14, testify regarding the test.

Thin women have their troubles, the abnormally thin person usually may discover some specific cause for the condition whereas the fats just get fat with no apparent cause. Anyway, the fats have it by a vast tonnage and thousands of New York women are following the diet and taking the exercises which together have done so much for Commissioner Copeland's class of hopeful heavyweights.

STRENUOUS CLASS U. of O. Students Win Extra Thanksgiving Leave by Petition

University of Oregon, Eugene, Nov. 3. The Friday after Thanksgiving will be a holiday for students of the University of Oregon, according to action taken by the faculty Wednesday night, largely as the result of a campaign conducted by Oregon Emerald, student publica-

Last spring the faculty ruled that only one day would be allowed. Several weeks ago a campaign was launched on the campus to have the ruling changed. As a result 1000 students, most of whom were non-residents of Eugene, signed a petition asking for the extra day, upon the grounds that the limiting of the vacation to one day would prevent many students from going home. This peti-tion was presented by Norton Winnard, vice-president of the student body, and Helen Carson, secretary.
