

Thousands of Delegates From 33 States to Attend; Visitors to Be Shown State and Its Wealth

With delegates from 33 states and several thousand grangers from , every section of the nation expected to be in attendance, the fifty-fifth annual sesion of the National Grange will open in Portland November 16 for a program of 10 days.

Arrangements were completed las week for the convention sessions, reception and entertainment. Through coop eration of the Chamber of Commerce with C. E. Spence, master of the Oregon State grange, the entertainment is being planned so the visitors will be enabled see as much of the state and its products as possible during their 10day visit.

This will be the second time Portland has had the national convention of the grange and the fifth time the organimation has met on the coast in the 55 years of its existence.

O. H. Kelley, a Minnesota farmer and one of the early employes of the department of agriculture, was the father of the idea which resulted in the organization of the National Grange. The first formal meeting of the founders of the organization was held November 15, 1867, and the National Grange was organized December 4 of the same year. 16,000 IN NORTHWEST

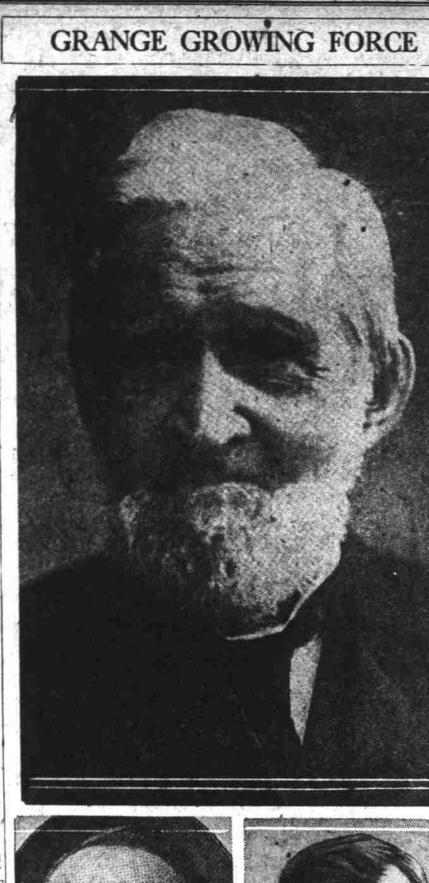

Since then the organization has expanded until branches are located in every state and in Canada. The membership is estimated at 900,000, of which number 36,000 Grangers are located in the Northwestern states.

The sessions will be held in the Multnomah hotel and during the first four days of the convention a complete land products show will be held in the basement of The Auditorium under the auspices of the Oregon and Washington Grange organizations. This convention will provide the opportunity for many members of the National Grange to take the fifth, sixth, and seventh degrees. For the seventh degree or the Assembly of Demeter, more than 1000 Grangers from the Northwest are expected to attend. The fifth and sixth degree work will be given on the afternoon of November 17 in the Turn Verein hall and the seventh degree work will be taken in The Auditorium the same night.

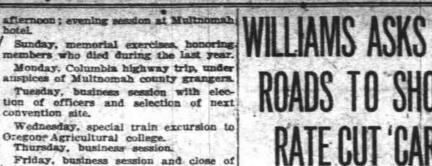

Some important matters will come up for consideration at the sessions, including the matter of the suspension of William Bouck, master of the Washington State grange, by the national master, which will come up for approval, and the election of officers.

NEW YORKER SLATED

It is the consensus of opinion that S. J. Lowell, Fredonia, N. Y., will be reelected master of the National grange. Every one of the granges of Oregon and Washington are co-operating to entertain the visitors during their visit. Trips are being planned to numerous sections of the Northwest. T. J. Krueder, chairman of the committee on fruits and refreshments, is planning to have the delegates supplied each day with fruits furnished by the grangers of the state. Lincoln county, through the in-itiative of the Pomona grange, is planonvention. The delegates to the national grange sessions include the master of each state grange and his wife. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Spence will represent Oregon, an honor which they have held since May, 1910, Mr. and Mrs. Barton Needham, delegates from Kansas, are expected to pull for the selection of their state for Alleged Failure to Keep Promises Scored by Chairman Williams of State Public Service Body.

Salem, Nov. 5.-Questioning the good state will give. It is not expected that faith of the railroads in the off-repeated announcements of rate reductions, which never yet have materialized, Fred A. Williams, chairman of the Oregon public service commission, in a letter addressed to the various roads operating in Oregon, today calls upon them to "back up their recent announcements of good intentions by actual reductions on the substantial commodities affecting this territory." Williams' letter demands that in further proof of their good intentions, the railroads "lay before the shipping public the full manner and extent to which such proposals will remove the blanket percentage increases added during the past two or three years." REDUCTIONS ASKED

"It would be pleasing as an evi-dence of good faith that you, of your own initiative, take the 70 heaviest moving commodities, both state and interstate, and, by the same process as you added horizontal increases at a single stroke, apply corresponding reductions," Williams declares in putting the matter squarely up to the carriers to make good on their oft-repeated and widelyheralded promises of rate reductions Calling attention to the fact that general increases in rates applied during the war were uniformly applied coun-
