

EAST IS ALARMED BY WESTERN DAIRY MEN, SAYS LOWDEN

"The East is becoming alarmed over the prestige being gained by Western dairy men," declared ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, who addressed 3500 cattlemen and visitors Tuesday afternoon at the Pacific International Live-stock exposition. Mr. Lowden said he spoke knowingly on this subject, being president of the National Holstein-Friesian association.

"The reason the West is gaining this prestige," he continued, "is because you have year-round pasture here."

He urged the dairymen of the West to cooperate and suggested that they study the cooperative plan of the Holland dairymen, which he investigated recently while traveling in Europe. Mr. Lowden urged the farmers to make their farms self-supporting, stating that no nation is safe which cannot support itself.

Ownership of homes, ranches and cattle, rather than being tenants, was also suggested by the distinguished visitor, who said:

"The perpetuity of a nation is measured by the number of men who own homes and occupy them. No matter how small the farm, even if its only large enough so that its owner may lie in the autumn sunshine, it will compel an emotion of patriotism and love of country that never can come to the denizen of the city."

The farm, the speaker declared, is the greatest weapon against Bolshevism which America possesses today.

Mr. Lowden was introduced by Governor Ben W. Scott, who was introduced by Governor L. E. Hart of Washington, who was introduced by F. S. Silmsion, president of the exposition, who in turn was introduced by Mayor George L. Baker.

All of the speakers showered praises upon Mr. Lowden and the work he did while governor of Illinois, and in doing so as president of the National Holstein association.

Mr. Lowden and 25 other Middle Western and Eastern Holstein breeders arrived Tuesday to attend the exposition.

Medicinal Beer Fountain to Dry Up in Ten Days

Washington, Nov. 9.—Medicinal beer will flow freely for the next ten days. After that comes the drought. Treasury officials announced today that enactment of the anti beer bill upon which the senate had agreed to vote on November 18, automatically voids the beer regulations. This means that the four breweries recently licensed to make medicinal beer must again close their doors. Passage of the bill is virtually certain.

While chrysanthemums are being featured at the show, there will be other varieties of the floral kingdom on display, including prize orchids, roses, amaryllis and carnations. A special musical program is being given today in connection with the show.

Thursday will be Civic club day and the show will be open to the public from 2 p. m. until 10 p. m. Friday the show will be held in honor of disabled soldiers and a special dinner will be held at 6 o'clock. The principal speaker will be ex-Governor Lowden of Illinois, who said:

Portland Reminds Melbourne Man of His Own Home City

Australia and the Pacific coast are similar, J. J. Walters, consulting engineer of Melbourne, who is making an extended trip around the world, stated this morning. Walters arrived in Portland Tuesday and is being shown the various points of interest in the city by O. Laurgaard, city engineer.

"I am struck by the similarity of Portland and my home town, Melbourne," he said. "In fact, the entire western half of America is very much like Australia, both in climate and characteristics of the people. They believe in progress and are building sound communities."

"Portland, like Melbourne, seems to be developing so there will be a center of business with homes, not tenements in the surrounding suburbs."

Walters will leave tonight for Seattle and will sail for Japan Sunday. He expects to return to Australia about the first of the year.

Displays Installed For Chrysanthemum Show Opening Today

Exhibitors were busy today making final arrangement of prize floral displays for the Chrysanthemum show which was scheduled to open at 3 o'clock this afternoon with a reception and tea for 150 patronesses and wives of members of the Chamber of Commerce. The show will continue Thursday and Friday and is being held in the green-room of the chamber.

The exhibitors who made entries during the morning were: Martin & Forbes, Clark Brothers, Smith's Flower shop, Chappelle's Flower shop, Niklas & Son; Tonseth Floral company, Wilson, Grout & Gehr, Fred M. Young, Sweetland Floral shop, Holden Floral company, O. E. Anderson, Nippon, Joe Kloida, Swiss Floral company, Robinson Floral company, Vag Kirk Carnation company, Henry Kahn and S. C.

CITY TAX BUDGET REVIEW IS DUE TO OPEN THURSDAY

The city fathers will step upon the in-quisitorial carpet of the tax supervising and conservation commission Thursday afternoon when that tax body has its public hearing of the city budget. It having completed its investigations of the county budget last week. Today the commissioners are engaged in a round table discussion of the city budget in order to familiarize themselves with its varied provisions preparatory to asking for information on those points which they wish to investigate particularly.

A tentative computation prepared by the tax body indicates that the tax levy for all governmental purposes in Multnomah county, exclusive of the state levy, for 1922 will be $2.18, or 2.69 mills lower than this year.

This estimate is based on budgets submitted, and does not take into consideration any future changes which may be required by the tax supervising and conservation commission, which changes if made, would reduce the levy.

The tentative figures as compiled by the commission are as follows:

County—General and road funds, tentative assessed valuation, $322,000,000; net levy, $1,833,743.80; net millage, 5.7; was 5.8 in 1921.

County—School fund, tentative assessed valuation, $322,000,000; net levy, $262,285; net millage, .81 mill; was .78 in 1921.

County—Library fund, tentative assessed valuation, $322,000,000; net levy, $262,285; net millage, .81 mill; was .78 in 1921.

Port of Portland, tentative assessed valuation, $314,000,000; net levy, $611,840.57; net millage, 1.95 mills; was 1.4 in 1921.

School district No. 1, tentative assessed valuation, $302,000,000; net levy, $2,019,104; net millage, 6.68 mills; was 9.80 in 1921.

City of Portland, tentative assessed valuation, $299,000,000; net levy, $3,905,130; net millage, 13.06 mills; was 13.14 in 1921.

Dock commission, tentative assessed valuation, $299,000,000; net levy, $601,466.13; net millage, 2.01 mills; was 2.06 in 1921.

Decreases in net millage are shown by the county general and road funds, school district No. 1, the city of Portland and the dock commission. Increased millage is shown by the county school fund, county library fund and Port of Portland.

Planned expenditures, disclosed by the budgets on file, amount to $14,258,322.07, leaving $4,279,797.57 to come from miscellaneous sources in addition to the $9,978,524.50 to be raised by tax levies.

Budgets give the planned expenditures of each of the various tax levying bodies as follows:

County, general and road funds, $2,480,743; county school, $635,710; county library, $262,285; city of Portland, including only those funds which are wholly or partly financed by taxation, $4,898,482; school district No. 1, $4,026,466; dock commission, $1,026,466; Port of Portland, $914,112.14.

England Is Prepared To Pay Interest Due, Says Sir Robt. Horne

London, Nov. 9.—(L. N. S.)—England is prepared to pay the 50,000,000 pounds due to the United States as the 1922 interest on her indebtedness, Sir Robert Horne, chancellor of the exchequer, declared in a speech before the house of commons today.

"We shall meet our obligations," Horne said. "Much harm is being done by discussing inter-allied debts. This discussion is not conducive to a friendly feeling between England and America."

Halloween Jokers Are Fined at Bend

Bend, Nov. 9.—Fred Shuey and Lee Wright, mill employes, pleaded guilty here Tuesday to charges of larceny for breaking into the high school building as a Halloween joke. They paid $25 fines. The original charge had been burglary. Chester Wright, one of the five students with Lee Wright and Shuey, agreed to pay $10 as a combination fine and reimbursement to the school board. The juvenile offenders were found not delinquent, being given only a reprimand.

U. S. Dry Agents May Use Police Evidence, Federal Court Says

Federal officers commit no violation of an individual's rights when they use as evidence information obtained by the police, Federal Judge Bean ruled this morning in a case involving John Remac, Michael Zarkavich and Antone Koumich, who were arrested on the street with a suitcase of liquor, by a policeman without a search warrant.

Whereupon, the three men who had appealed to the court for the return of their liquor, pleaded guilty to the violation of the national prohibition law and were fined, Remac $350 and the other two $500 each.

Judge Bean's ruling tightens up the law in regard to the man with liquor, for while a policeman who arrests a man on the street and finds liquor in his possession must release the man since he has no search warrant, nevertheless, the evidence can be used by federal officers who did not themselves search the suitcase, as evidence against the defendant.

Winifred Byrd, NOTED PIANIST, ARRIVES IN CITY

Winifred Byrd is in Portland and is registered at the Benson. She is here to appear in concert tonight at the Heilig theatre under the direction of the World Attraction company.

Miss Byrd is an Oregon girl whose piano playing has baffled adequate description by the music critics of the East, according to their own confessions. The late James Gibbons Huneker dubbed her the "Little Devil of the Keyboard"; others have written of her as "The Wizard of the Piano" or "The Little Giant of the Keyboard."

At any rate, this former Salem girl—for there she was born—is recognized as one of the greatest living pianists in the world—as much so as Jascha Heifetz in the violinistic field—and a worthy protegee of the famous Mme. Carreno, recorded as the world's foremost woman pianist.

Miss Byrd was Mme. Carreno's favorite pupil and she studied with her in Berlin, after having had extensive preliminary training under the best teachers in the East.

Her program tonight will include the Turkish march from "The Ruins of Athens" (Beethoven-Rubinstein) and by request, this work having been played here last year when she made her Pacific Northwest debut, in such a way that it will long stand as a standard of artistic achievement.

Miss Byrd makes her home in New York and this is her second trans-continental concert tour.

A brilliant reception will be given her tonight by her great many friends and admirers.

Fall Causes Woman To Bite Her Tongue

Corvallis, Nov. 9.—While walking on the back porch Saturday in the dark, Mrs. E. J. Dunn's foot caught in a chair and she was thrown to the ground, striking her chin with so much force that several teeth were loosened and driven through her tongue. The tongue was badly lacerated and several stitches were necessary. Mrs. Dunn resides with her mother, Mrs. J. M. Wilkinson.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

The old Woolen Mill at Brownsville, of which we are the sole owners, is closed down and will not be operated again until new machinery can be purchased and the plant entirely remodeled. We anticipate these improvements to be made during the next summer. In the meantime, the Pure Virgin Wool Cloth, which we manufacture into suits and sell in our own stores (eliminating the middlemen) is being especially woven for us by the following woolen mills:

THE THOS. KAY WOOLEN MILLS, Salem, Oregon
THE PENDLETON WOOLEN MILLS, at their mills in Washougal, Wash., and Eureka, Cal.
THE EUGENE WOOLEN MILLS, Eugene, Oregon

We have written Guarantees from all these mills, guaranteeing with us to stand behind the cloth bearing the Virgin Wool Label.
