Told Hobby Is Mental Aid

THAT recreation is a state of mind and that a hobby is a fine thing as means of recreating one's mind and interest in life, were statements made in an inspiring talk by Mabel Holmes Parsons, at the weekly luncheon of the Oregon Social Worker's association, held Wednesday at the Oregon hotel. Mrs. Parsons made a strong plea for recreation of some sort for everyone, business and professional men and women, also woman in the home, declaring that a real live interest in something out-side of one's means of livelihood is the only thing that keeps one in touch with life and out of a rut. Ralph McAfee presented a motion to the effect that the association ask the state board of control to put before the organization its arguments favorable to the proposed location of the boys' training school, a matter that has been before the social workers for several months. The motion was carried unanimously.

The president, Dr. Philip A. Parsons, announced the following press committee: Miss Theodora Schwankovsky, Mrs. Harriet H. Heller, Miss Mary Brownell and Miss Esther McCullough. Mrs. Saidie Orr Dunbar, chairman of the membership committee, announced that letter would be mailed this week to the executive head of each social ment in the association every member of their staffs.
