

MASSACHUSETTS LIFTS BIG PRIZES FOR AYRSHIRES

A herd of Ayshire cattle brought to the Pacific International Livestock exposition by the Alta-Crest Farms of Spencer, Mass., ran away with every grand champion ribbon early Thursday. The best position A. H. Tryon, an exhibitor from Fort, Chester, N. T., would give to the Western stock was first prize in an individual class.

The other Ayshire exhibitors, all Westerners, who were forced to surrender the purple ribbons to the Alta-Crest stock, are Washington State college, Pullman, Wash.; Eastern Stock Farm, Eagle Creek, Or.; E. W. Van Tassel, Wenatchee, Wash.; and Oregon Agricultural college, Corvallis.

Not only did the Alta-Crest Farm produce some wonderful animals, but it also brought forth the best herd in the judging ring, as it captured every first prize in the herd classes.

Complete awards in the Guernsey and Ayshire classes, which were announced this morning, follow:

Future Ministers To Form Society

Willamette University, Salem, Nov. 11.—Eighteen men met in the Salem city library Wednesday night to discuss the formation of a new society at Willamette. The society, if organized, will be composed of men who are contemplating entering the ministry. The general purpose of the homiletic organization would be to present and discuss matters of importance to the ministry and at the same time to develop a spirit of fellowship between those who are entering this line of work. This year's freshman class would contribute a large number, as there are 12 first-year men who are expecting to enter some phase of the ministry.

Failure to Lower Levy Is Condemned

Goldendale, Wash., Nov. 11.—Resolutions expressing disapproval of the action of the county commissioners of Klickitat county for failure to pay any attention to the request of a committee appointed by the Goldendale Commercial club, asking that a substantial reduction be made when fixing the levy for taxes this year, were passed by the Goldendale Commercial club. A reduction of $5,000 in the levy for the general road and bridge fund was asked. A small reduction was made.

47 School Districts Are Consolidated

Olympia, Wash., Nov. 11.—Consolidation in 47 school districts were effected in the state during the school year ended June 30, 1921, according to Mrs. Josephine Corliss Preston, state superintendent of public instruction, including: Clarke 1, Cowitz 2, Franklin 1, Grays Harbor 2, Lewis 4, Pierce 2, Stevens 1, Wahkiakum 2, Walla Walla 2, Whitman 5, Yakima 2.

SHEEP JUDGING IS COMPLETED, WINNERS NAMED

Judging of sheep at the Pacific International Livestock exposition was completed Thursday when the ribbons were pinned on the Lincolns, Romneys, Border Leicester and English Leicesters.

In the Border Leicester breed outside breeders took all the champion and first prize ribbons. Champion ram awarded to Walter Sporie Jr. of Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, and the champion ewe ribbon to the Corriedale Sheep company of Hollister, Cal.

The Corriedale Sheep company was the only exhibitor in the English Leicester class, so it was awarded all the prizes offered that breed, which total $500.

In the Lincoln and Romney breeds, William Riddell & Sons, of Monmouth, and John B. Stump & Sons, also of Monmouth, made a good showing. Riddell captured all the champion ribbons in both these classes.

Thursday's sheep awards follow:

LINCOLNS

Champion ram—To William Riddell & Sons, Monmouth, Or.; second, Riddell's 76-19; champion ewe to William Riddell & Sons, on Riddell's 76-20.

Flock prizes—William Riddell & Sons, Monmouth, first; John B. Stump & Sons, Monmouth, second; Archie C. Stewart, Lehigh, Alberta, Canada, third; J. G. S. Hubbard & Sons, Monroe, Or., fourth.

ROMNEYS

Get of sire—John B. Stump & Sons, first; Archie C. Stewart, second and third; William Riddell & Sons, second and third; Archie C. Stewart, fourth.

Produce of ewe—Archie C. Stewart, first and third; William Riddell & Sons, second.

ENGLISH LEICESTERS

Champion ram—To William Riddell Jr., Monmouth, Or.; on Riddell's 405-728; champion ewe to William Riddell Jr., on Riddell's 422-102.

William Riddell Jr. also captured all the first and second prizes in all classes, he being the only exhibitor.

SWINE BREEDERS' BANQUET SUCCESS

The annual banquet of the Western Royal Swine Breeders' association was held Wednesday evening, at the Kenwood hotel, Kenyon, with the president of the organization, G. O. Swales, presiding. Addresses were given by Judge F. Moore of Rochester, Ind., and Judge Robert Leley of Welton, Neb., both of whom impressed upon the swine breeders present the necessity of promoting the swine industry. They were followed by talks from several prominent breeders.

The Western Royal Swine Breeders' association was formed at the Western Royal Livestock show and is a combination of the old Northwest Swine Breeders' association and the Oregon Swine Breeders' association. Membership includes breeders from Oregon, Washington, Idaho, California and Montana. Officers are G. O. Swales of Johnson, Wash., president; Bill O'Brien, secretary. O'Brien is also assistant secretary to the manager of the Western Royal Livestock show. The purpose of the organization is to promote the swine industry in the Western states and to conduct pure bred sales of swine. An extensive advertising campaign will be carried on.

Members of the executive committee of the Western Royal Swine breeders represent every breed of swine. Members include Jess Richards, Virginia, Idaho; Hugh Walters, Townsend, Wash.; O. Menach, Sharon, Wash.; E. W. Warrick, Pleasant Grove, Utah, and Thomas Kerl, Cambridge, Idaho, all representative swine breeders.
