

GERMANY TELLS ALLIES SHE IS UNABLE TO PAY

(By Universal Service)
(Special Radio Dispatch)
Berlin, Nov. 15.—Germany has advised the allies that she cannot pay the next installment of the reparations, amounting to 500,000,000 gold marks, due January 15.

GERMANY SEES HOPE IN AMERICAN ARMS PROPOSAL

By John Graden
United News Staff Correspondent
Berlin, Nov. 15.—Germany, through her political leaders, sees in America's proposal for a reduction of navies a gleam of hope that her recent conquerors will not crush her completely.

This, to the German mind, means that Secretary Hughes' plan will deprive France of the backing necessary to maintain her threat of renewed war along the Rhine. As an evidence of this feeling, Admiral von Brueninghaus, volksparte member of the reichstag, declared in an interview with the United News:

"America's intentions are clear. The question of war or peace cannot be raised after such a frank opening. But I am skeptical regarding the outcome of the conference, because the roads to both hell and war are paved with good intentions."

Edward Bernstein, Germany's noted socialist pacifist, said his country would have everything to gain and nothing to lose if her former enemies avoided a conflict in the East. "America's proposal for disarmament, which is most surprising because more drastic, constitutes a gigantic step toward peace," he stated.

"Germany is highly interested in the success of the proposals. Those who expect advantages to Germany from an encounter on the Pacific are worse than mad."

Dr. Adolf Braun, member of the foreign affairs committee of the reichstag, asserted that "while Hughes' suggestions seem radical, and therefore are welcome, the conference should limit the armament of single ships as well as tonnage of the different types of vessels and in that way prevent strengthening of the ships not included in the reduction. They should also limit expenditures for armaments."

Newspapers Agree To Quote Uniform Advertising Rates

South Bend, Wash., Nov. 15.—A banquet and conference of the newspaper editors of this section of the state was held Saturday night in Raymond as part of the program of the state press association. E. M. Connor of the Willapa Harbor Pilot and R. W. Edinger of the Centralia Chronicle were re-elected chairman and secretary of this section, respectively. Clarence Ellington, editor of the Chehalis Bee-Nugget, and C. L. Clayton spoke.

Those present were: E. M. Connor, Miss Honora Connor, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Dockery and H. M. Ross of the Willapa Harbor Pilot, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Beall and John E. Davies of the Raymond Herald, Mrs. P. A. Hazelstine and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hamilton of the South Bend Journal, Clarence Ellington of the Chehalis Bee-Nugget, O. E. Kennedy of the Kennedy Press in Raymond, R. W. Edinger of the Centralia Chronicle, C. L. Clayton of the Fortle Publishing company and E. B. Brown of the Auburn Globe-Republican.

As a result of the meeting all printers in this immediate vicinity have agreed to quote prices exclusively from the Franklin price list and not to cut below it, and the three newspapers have consented to adopt uniform advertising rates with a revision upwards.

Married Fifty Years, Hubby Cries 'Enough'

Chico, Cal., Nov. 15.—After 51 years of married life, suit for divorce has been filed in the Butte county superior court by Frank A. Wood of Chico against Amelia Wood. The couple were married in New Boston, Ill., March 1, 1866. "Fifty years of it is enough for any one man," Wood told his friends today commenting on his action. "Marriage was never meant to last longer than that."

"Wear-Ever" Aluminum Roaster

The utensil that can be used EVERY day

Aside from giving wonderful results when used in the oven for baking bread or for roasting turkey, beef, pork, lamb, etc. the "Wear-Ever" Aluminum Roaster can be used for steaming vegetables or for baking apples, potatoes, tomatoes, etc. on top of the stove. It also is invaluable for preparing an entire meal—meat, potatoes, one vegetable and a dessert such as rice pudding or baked apples—all at one time over ONE burner. Moreover, many housewives have found it handy as a bread and cake-box and, during the canning season, it is ideal for steaming and sterilizing fruits and vegetables canned by the cold pack method.

Thus it is that the "Wear-Ever" Roaster is considered one of the most ECONOMICAL utensils that a housewife can have. It not only SAVES the cost of the many individual utensils which it replaces, but it also effects OTHER economies in fuel, time and labor.

The heat-conducting properties of the hard, dense, THICK, sheet aluminum used in "Wear-Ever" utensils are such that the heat is carried AWAY from the bottom and distributed EVENLY throughout the utensil. Hence, "Wear-Ever" uses LESS fuel, requires LESS attention, always cooks EVENLY and insures BETTER-FLAVORED foods.

"Wear-Ever" dealers now have in stock the "Wear-Ever" Roaster. Go to your favorite store TODAY and select the size that is best suited to your requirements.
