Three Hundred Lovely New Dresses to Choose From

If the apparel buyer had his way drawings and details of the dresses would monopolize this page. Certainly we do scant justice to the theme in this space—have to content ourselves with general description and can sketch only eight of the forty styles in this lot of three hundred dresses.

But come and see them. Note the qualities of the tricotine, the will and the duvet de laine. Admire the styles, the tailoring, the refinements that give these dresses an unmistakable air of distinction.
