

FRENCH PREMIER SEES SECURITY IN REPUBLIC'S ARMY

By William Allen White
(Copyright, 1921, by United News)
Washington, Nov. 22.—France had her day of heartbreak surrounded by sympathetic and consoling friends.

Premier Briand of France delivered a speech—the long expected speech which might have been a defiance if it had not been an apology.

In a world broken by war and straining its eyes to see the dawn of peace, M. Briand stood in the conference of the delegates of the great nations of the world and pleaded for the right to prepare for war. In a foreign language to an audience where his language, fiery, beautiful, convincing and powerful, fell in a foreign tongue, the great French orator talked for an hour to a crowd that for the most part could see and hear in his great performance only passionate pantomime and musical cadences that rose and receded incessantly like some lullaby of Thor or Mars.

PURPOSE IS FIXED

Europe, in her most appealing voice, was trying to reach America—and failed so far as the unofficial auditors went. America is fixed in a purpose to bring peace to the world, and being America, believes in the efficacy of slogans and formulas and prayers.

America is for the moment in an other-worldly mood. Again and again M. Briand referred to Americans as a practical people, a true enough reference up to a point, but in the matter of disarmament America is past the point. Americans are practical until they begin to dance to some moral issue. Then the howling overblows can learn a lesson from your Uncle Sam. We are dancing the peace dance now and M. Briand's demands for continued military preparation in France fell upon dull ears. Not that Americans would stop the military plans of France; Americans have lost interest in them. That is all.

ALL ARE MOURNFUL

And it seemed from certain official voices at the conference that the other allied and associated powers took the cue from America. Their representatives rose one by one and spoke with what seemed great, uncalculated sincerity with dead voices about the French position. And the orators of her allies and friends in their responses seemed to be using rather "mournful numbers" in denouncing their three cheers for their departing friend.

It was a great audience that gathered to hear M. Briand—the greatest of the conference. His earnestness, his fine clear voice, his marvelous oratorical gifts, transcending the foreign tongue in which most of his auditors heard him, the sheer leonine virility of his personality—all these gripped and charmed his hearers and forced applause from the crowd—applause that did not always greet sentiments which the translator repeated.

Not that the translator lacked ardor. He had his intention on the part of the thing he was delivering was not the thing the crowd wanted.

House Committee Drops Inquiry Into Klux Klan Activity

Washington, Nov. 22.—(I. N. S.)—The Ku Klux Klan investigation has received a quietus. The resolution for the congressional probe lies in a stupor, if not dead, in the house rules committee.

Colonel Simmons of Atlanta, the imperial wizard, is to be permitted to do his personal house-cleaning in his own time and way, without interference by congress.

Chairman Campbell of the house rules committee admitted today there was no present intention on the part of the committee to report any resolution favoring an investigation by congress of the Klan.

Had Oregon License; Fined in Vancouver

Vancouver, Wash., Nov. 22.—H. C. Richtmyer, driver for a Portland baking corporation, was arrested Monday on a charge of driving a truck without a Washington license. He was fined $10 and costs by Judge Vaughan. This is the third case brought by W. B. Newcomb, state weight and measure inspector, who has been assisting local authorities in enforcing the lighting and other laws pertaining to automobile operation.

HENRY HYNDMAN DIES

London, Nov. 22.—(I. N. S.)—Henry Hyndman, founder of the Social Democratic Federation, died here today. He was 80 years old.
