

CITY PAY CHECKS WILL NOT BE CUT, BUDGET FINISHED

The threatened wholesale reduction of the salaries of city employees by the tax supervising and conservation commission, amounting to $150,000, which has been hanging like a dark cloud of disaster over the city hall for the last week, went to smash against the rock of Commissioner Sabin's opposition yesterday afternoon and will not be made.

CITY BUDGET FINISHED

This decision finished the work of the commission on the city budget. This leaves the city council, with a net reduction of $367,206.17 in the figures submitted to the commission. The budget as submitted carried a total of $4,075,880.75. With the commission through with it the total stands at $3,717,575.58. The commission ordered reductions totaling $287,925.00 in the contemplated expenditures of the city government during the coming year. The remainder of the net reduction is accounted for by increased income estimated to be received from the new fire engine, the purchase of which was stricken from the budget, also was carried out.

The city auditor's office was given back $3000 for clerk and stenographic hire at Monday's meeting of the commission, half of the sum taken at the Saturday meeting. The sum of $23,000 for the bridge repair fund and $180,000 for a city emergency fund were allowed, these items having been passed for their consideration at the Saturday meeting. The sum of $5310, put into the budget to care for the salaries of engineers expected to be hired for the new fire engine, the purchase of which was stricken from the budget, also was carried out.

SABIN AGAINST CUT
Commissioner Sabin, in stating his position against the proposal of his colleagues to slice the salary appropriations, gave an outline of his thought regarding the problem.
"My idea is this," he said. "The world stopped in 1914 and ceased to go on as it had been accustomed to do. There was a general inflation all over the world. The price of all labor rose rapidly until many men who had been drawing $3 and a half per cent. a year, times that amount, in some instances as much as 300 per cent more than they had been accustomed to earning."

"Moving with this increase in wages, the cost of living rose until it reached its peak in June, 1921, when it was more than 100 per cent over 1914. Since that time it has declined until in September of this year it had dropped back to 50 per cent. So, at this time, $1.50 in money will buy what could be bought with $1 in 1914."

"I am willing to assume that the salaries of city employees in 1914 were not excessive, but that it is hard for me to see how a policeman, the street cleaner or the fireman could get along on much less than he received. "If the increase of salaries of city employees approximated the increase in the cost of living? Apparently it did not. Living costs went up 104 per cent and wages from 40 to 50 per cent. Today the compensation of city employees purchasing power considered, is less than in 1914. Now we have all taken the same oath of office and we have all tried here to eliminate surpluses in city expenditures, and we have been served with one or two differences, but here is an important matter running into large figures and affecting many people. Believing, as I do, that the city employees are not excessive, I cannot see my way clear to vote for reductions now."

REDUCTION, SAYS GOLDSMITH
Commissioner Goldsmith was for the cut.
"I think there should be a slight reduction," he said. "If we are going to make a start toward getting down to a normal condition, all must make sacrifices. I am making a lot myself, more than I am asking these people to make. I don't think we should go back to the old 1914 level of wages, but we should make a slight reduction."

"The position of the chair is this," Senator Mulkey said. "With reference to common labor in general, the board of arbitration of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company has established a basis under the new law. I think the basis of $4 for the city is ample for this class of labor."
"The law of supply and demand is one no one can set aside. The question of definition is important and should present all questions between employers and employe, in private as well as in public service."
"The figures show a decrease in the cost of living. The list of applicants on the civil service lists, and when you consider the taxpayers, the burdens they are under, the inequalities of the tax laws, it seems to me that the items of supply and demand and reductions in the cost of living should be reflected in salaries. A modest reduction from $4.80 to $4 and of 5 per cent ought to be reflected."

Commissioner Sabin took up the discussion when Mulkey had concluded.
"The report of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company is very inter-

FOURTH REED "GRAD" WINS RHODES HONOR

Tom P. Brockway

Tom P. Brockway, who this year was graduated from Reed college, was chosen Saturday as the Rhodes scholar from Oregon from a group of 13 candidates. Brockway with 22 other Rhodes scholars of the United States will enter Oxford university in October, 1932.

Besides working to help pay his way through school Brockway was for three years the Journal's correspondent at Reed—he edited the college publication, played football and was president of school organizations. His scholastic record was above the average. Since his graduation last summer he has been instructor of English at O. A. C.

The Rhodes scholarship carries a stipend of $500 a year. Throughout the United States there were 506 candidates from which the successful 32 were chosen.
Brockway is the fourth Reed college man to win a Rhodes scholarship. Loyd Haberly was selected last year as the scholar at large, and two others—Frank Flint and Stephenson Smith—were chosen previously. These three are at Oxford now.

osing," he said, "but it affects only 10 per cent of the men employed by this company and does not touch the clerical, the executive or the operative forces. And it should be remembered that the people affected by it are those who come and go, while the city employee's service grows in value as it continues. I think the city can afford to be a fairly generous employer. I sympathize with the executives and yet would rather vote to cut their pay than that of a houseman or a patrolman, because the $4000 man can afford to work for $3500 better than the $125 man can afford to take $125."

Sentence of Tacoma Banker Held Up by New Trial Order

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 8.—(U. P.)—Sentence in the case of Gustaf Lindberg, wholesale grocer and former bank director, convicted by a superior court jury Saturday of illegally borrowing $13,000 from the defunct Scandinavian-American bank, will be deferred until motion for a new trial is argued before Judge Chamberlain. The jury, after being out 24 hours, recommended clemency.
Lindberg, aside from ex-president Larson, is the only bank officer to be convicted on charges growing out of the bank failure.

Center of Reserves Is Sought by Bend

Bend, Dec. 8.—Local ex-service men interested in the navy infantry, are making a fight to locate headquarters for Company C, 331st reserve infantry, in Bend instead of Prineville, on the grounds that Deschutes county will furnish more than half the men in the company. Bend is declared to be the logical location for headquarters, because there is a suitable drill hall here controlled by the legion as well as a large number of reserve officers.

2 PRISONERS USE RUSE TO ESCAPE

Roseburg, Dec. 8.—By working a ruse on the deputy at the Douglas county jail, two prisoners, H. Bryan and Glenn Kline, alleged automobile thieves, escaped early Sunday morning, and although a diligent search has been made by Sheriff Starmer, no trace of the fugitives has been found.

The two men are charged with the theft of an automobile at Eugene several weeks ago. The machine was driven to a point near Yoncalla and wrecked. The men then walked into Yoncalla and stole another automobile, it is alleged, from the H. L. Kruse garage. This car they drove to Merila, where they were placed under arrest by Roseburg authorities.

"Dad" Cook, a trustee, serving a 90-day sentence for operating a "moonshine" still, has been permitted to bring the prisoner's meals from a local restaurant each morning. Sunday Deputy Sheriff Sewell opened the jail to allow Cook to pass into the "bulper" with the food. Bryan, one of the prisoners, was in the act of cleaning the ashes out of the stove. He was in his shirt sleeves and wore no hat. He asked the officer if he could take the ashes out and dump them. His request was granted and he disappeared around the corner of the jail building, and when he failed to appear Deputy Sewell grew suspicious. An investigation showed that Bryan was gone. When Sewell returned to the jail he found that Kline also had disappeared. The officers now believe that Kline had Bryan's coat and hat wrapped up in a bundle which he took from the jail.

Budget for 1922 Is Same as for 1921
Hermiston, Dec. 8.—The 1922 budget adopted for Hermiston provides for raising $6250. This amount is the same as last year, but the rate will be a trifle lower as the assessed valuation has increased. Street lighting cost is increased slightly, due to the installation of new lights. The water fund expenses are still high because a payment of $1000 is due on the new engine purchased for the city water works during the year. Other items are $500 for the city library, $2500 for street fund and $350 for the new tourist park just purchased by the city.

Fatally Injured as Roadster Overtakes

Colfax, Wash., Dec. 8.—When a car with three men overturned on a steep hill about 10 miles from Winona, Sunday night, Alfred Colfax of Colfax received injuries from which he died within an hour. James Richardson and Alex Henry, Colfax's companions, were not injured. The men were in the roadster of Charles L. MacKenzie and were on their way to a sheep camp of Bar & MacKenzie. Colfax, who was 33 years of age, had lived in Colfax about three years and was a barber in the O. K. shop. His wife survives him.
