

DE VALERA REJECTS NEW PEACE MOVE

By Daniel O'Connell
Dublin, Jan. 3.—(I. N. S.)—A compromise on the Irish treaty by which the pact would be passed by the Dail Eireann, with the understanding that Eamon de Valera would continue to lead the opposition against it and against the provisional government established under its authority, was suggested to the Dail

Irish this afternoon by Michael Collins, but De Valera rejected it. Collins proposed his scheme as a "way out of the difficulty."
"The men and women who are opposing the peace treaty could continue against it," said Collins. "If the treaty is rejected, then the British will be abolished. But let them (the anti-treaty faction) let the treaty go through and then let them fight the provisional government upon this issue."
COLLINS MAKES PLEA
The first move to line up the Dail for unanimous ratification of the treaty came when Collins addressed an appeal to the committee following the rejection of his compromise proposal by De Valera.
"The people of Ireland want this treaty," said Collins. "I appeal to all supporters and opponents, for its ratification without a division."

Supporters of the Irish peace treaty got into action at once when Dail Eireann convened today for final debate upon the pact.
"Opponents of the treaty lack responsibility and imagination," said S. H. Reilly of Kerry county, general in the Irish Republican army, and an adherent of the Collins-Griffith pro-treaty faction. "Ireland was not made for Dail but Dail was created for the nation."
Reilly told of the strength the treaty would give Ireland, saying:
"The Irish people are being gambled with in the name of formulas. Under the treaty they would have their own coinage and stamps and army. The army would hold the strongest points in Ireland, not in 'flying columns,' but with troops equipped with artillery and airplanes."

DEFENDERS MEET ATTACK
The defenders of the treaty had no sooner opened than the opponents launched a vigorous counter-attack.
A. O'Connor of County Kildare charged that peace had been "shoved down the throats of the Irish at the point of the bayonet."
Michael Collins, Sinn Fein army chief, interrupted, shouting:
"Have you seen their ruined homes? Have you heard their murdered sons?" O'Connor had started off mildly enough, saying he was going to set an example of brevity.

"The treaty has suffered from the desertion of some of its advocates," said O'Connor. "I am unable to understand whether it was a treaty of consent or was signed under duress."
COUNTESS HAS SAY
One of the most vitriolic attacks against the treaty was made by Countess Marcewicz, a member of the Dail cabinet.
"I prefer death to the dishonor of this treaty," said she. "I know the people of Ireland stand by me; that they will fight to their death."
When the Dail met it was privately reported that Eamon De Valera and his lieutenants, who are opposing ratification of the peace treaty, admitted that they expected a landslide in favor of the pact.

TWO HUNDRED FAILED
Salem, Jan. 3.—An even 200 persons were lodged in the Marion county jail during 1921, according to Sheriff Ewiger. Fines collected during the year aggregated $2864, all but $55 being for violations of the liquor law.
W. U. VACATION EXTENDED
Williamette University, Salem, Jan. 3.—Owing to the fact that many of the students were unable to return by this morning the vacation period was extended to Wednesday morning.

PHOENIX MENACED BY CANAL FLOOD

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 3.—(I. N. S.)—Flood waters, which during the night broke through the Arizona canal forming the northern boundary of Salt river irrigation district, were within two and a half miles of Phoenix today.
However, later reports reaching here stated rain had stopped falling in the Bradshaw mountain district and it was idly being repaired.

believed that the crest of the flood had been reached. City officials expressed confidence that the water would be kept from the low lying section of Phoenix between the canal and the city limits.
Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 3.—(I. N. S.)—Traffic on the Union Pacific lines was tied up today as a result of flood water washing out two bridges near Caliente, Nevada.
Many persons en route to Los Angeles were stranded along the lines of the Union Pacific as a result of the wash-out.
In Los Angeles the weather was clear and cold. Reports received from points throughout Southern California, were to the effect that the latest rainstorm is over. Extensive flood damage was reported from Bradshaw mountain district and it was idly being repaired.
