

JACKSON DAY IS HONORED BY LOYAL DEMOCRATIC SONS

Orators Sound Virtues of Famous Leaders; Woodrow Wilson's Work Lauded in Resolutions.

Jackson day, this year the 107th anniversary of the Battle of New Orleans, when "Old Hickory" made his famous stand against the English soldiers, was celebrated last night at the Benson hotel by the Jackson club.

The Crystal room was filled with banqueters and the evening was marked by a touching and eloquent tribute paid to Colonel Milton A. Miller, the tragic death of whose daughter, Mrs. Sherman Miles, of St. Helena, occurred on New Year's eve.

MILLER LETTER READ

President Starkweather, who presided at the banquet had received a letter, more than a week ago, from Mr. Miller, expressing his regret that illness would prevent his attendance. He read this letter and paid a touching tribute to Mr. Miller. Fred Nutting offered resolutions of sympathy and condolence which were adopted by a unanimous rising vote, after Senator Sam Garland of Lebanon, lifelong friend of Colonel Miller, had spoken eloquently of the life of Mrs. Miles.

During the evening letters of greeting were read from Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic national committee; William Jennings Bryan, Franklin D. Roosevelt, John Randolph Boling, secretary to Woodrow Wilson, and Homer S. Cummings, former chairman of the national committee.

The address of the evening was delivered by Miss Celia Gavin of The Dalles, who traced the life and public activities of Andrew Jackson and discussed the influence which he had exerted upon the history of the American people.

TRIBUTE IS PAID

The Democratic party, she contended, can take particular pride in the fact that so many of the bright stars of the nation's firmament of statesmen have been leaders in the ranks of democracy. Judge William S. Gatens was the first speaker of the evening. He contended that the last 10 months had made him more proud than ever before that he was a democrat, and he insisted that the next election would show a greater reversal of political sentiment than that which swept the Democratic party out of power in 1920. He advocated the ownership, management and control of the natural resources by the government and the sale of its products to the people at cost.

The club, by unanimous vote, adopted resolutions in praise and commendation of the work and achievements of Woodrow Wilson, and directed that the greetings and well wishes of the club be forwarded to the former president at his home in Washington.

F. K. Myers and Mrs. Alexander Thompson also spoke.

CANDIDATES LINING UP FOR ELECTION

of the Oregon soldiers' bonus law and has been active in civic affairs during his residence in Portland. Other possibilities are Barge E. Leonard, Walter G. Elyns and Franklin F. Kneill, all members of the legislature from Multnomah county, and J. J. Crosley, commander-in-chief of Portland post No. 1, American Legion.

Then there is the governorship to be determined at the primaries, practically if not finally, and here the crop of re-mentioned, C. E. Gates, mayor of Medford, being groomed by Senators Oregon Republic for the race. J. D. Leonard candidates is a large and growing one.

Governor Olcott, without much doubt, is to be a candidate to succeed himself. George L. Baker, mayor of Portland, is expected to be another. George H. Kelly, Port of Portland commissioner, is said to have the subject under serious consideration with the idea of reaching final determination in a short time. L. E. Bean, speaker of the house, is a potential candidate. So is Adjutant General George A. White. Senator L. L. Patterson of Polk county, C. E. Spence of Clackamas county and Senator Charles K. Hall of Marshallfield have been representative from Multnomah county, has made his formal announcement, and there are other darker horses yet to be heard from on the Republican side.

In the Democratic camp you hear of Milton A. Miller, ex-collector of internal revenue; Walter E. Fier of La Grande, Dr. C. J. Smith of Portland and others.

STILL NEBULOUS

A state treasurer is also to be elected. Some have it that O. P. Hoff, incumbent in the race, is a candidate for reelection. Others insist that Hoff will be a candidate for governor. Charles Hall is mentioned as a possible candidate for this office, though this is nebulous talk. Others say that E. D. Cusick, Albany mayor, and it is also rumored that Senator Thomas F. Ryan or Oregon City, former deputy treasurer under Thomas B. Kay, will make the race, his name in the senate having run.

Two justices of the supreme court are to be selected at the primary election. The term of Justice George H. Burnett expires in June, and he will seek reelection. Justice John McCourt, appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Charles A. Johns, will be compelled to run for nomination and election. Up to the present time no probable candidates for the supreme bench, other than Burnett and McCourt, have been mentioned.

NO OPPOSITION

J. A. Churchill will be a candidate for reelection as superintendent of public instruction, as his present term will expire with the close of the present year. He has no opposition so far as reported.

Charles H. Gram's term as labor commissioner also ends with the year, and he will seek reelection. Fred A. Williams, present chairman of the public service commission, is expected to be a candidate to succeed himself. He will undoubtedly have opposition though no definite announcements have been made by opposing candidates.

AT THE FOOT OF THE STATE TICKET

At the foot of the state ticket nestles the job of national committeeman. Ralph E. Williams will be a candidate for the Republican seat, and so far as reported now, faces no opposition.

STANFIELD CAMP ARMS

It is an open secret, however, that the Stanfield faction of the Republican party seeks the downfall of Williams, and has been hunting some candidate to put in the field against him. Roy Ritner had been mentioned in this connection, but he has determined to seek reelection to the state senate from Umatilla county. W. L. Thompson was another probability, but after some time spent in Washington he has made up his mind not to try.

On the Democratic battlefield there will be several candidates, according to present outlook. Will R. King, for the last dozen years a resident of Washington and New York, has announced his candidacy, and will have the support of the Myers-Starkweather faction. J. W. Morrow, present committeeman, has announced his candidacy. Former Senator Sam Garland of Lebanon, has been urged to be a candidate, but is reported to have decided not to run, so that from present indications it looks like a two-handed battle between King and Morrow.

16 JUDGSHIPS OPEN

There are to be 16 circuit judges elected over the state, five of them in Multnomah county. The terms of Judge Kavanagh in department 1; Tucker in department 3; Gatens in department 5; Evans in department 6 and Taxwell in department 7, all end with the present year, excepting that of Evans, appointed to succeed McCourt, resigned Evans will seek election for the unexpired portion of McCourt's term, the close of 1927.

Stanley Myers, appointed district attorney for Multnomah county, will also seek election for the remainder of Evans' term as district attorney, the close of 1925.

Turning from the state ticket to the legislature there are 16 members of the senate and 60 members of the house to be nominated in May. Ordinarily 15 members of the senate are elected at each election, but the death of Senator E. C. Miller makes it necessary to fill the vacancy caused by his death, the senator so elected to serve until the close of 1924. Milton R. Klepper seeks reelection.

TERMS TO EXPIRE

Those senators whose terms expire are Lechmund and LaFollett of Marion; Porter of Linn; Jones of Lane; Bell of Lane-Linn; Thomas of Jackson; Patterson of Benton-Polk; Vinton of Yamhill; Ryan of Clackamas; Gill of Multnomah; Banks of Clackamas-Columbia-Multnomah; Norblad of Clatsop; Eberhard of Morrow-Umatilla-Union; Ritner of Umatilla, and Sprayer of Baker. It is believed that all of these with the exception of Thomas of Jackson, who is a candidate for circuit judge of his district, and possibly Patterson of Benton and Polk, will be candidates for reelection. John Bell is to be opposed by E. D. Cusick and Jones by L. M. Curi, both of Albany, according to report, while Vinton of Yamhill is to be opposed by W. W. Lungler of La Fayette as an opponent.

It is probable, also, that a majority of the present house membership will seek reelection, though no definite announcements have as yet been reported.

THREE COUNTY PLACES

And, finally, it may be a pleasant surprise to the voters of Multnomah county to learn that there will be but three places to be filled on the county ballot.

The terms of County Commissioners Holman and Hoyt expire with the end of the year. Both are expected to be candidates for reelection, and more than likely will have a bunch of opposing candidates to buck.

Sara B. Martin, county auditor, is also expected to be a candidate to succeed herself. Up to the present time no report has been received of any other person ambitious to fill that office.

Deputy Who Reads Newspapers Keeps Track of Suspect

Because Deputy United States Marshal Frank Snow reads the newspapers, he has a man in custody today, for whom the government has been looking since December 13.

On that date a complaint was issued against Lawrence Perry charging him with possessing and manufacturing liquor in a North Portland residence. Search of the various places where Perry and his wife were supposed to be living proved fruitless.

Snow learned Thursday, while reading his paper, that Perry was involved in an automobile accident at Oregon City. He ascertained Perry's address, Perry then surrendered himself Saturday at the marshal's office after he learned his latest address had been discovered. He was released on $500 bond.

Mayor of Yokohama Asks Art Exhibits From Local Schools

From M. Kubota, mayor of Yokohama, Japan, comes the request that specimens of the art work of children in the grade schools of Portland be forwarded for an international exhibit in March. The letter was received Saturday by Mayor Baker, who referred it to the school board.

Kubota asked for specimens several months ago and, through the cooperation of the school board and the mayor's office, he succeeded in starting art classes in the grade schools of Japan.

BASICH GETS YEAR FOR RUNNING STILL

Accused, Whose Place Was Burned by Federal Agents, Loses Appeal; Gives Up.

John Basich, Newberg still operator, gave up his fight against the government at noon today when he surrendered himself to United States Marshal Hotchkiss. He began serving his year's sentence in the county jail this afternoon.

Basich was found guilty of operating a still in a specially erected and equipped building on the Hall ranch near Newberg. After prohibition agents raided the place and secured enough evidence for conviction, they set fire to the distillery and burned the building and its contents, under a special provision of the Volstead act, which provides for the destruction of a building used solely for the manufacture of liquor.

Basich carried his case through the circuit court of appeals and supreme court, but his conviction was upheld in each case.

Friday a member of the Hall family was arrested on charge of shipping liquor through the mails in a box of prunes, an Assistant United States Attorney Fiegel has another case to prosecute originating on the same farm.

Mississippi Valley Lumbermen Attack New Lumber Tariff

Washington, Jan. 7.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL)—Retail lumber dealers of the upper Mississippi valley are renewing their assault upon the proposed lumber schedule of the Fordney tariff bill, including the 50 per cent duty on shingles. This is termed "about as unpopular as Schedule K was in 1909" in a statement issued by the Northwest Lumbermen's association, which has headquarters at Minneapolis and claims to represent 2000 retail yards in Minnesota, the Dakotas, Iowa and Nebraska.

"The retail lumber dealer, in our territory, at least, is down to bedrock on his profits," says the statement. "The position of members of our association is absolutely the position of the farmer. The proposed tariff would add a burden of thousands to consumers, who are now forced either to repair the buildings on

Mayor Hylan Sides With Dr. Lorenz

New York, Jan. 7.—(L. N. S.)—Mayor Hylan today expressed deep regret to Professor Adolph Lorenz, famous bloodless surgeon, over the criticism aimed at him by some newspapers and individuals. Dr. Lorenz called at the city hall to pay his respects to the mayor.
