

SENATOR NEW OF INDIANA MAY GET WILL HAYS' JOB

By David Lawrence (Copyright, 1922, by The Journal) Washington, Jan. 12.—Will Hays probably will resign as postmaster general and accept the offer to become adviser...

Mr. Hays' inclination toward the new job is based, therefore, on his belief that he can render a big service, possibly even greater than in the reorganization of the mails.

Mr. Hays is a deacon in the Presbyterian church. He knows what the right thinking folk of the country believe ought to be the limits of the screen.

What they want of Will Hays is to take hold of the whole thing and regulate the movie producers as well as to take the public relations of the industry.

But if it were a task of prevention of censorship alone, Mr. Hays wouldn't be interested. He is persuaded that the moving picture has educational opportunities which have scarcely been touched thus far.

And when Mr. Hays resigns, who shall take his place in the cabinet? The first man who comes to mind is Senator New of Indiana.

On the other hand, Mr. Harding is not at all anxious to make it easier for former Senator Beveridge to come back from Indiana to the national capital.

Another report that can be brushed aside is that there will be a transferring of cabinet offices. The president is not to lose Will Hays, but if he shifted the cabinet it would mean training men in two positions instead of one.

If Mr. Harding has given any thought to whom the successor of Will Hays will be, he has not communicated his ideas to anyone else. The belief is that until Mr. Hays definitely resigns Mr. Harding will decline to discuss the subject even with his intimate friends.

Close friends of Mr. Hays in the government circle say authority for the prediction that the chances are four out of five in favor of his accepting the position offered him by the motion picture industry.

PASTOR WHO TURNED TO LIFE OF CRIME

Rev. Rex Hascall

PASTOR TURNS FROM PULPIT TO CROOKDOM

(Continued From Page One) to this country as a child with his parents, his father being a minister. Settling in Oregon, Hascall at an early age entered the Baptist theological seminary at McMinnville, from which he graduated after four and a half years, being thereupon ordained in the Baptist ministry.

Hascall declares he could not tolerate the preaching of fear into the hearts of the little children. "God is only love and only good," he said in his child tongue.

liquor, and later under the influence of liquor he "turned his first job." "After that if I could get away with it I drunk I could get away with it other," he said today, "and since then I have been a criminal. I served three years in the Utah state penitentiary and since that time traveled the world with my father. I have never been arrested on the other side for I never was caught, though wanted."

Hascall admitted that he has perpetrated a series of burglaries in Oregon, obtaining 10 years, being paroled a year ago, however, because of the condition of his health.

EX-PREACHER HAS LONG RECORD AS "JOB BREAKER" Although the police have no record of Hascall's ministerial work, no record of an extensive record of operations in more sinister occupations. In fact, as the records tend to show, he is considered a "first class job breaker."

Under the name of C. M. Haines, Hascall was sentenced to prison in Utah in January, 1914, the records show, serving nearly four years of a six-year term on three charges of burglary. As Charles Graham he was sentenced to from one to 10 years in the Oregon penitentiary by a Portland judge March 22, 1920, on a charge of larceny from a dwelling. He was paroled in September of the same year. He is now said to be "wanted" in Centralia, Wash., and in Richmond, Cal., on similar charges, and is believed to have been connected with robberies in Portland and Seattle.

INSANE FOR SEVERAL YEARS Salem, Ore., Jan. 12.—Rev. Rex Hascall was an inmate of the state hospital for the insane from May, 1921, until September 22, according to records. He was committed from Multnomah county. His mental breakdown, doctors said, was caused by the use of laudanum. Hascall said that he took it in large doses to ease pain. He was entirely restored to mental and physical health when discharged.

NO SCHOOL RECORD McMinnville, Jan. 12.—If Rev. Rex Hascall ever attended the Baptist Theological school here, he went under an assumed name. According to the records no person by that name ever has been enrolled in the seminary.

Following the death of his first wife and the divorcing of his second, Hascall says he again entered matrimonial life in Denver, when seven years ago his third wife and their baby died. Dependency at that time, says Hascall, led him to take his first drink of

CIRCUS ROBBERY JURY IS PICKED

Vancouver, Wash., Jan. 12.—The jury that will decide the guilt or innocence of Roy Moore and Bert Orcutt, alleged circus bandits, was completed at 2:30 o'clock Thursday, and after A. E. Miller outlined the case for the state, talking testimony began. George Vandevere, Seattle attorney, examined prospective jurors for the defense, laying special emphasis on the questions whether the juror was opposed to unionism, prejudiced against the I. W. W., prejudiced against Vandevere or would be influenced in the verdict by the fact that Moore and Orcutt had been connected with the unlawful traffic in intoxicants.

The state exercised two of the three preemptory challenges and the defense used five of the six allowed. The jury is composed of five women and seven men as follows: A. L. Hanks, Mrs. E. E. Richards, LaVerne McIrwine, Roy S. Sampson, Mrs. Dwight Pariah, Mrs. Gertrude Burke, W. P. Dais, W. C. Yoes, Lulu A. Lighty, H. B. Lockwood, Ass. W. Ryan and Mrs. Bessie Adams.

Miller, in his opening statement, laid stress on the fact that Sunday morning following the robbery the two men went directly to the cache near La Center, stopping their car at the end of the cut off from one to 10 years in the Oregon penitentiary by a Portland judge March 22, 1920, on a charge of larceny from a dwelling. He was paroled in September of the same year. He is now said to be "wanted" in Centralia, Wash., and in Richmond, Cal., on similar charges, and is believed to have been connected with robberies in Portland and Seattle.

M. Poincare himself proposes to take over the two posts of premier and foreign minister. Poincare has been one of the most consistent leaders of the French political faction demanding: Strict execution of every clause of the Versailles treaty and subsidiary documents by Germany.

Further military occupation of Germany if the Berlin government defaults its indemnity obligations. NEGOTIATION A receivership for Germany, with an allied control commission in Berlin, if Germany fails to make the indemnity payments due this month and next. A close alliance between France and Poland.

Refusal by France to recognize the Moscow soviet government unless it promises to pay all Russia's foreign debts and makes other concessions. The press and political circles generally expressed regret over the resignation of M. Briand, but they welcomed with approval the selection of M. Poincare as M. Briand's successor. Practically all the newspapers pointed out that M. Briand left behind him the policy of a close union with Great Britain as one means to assist reestablishment of world peace. They expressed the hope that M. Poincare "would immediately deal with the crisis which has been precipitated."

GERMAN PAPERS PESSIMISTIC OVER POINCARE GOVERNMENT Berlin, Jan. 12.—(I. N. S.)—German newspapers commented pessimistically today upon the resignation of the Briand ministry at Paris. They consider the retirement of M. Briand a "slap in the face of England and a drawback to the reconstruction of Europe."

"The press fears a return of the war policy of the former war-makers-Poincare." The newspapers declare that M. Poincare is seeking to make secure the French hegemony of Europe.

"Premier Lloyd George faces a heap of ruins instead of the desired magnificent reconstruction of international solidarity," commented the Lokal Anzeiger.

SARRAUT, NOW IN WASHINGTON, RETAINED BY NEW PREMIER Washington, Jan. 12.—(I. N. S.)—M. Albert Sarraut, minister of colonies in the late Briand cabinet, and now acting head of the French delegation in Washington, received official instructions from Paris today to continue at the WHIRLWIND ENGAGEMENT Etta entered the room like happy whirlwind. The two girls who shared the apartment with her were startled at the usually quiet girl raced around the room.

"Oh, girls," she laughed, "I had the most wonderful trip to Portland on that splendid boat and just got home. And what do you think. I am all engaged to Jack. I had a quarrel with him and hadn't seen him for years. He was on the boat and we made up. Gee, I'm glad I went to Cherry's and got my new coat and fur. Jack said I looked great."

head of the delegation here until the conference finishes its work. LONDON OFFICIALS EXPECT CONFERENCE WITH POINCARE London, Jan. 12.—(I. N. S.)—Downing street officials said today that they expected Premier Lloyd George to seek a conference with M. Poincare at Paris if the latter is successful in forming a new French government.

British officials are frankly pessimistic, however, over the possibility of an agreement between Lloyd George and the French statesman. They believe that the chief policy of M. Poincare will be "execution by Gergany of the Versailles treaty to the very letter."

The British premier is expected back in London by Monday.

FARM LOAN ELECTIONS Philomath, Jan. 12.—The Crook County Farm Loan association elected its board of directors for the coming year as follows: M. E. Buggs, J. W. Stanton, E. T. Slayton, A. T. Bogue and Mrs. Mary L. McDowell. E. T. Slayton is president of the association, and A. A. McCord, J. W. Stanton, A. T. Bogue are the appraisers with Joe Lester and O. A. Hedlund as alternates.

Getting Down to Business THRIFT, some one has said, is simply a matter of spending less than you earn. In other words, managing money efficiently to get the most out of it. It requires only system and determination to accumulate capital for future opportunities or emergencies. And if you were among the more than 7000 people who recently opened Savings Accounts at the United States National, you've made the start. Keep at it. Deposit something each pay day and play the game to the limit. You'll never have more fun than in watching that balance grow. The United States National Bank, 5th and Stark. "Rush Hours"

In all lines of business patronage is irregular. Street cars, stores, banks and restaurants have their "rush hours" when some delays in service are unavoidable. The public, with the situation before its eyes, good naturedly accepts a degree of inconvenience.

There are "rush hours" in a telephone exchange. With business service the "loads" of telephone traffic are determined by commercial activities, banking hours, etc.—the "load" of the residence telephone varies with household and social needs.

The demands upon the telephone operator and a complicated mechanical equipment cannot be seen, but telephone traffic varies in every hour of every day according to the individual desires of thousands of patrons.

If there should be at times a delay in answering your call, remember that trained young women with nimble fingers are doing their best to serve you, and that at the moment there may be a "rush" of telephone traffic.

The exercise of patience and consideration will mean better service.
