

OREGON'S MAGIC STORY WILL AGAIN ELECTRIFY EAST

Frank Branch Riley Engaged for Another Series of Illustrated Talks on Scenic Beauties.

The story of Portland's greatness and the scenic stories and resources of the Northwest country are again to be presented to the people of the East by Frank Branch Riley, Oregon's nationally known lecturer and orator.

Because of the artistic quality of Riley's travelogue, the singular appeal of the subject matter and the screen pictures in color, which illustrate his lectures, he has been able to book engagements with exclusive organizations which have a wide variety of entertainments at their disposal.

Riley is received to quote the magazine of the South Shore Country club of Chicago, as "a gifted ambassador from an astonishing country" and on his tour this year he has been given a favorable place on the programs of the foremost business, civic and educational organizations of America.

The lecture tour opens at Kansas City, January 25 to 27 inclusive, where he is scheduled to deliver seven lectures, closing with an address at a meeting of the Kansas City realty board, Riley's next appearance is at St. Louis, February 1, and he is scheduled to open a series of addresses at Chicago February 3 under the auspices of the Association of Commerce, which has sent out over 5000 invitations to the lecture.

Riley is booked for more than a dozen lectures at Chicago and will leave that city to keep an engagement at Indianapolis February 27. One lecture will be given at Milwaukee on February 9. On March 3 he will appear at Cincinnati before the City club and at least one address will be delivered at Louisville, Ky., prior to an engagement with the Dayton, Ohio, chamber of commerce for March 5.

Telegrams from Toledo, where the Northwest country was popularized by Riley two years ago, announce elaborate preparations for his reappearance early in March and he is booked to lecture at the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium Sunday, March 12. Bookings also are being arranged for lectures at Cleveland, to be followed by engagements already made at Rochester, N. Y.; Erie, Penn.; Pittsburgh and other cities.

April and May will find Riley appearing before audiences at Washington, Baltimore and other Southern cities, and preliminary arrangements are under way for his appearance at New York and Boston. During the last week in March he will lecture at Philadelphia.

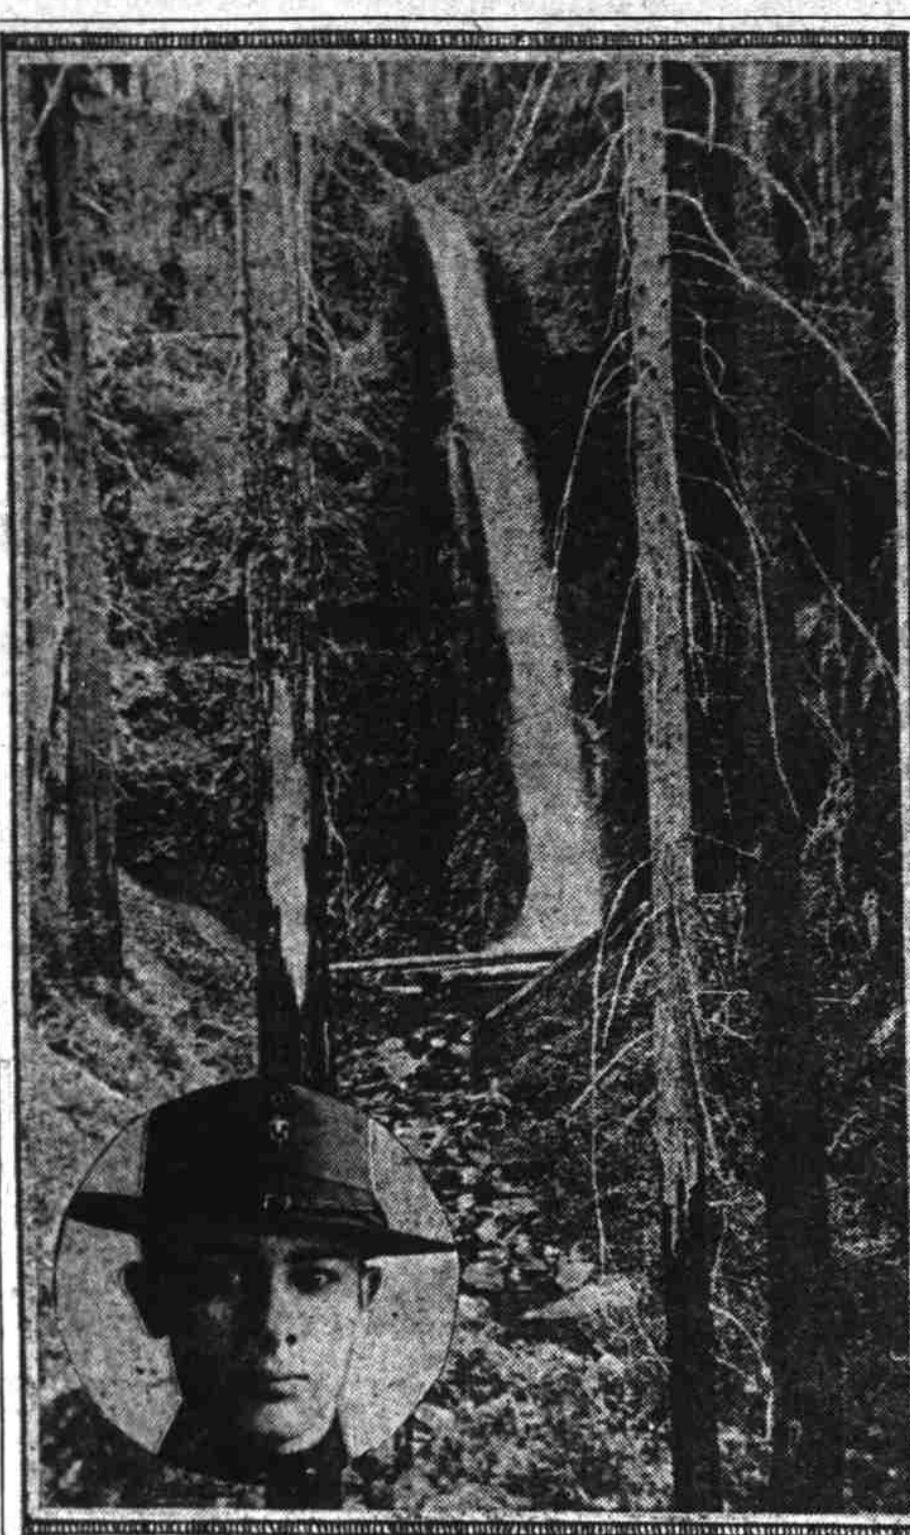

Portland Youth Is Held at Pendleton On Theft Charges

Pendleton, Jan. 14.—The career as robbers of H. A. Carlton of Portland, 22, and Roy Boto, alias Whitson, 26, of Salt Lake City, was ended here today when they were arrested at the Union station by a deputy sheriff, who said he found silverware from Baker and Pendleton residences upon them, as well as a collection of keys which would do justice to a locksmith.

The men will be charged with robbery from a dwelling and are being held awaiting action of the Umatilla county grand jury. Sheriff Zeeb Houser said they admitted their guilt.

According to the sheriff, the two started out on a trip from Salt Lake with the intention of making their living by robbing dwellings. The first work was done in Baker Friday.

WINS PHOTOGRAPHER PRIZE

Grover Clark of troop 49 of the Boy Scouts won first honors in the kodak contest for Scouts which closed recently. A prize of a $10 kodak or of $10 worth of kodak supplies was offered by Albert Anderson, one of the scoutmasters, and scores of pictures, many of them highly meritorious, were turned in. R. Bruce Horstall, G. M. Welster and W. E. Grace were the judges, and they gave first place to the picture of Eagle falls, taken by Glover Clark on his way up Eagle creek canyon to Camp Chindere last summer. Eagle falls, which is located seven miles up the canyon, forms Eagle creek, and is one of the most beautiful of all the many falls that dot the trail. The picture is unusually attractive.

The judges desired that honorable mention be given for kodak pictures submitted by Walter Dennis, Peter Sullivan, Harold Beldin, Clarence Parsons, Roland Fontana, Richard Farrington, John Kluge and Day Foster.

Clackamas County To Be Out $80,000

Oregon City, Jan. 14.—Clackamas county is threatened with a shortage of approximately $80,000 in taxes this year as the result of strict interpretation of the budget law. The county court held that unexpended balances must be taken into consideration, despite the fact that warrants were outstanding covering this amount at the close of the year. The court has announced that the budget will stand. The county assessor and county treasurer hold that funds against which warrants are drawn should not be considered as balances. As the six per cent limit has been reached without this $80,000 no further allowance is possible. The general fund will suffer a $49,000 cut and the school fund $31,000.

Seven Years Before The Oregonian Began Publication

Here is a sketch of the first printing press on which a daily newspaper was published in Portland. Beginning in 1850—five years after Edward Holman & Son was founded—a little four-page newspaper called "The Daily Journal" was printed by hand.

The paper lasted only a year, then succumbed. At that time editors believed 120 papers printed complete in an hour was fast work. Today the big dailies print a 24-page paper at the rate of 75,000 an hour.

Here at Holman's step has been maintained with progress. A great institution has been built because at all times Holman's has proved trustworthy and dependable.
