

PLANS SUBMITTED FOR PRIMARY AND SECONDARY ROADS

The state highway commission has submitted to the secretary of agriculture, through the bureau of public roads, a tentative designation of primary and secondary roads to which federal aid is to be applied. This is in accordance with the federal aid law which requires that within the next two years the states adopt, with the approval of the secretary of agriculture, primary and secondary systems. These systems are to cover 7 per cent of the road mileage of the state. The primary system must provide for interstate connections and the secondary be intercounty in character.

The tentative classification which the Oregon highway commission has made follows: Primary. Pacific highway, east side branch; Columbia river highway, the old Oregon trail. The Dalles-California highway, Pendleton-Walla Walla section of Oregon and Washington highway, approximately a total of 1200 miles. SECONDARY HIGHWAY Secondary. Oregon-Washington highway to Pendleton, Coast to Roosevelt highway, John Day highway, McKenzie-Johnson highway, Mount Hood loop highway, Crater Lake highway, La Grande-Joseph highway; Roseburg-Coos Bay highway; Grants Pass-Crescent City highway, Eugene-Florence highway, West Side Pacific highway. It has already been indicated that this classification will be considerably modified before final adoption.

The final form will be largely determined in the case of primary roads by adjoining states. It is understood that California will desire to make its interstate connections at Crescent City on the coast, at Hornbrook on the Pacific highway, and at the lower end of Gowaak on the east. This would mean no connection with The Dalles-California road.

Idaho will connect with the Old Oregon trail. Washington has made no plan to connect with the Walla Walla-Pendleton road, but is understood to be willing to connect with the Wallula cut-off, which has been proposed, and which is recommended by the U. S. bureau of public roads. The other Washington connection is at Vancouver.

OTHERS MAY QUALIFY In the secondary system proposed there is a probability that the Mount Hood Loop, Crater Lake and Eugene-Florence roads can qualify under the interpretation of the federal authorities of inter-county roads.

While there is a limit of two years for the final adoption of the federal aid system, it is desired to reach a fairly definite agreement as soon as possible in order that the work may be progressive. As it seems there will be no question about the qualification of the Old Oregon Trail and Pacific highway, federal aid projects on these roads will go ahead now providing no adjustments are reached in regard to width of pavement which under the latest government requirement is 17 feet on primary roads.

AT THE FEBRUARY meeting of the state highway commission bids will probably be called for paving the Smith hill section of the Pacific highway and the Albany-Tangent section. Proposals will also be asked probably for grading the Canas section of the Roseburg-Coos Bay road and the Prospect-Trail section of the Middle Westers congress road. This section is outside the forest boundary, but District Forester Cecil and the highway commission have tentatively agreed that the government will cooperate to the extent of $150,000 towards grading and bridges, it being understood that the federal government is not committed to any further aid, but may voluntarily extend it.

To grade and gravel the section it is estimated the cost will be in the neighborhood of half a million dollars. The work will be extended over two years. Tillamook county has been allotted $35,000 to match a like sum for grading and rocking five miles south of the Clatsop boundary on what will be the Roosevelt highway.

Robert E. Hitch, Ex-Portlander, Is Dead at El Paso

Word was received in Portland today of the sudden death of Robert E. Hitch at the home of his parents in El Paso, Ill., Tuesday. Hitch made his home in Portland for a number of years, where he engaged in the practice of law and was one of the most popular of the younger members of the bar. Hitch was born in El Paso, Ill., May 17, 1883, and was graduated from the literary department of the University of Michigan in 1907, and from the law school in 1909. Mission Rector Of Oak Park, Ill., Can't Be Located Chicago, Jan. 18.—(I. N. S.)—Rev. William F. Taylor, rector of St. Christopher's mission in Oak Park, a suburb, is being sought by friends and church officials today. The minister left his home last Saturday and no word has been received from him since. Rev. Taylor notified Bishop Anderson of St. Paul's cathedral, Chicago, of his absence, but would return. He asked the bishop to see that his pulpit was supplied for the Sunday service. Late Saturday afternoon the missing man went to the home of his brother-in-law, Rev. George Craig Stewart, and made arrangements with a maid for Mrs. Taylor and their three children to be cared for at the Stewart home. Since then he has not been seen. Friends and church associates can offer no reason for his disappearance.

Election Officials Needed as Result Of New State Law

Oregon City, Jan. 18.—Applications for appointments as clerks and judges for the coming year in Oregon City are being received by County Clerk Fred Miller. Under the 1921 law, the number needed is virtually doubled, opening positions for nearly 100. The new law provides for a day board and a counting board, the latter to count while balloting is in progress, giving election results much quicker. Each of the 11 precincts in Oregon City will require two boards of five persons, a total of 110 officials. Each board comprises two judges and three clerks, all qualified voters, and no more than three on any one board of the same political affiliation. Appointments are good for two years.

FEATURES BUREAU OF CHEST DRIVE ANNOUNCES PLAN

The thermometer idea for registering subscriptions in a popular campaign has been scrapped by those behind the Portland Community Chest drive starting January 20. No matter how much "pep" the idea had originally, it was decided it was both eaten and something different had to be selected. After considerable study the publicity committee evolved a scheme of parading a motor truck on Sixth street, moving a few feet each day in accordance with the volume of subscriptions of the Chest funds. On the tractor will be a big chest of temporary build and the pavement on Sixth street, between Oak and Yamhill, will be painted at intervals with figures representing steps in the collection of the desired quota. At a certain hour each day of the drive a ceremony will be made of moving the truck forward to correspond with the collections during the preceding 24 hours.

ONE OF FEATURES This is one of the features of the campaign which will be held by the bureau, one of the units of the general publicity committee. W. J. Hofmann is chairman of this bureau. Details of the triumphant march of the tractor, as the Chest funds are completed, remain in the hands of this bureau to be worked out.

Jealous Wife Kills Husband in His Sleep

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(I. N. S.)—Mrs. Grace Pearl, 24, shot and killed her husband, Luther Pearl, as he lay asleep in bed early today. Mrs. Pearl confessed to the police that she shot her husband because she had found a love letter from another woman in his pocket. The two had quarreled over the letter. Mrs. Pearl said, and after Pearl had gone to sleep she pressed a revolver against his head and fired.

Slayer of Female Deer Sentenced to 8 Months in Jail

Eight months in jail was the penalty E. J. Edleman of Powers will have to pay for killing a female deer early this week, according to a report filed at the headquarters of the state game commission today. Edleman was warned not to kill a doe while he was hunting but witnesses saw him shoot the deer. Edleman was arrested by F. A. McDaniel, deputy game warden, on the charge of killing a doe and hunting without a license. Following a trial at Powers he was fined $300 and sentenced to 90 days in jail. Since he did not have the money to pay the fine meted out he is serving the entire sentence on time.

New York, Jan. 18.—(U. P.)—Dr. Royal S. Copeland, health commissioner of New York, does not agree that rolled down hose and abbreviated skirts are bad for the modern girl. "Let them keep the habit, if they've got it," said Dr. Copeland. "It's fine and healthy, provided they don't change back and forth."

AD CLUB'S MASK FASCINATING RIOT OF COLOR, MIRTH

A riot of color and a mass of merriment; a strange place where unorthodox creatures unknown even to Mars cavorted and gambled by the side of wingless angels with fairy feet—such was the jinx and masquerade ball of the Ad club at the Multnomah last night. It was a jam, and a scream, with costumes ranging from the beautiful to the grotesque. The grand march was a thing which made the old timer wonder, part of the time, whether he was seeing it again, and part of the time whether he was really dead and surrounded by an angel band.

Many of the advertising conceits worked out in costume by individuals, by couples and by groups were highly original. After the close of the grand march dancing was the order of the evening until the distribution of the prizes at the close and it is needless to say that the big ballroom presented a strange sight, dressed up as it and its occupants were. The Journal, represented by 50 members of the advertising force, won first prize for best advertised firm. The men wore sandwich placards of Journal "green" sheets, extra editions, containing Ad club nonsense, having been published. The girls wore aprons of the "green" paper. All wore newspaper hats with The Journal caption emblazoned across the front. The delegation took the ball by storm when, tooting horns, it swarmed upon the floor in mass formation. The Journal costumes were made by The Art Embroidery & Button company. Ernest Welch won the grand prize for men, $50, for the best advertising costume. Mrs. Tommy Luke was awarded the $20 blouse for having the best woman's costume. More than 60 prizes in cash and merchandise were distributed. The judges were Alfred Parker, J. A. Scott, Roy Burnett, George L. Ransack, W. P. Gibson and Arthur H. Johnston.

EXHIBITORS HERE FOR AUTO SHOW
