

"Simon-Pure" Boxers Put Up Great Exhibitions-Klepper Pleased With Beaver Schedule

Classy Ring Bouts Held By Amateurs

By Earl B. Goodwin
EIGHTEEN boxers and six wrestlers put on one of the most exciting amateur smokers ever held in Portland when mitt-slingers from the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club, Army Athletic Association and the B'nai B'rith Amateur Athletic club and matmen from the Multnomah club and North Pacific Dental college competed in the Army Wednesday night.

A comparatively large crowd was on hand to greet the boys who battle for the love of the game rather than financial gain, and every bout was a main event.

WINS ON MAT
The program opened with the three wrestling bouts, and in each instance one of Coach Thye's "Winged M" stars was victorious. The first bout was won by Frank Gay, who received a 15-minute verdict from A. Moran, while George Selfridge threw Bill Pease in 14 minutes and 26 seconds, and George Wilkins made a clean sweep by throwing C. Daniels in 4 minutes and 20 seconds. Dr. B. F. Loomis refereed the wrestling.

Edie Moore of Multnomah and Ervin Kramer of B'nai B'rith, two 85-pounders, started the boxing end of the show, and these two little youngsters certainly did themselves proud. For three rounds they hung 'em on each other's chins and the crowd was put in a good mood for the other sensational engagements which followed. The bout was a no-decision affair, for decisions are not permitted among boys under 165 pounds.

BLOOMBERG WINS
The Army association won four of the boxing bouts, Multnomah club took three, and Sol Bloomberg scored the only victory credited to the B'nai B'rith club. Practically every bout saw at least one knockout, and each was replete with thrills.

Marion Carson of the Army had more than he bargained for in Joe Blank of the B. B.'s. Joe's name was about the only blank about him, for he carried heavy charges in each hand and he wasn't a bit afraid to stand toe to toe with the 135-pound Northwest lightweight champion. In fact, Joe had the better of the third round, but Carson's shade in the first two rounds gave him the judges' verdict.

Ed Richmond of Multnomah, 145-pound P. N. A. champion, usually adopts a dancing style of battling, but Wednesday night Instructor Thomas A. Loutitt must have told Ed to cross the boys up by going in and walloping his opponent with both hands. Smoky Thompson of the Army was Richmond's adversary and the two of them got to the center of the ring at the same time. Then things did happen. Without sparring around they let go with all the power possible, and before 10 seconds had passed the crowd was on its feet yelling

BOXING Yanks Still Perplexed About Team

By Jack Velock
International News Service Sporting Editor.
NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The lineup the Yanks will put into the field when the 1922 season gets under way is far from settled.

It is a problem that is perplexing Manager Huggins and Owners Ruppert and Huston, it became known today, for they have apparently given up all hope that Ruth or Meusel will be available before May 20, when the suspension against them will terminate.

With two big holes in the outfield defense, the Yanks must patch up the team as best they can, if they expect to get away to a flying start in an effort to repeat their 1921 victory, they will have to have a strong punch, for there will be no less than three capable teams battling them for whatever early advantages may be won in the first month or so of the pennant race.

As a result of their problems, Colonel Ruppert and Huston are out scouting for more players. Colonel Ruppert is now in Chicago, where it is said he is trying to make a dicker of some sort with the White Sox. And Colonel Huston is said to be on his way to the Windy City to join Ruppert. Rumor says that Ruppert is trying to get Outfielder Falk from Comiskey. But it is only rumor.

It is known that the Yankee colonels are still in hopes of grabbing Veach from Boston, but they have not yet made the right offer to Owen. The Yanks want outfielders for another reason. Ruth, 'tis said, wants to play first base next season and insisted that he be given the job. If Huggins humors the big fellow, it is plain to be seen that more fielding talent will be necessary to give the Yanks the proper balance.

NEED FIELD BALANCE
Three rounds of give and take between Louis Roster of Multnomah and Jack Richards of the Army ended in the Winged "M" wearer receiving a deserved decision. Fans of the amateur game figured that Roster didn't have a chance, but Loutitt's protege was there in the pinches, and then some, all but putting Richards away as the bout ended.

For some reason or other the fans did not take kindly to the decision given to Sol Bloomberg of the B. B.'s over Johnny Schaecker of Multnomah. It was close, but non-partisans who looked on felt certain that the judges were right in calling it as they did, although Schaecker was stronger at the finish. The Multnomah youngster was a bit heavier and he kept coming in all the time.

BOYS LOOK GOOD
Jack Colton of B'nai B'rith looks like a comer. He met Joe Samard of the Army, and although the decision was given to Samard, Jack earned the plaudits of the crowd by his willingness to mix. Joe McLoughlin of Multnomah put Dave Matin of the B. B.'s to the canvas three times, but for all that Dave came back and made the Winged "M" boy go at a fast pace throughout. Frank Sullivan was given the decision over Meyer Richenstein, who substituted for Al Hirsch. Meyer certainly was a game youngster and he took all Sullivan had to offer without going down.

Joe Sax refereed, with R. R. Sharp and John H. Connel as the judges. Wednesday's program was the most interesting and wrestling committee of the Multnomah club, arranged the great card, while Jack Routledge, physical director of the B'nai B'rith club, acted as announcer and presented each winner with a trophy.

Summary follows:
BOXING
Edie Moore (M) and Ervin Kramer (BB) fought three rounds to a no-decision. Marion Larson (A) won three-round decision from Joe Blank (BB). Joe McLoughlin (M) won three-round decision from Dave Matin (BB). Ed Richmond (A) won three-round decision from Jack Colton (BB). Sol Bloomberg (BB) won three-round decision from John Schaecker (M). Hank Smith (A) won four-round decision from Ed Richmond (M). Ed Richmond (M) beat Smoky Thompson (A) in one round. Ed Richmond (A) beat Meyer Richenstein (BB) in three rounds. Louis Roster (M) won three-round decision from Jack Richards (A).

WRESTLING
Frank Gay won 15-minute decision from A. Moran. George Selfridge threw Bill Pease in 14 minutes and 26 seconds. George Wilkins threw C. Daniels in 4 minutes and 20 seconds. The wrestling bouts were between Multnomah club and North Pacific Dental college. Multnomah athletes winning them all.

Club Team Working Hard for Idaho Game
Coach George G. Dewey will send his Multnomah Amateur Athletic club basketball players through four workouts this week before he will feel that his "Winged M" tossers are in any shape to meet the University of Idaho quintet in the Multnomah gymnasium next Saturday night.

Two workouts have been held already and the other two are set for tonight and Friday night. The clubmen have been able to get down to their real working form as yet and Coach Dewey believes that the clubmen are in good practice sessions have been held.

Bob Pelouse, former Stanford university football player and captain of the basketball team, will be ready to enter the game Saturday night. The showing made by the "Winged M" athletes in the next two workouts will determine who shall start the match against the Gem Staters. The game is billed to start at 8:30 o'clock, with Harry Fischer as referee.

Cox and Nelson Are Named Golf Captains
Dr. Otis B. Wight, chairman of the handicap committee of the Waverley Country club, has appointed R. T. Cox and C. E. Nelson captains of the old and new members' teams for the annual election day match scheduled for Saturday afternoon. Unless weather conditions improve no match will be played.

FOUR BOUTS SIGNED UP FOR RING CARD TO BE HELD JAN. 24
With the exception of the curtain raiser, the fistie card of the Portland Boxing commission is to be staged Tuesday night, January 24, in the Army, and will be arranged by Harry Hansen, matchmaker.

"Babe" Asher and Danny Edwards will perform in the main event over 10 rounds. "Batling" Ortega, ex-middleweight champion of the Pacific Coast, will meet Jack Davis in the semi-windup. Duffy Knorr will box Weldon Wing and Mike De Pinto will tangle with Ed Farrelly.

Asher left Chicago Wednesday morning and is due in Portland Saturday morning.

Washington Beats Oregon Aggies by One Point, 32 to 31

By W. C. Faraworth
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.
NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—John J. McGraw, baseball's greatest manager, is seriously considering returning to the coaching lines the coming season.

During the pennant fight of the Giants last year the little leader remained on the bench. The year before he seldom went to either first base or to third base, although in two or three tight games he did go out and afforded the fans a chance to give him the well known north and south.

Last spring he announced that henceforth he would be a bench manager strictly. He admitted that it was sure hard work to sit there under cover when the battle on the diamond was raging wildly.

President Stoneham is anxious to see McGraw back on the lines again. "But Mac had better take off a couple of dozen pounds or get a steel ribbed corset in Chicago," where it is said he was closely checked by Richards and failed to score.

Washington halted an Aggie rally in the final moments of the game by close checking. The Vikings led at the end of the first period, 21 to 15, but the O. A. C. players came back strong and just before the end of the game failed to convert a foul, which would have leveled the score.

Lewis starred for the visitors, scoring five field baskets. Getz, who starred in the first game, set away to a flying start and scored eight points in the first half. In the second half he was closely checked by Richards and failed to score.

Washington will play the University of Oregon team Friday and Saturday nights.
Lineups:
Washington, Pos. O. A. C. Lewis (10).....F.....(12) Stinson Froude (2).....G.....(6) Gill in O. A. C. players came back strong and just before the end of the game failed to convert a foul, which would have leveled the score.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS
NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion and politician, says that the simple life as an institution, says he lived in Greenwich Village long before the bob-haired girls and long-haired men began frothing at the mouth in New York's Bohemia and hope to outlast them in his home neighborhood.

Even if Frank Baker decides to return to the Yanks next season, despite reports that he has determined to retire, he will not be certain of winning back his old post at third base. The last word the Yanks received from Baker was that he was rarin' to play ball again, but this was before he married.

However, the Yanks have Mike McNally for the post and he is expected to be slowing up last season, while Mike was approaching perfection, there will be competition at third. Then, also, the Yanks have Glen Killinger, the great Penn State football star and all-around athlete, and Norman McMillan, a strong hitter and fast fielder and base runner, obtained from Rochester of the International League.

Beavers Get Good Sked of Games for '22

By George Berts
PORTLAND has a wonderful schedule of games for the 1922 season," declared William H. Klepper, president of the Beavers, who returned Thursday morning from San Francisco with Fred B. Rivera, secretary of the club.

"The club will not be away from home more than three weeks at any time during the season, nor will it play more than three series at home at a stretch. I think that the schedule is the best ever arranged for Portland."

"No baseball will be played here during Rose Festival week. The carnival week has been a bad one in Portland during the past several years."
In landing the services of Pitcher Levens, Klepper beat Oakland and San Francisco in a bid for his services. Charley Graham of the Seals sought Levens and claims that had the Salt Lake portlander been with the Seals last year they would have won the pennant.

ELLIOTT HAPPY
"Rowdy" Elliott, the peppery catcher of the Sacramento club, was tickled to get on with Portland," said Klepper. "I think Elliott will add offensive and defensive strength to the Beavers. He knows baseball and if he gets down to business he will, with Bruggy, give Portland the best catching staff in the Coast circuit."

The deal for an international league pitcher, which has been pending for over a week, has been called off by Klepper. Scout Turner was of the opinion that this hurler would have been a winner in the Coast league.

As soon as the conditions improve the work of reconstructing the grandstand entrance at the Vaughn street park will be started. Several new turnstiles will be installed and the entrance will be widened.

CHALK UP ONE MORE
Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 19.—(U. P.)—Stantelous Zybasco last night successfully retained his world's heavyweight wrestling crown, throwing William Demetral with a toe hold and body arm lock in one hour and two minutes. The match was one fall to a finish.

JEWSTRAW LEADS SKATERS
St. John, N. B., Jan. 19.—(U. P.)—Charles Jewstraw, Lake Placid, N. Y., led the standing of American and Canadian skating champions today with 50 points, against 30 for Roy McWhittier of Chicago.

YALE WINS HOOFF GAME
New Haven, Conn., Jan. 19.—(U. P.)—Yale won its first basketball game of the season last night, defeating Colgate 21 to 18.

FINAL EXAMINATIONS ON SANDY, JAN. 19.—Final examinations for the first semester of the Union high school here will be given this week. Several students from other districts are expected to enter high school at the beginning of the February term. More new apparatus was added to the physics department this week.

Barnes Winner of California Open Golf Title Honor

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—Jim Barnes, American open golf champion, dethroned Ed Loos, California open champion, in the last 18 holes of the state tournament over the Wilshire Country club course Wednesday. Barnes shot beautiful golf and demonstrated he has all the claim in the world to the titles of California open and national open championships. Barnes' total for the afternoon round was 71 and his total for the 72 holes of play was 292. Loos was second with a total of 294.

John Black and Ernest Martin tied for fourth place with 310 and George Von Elm, youthful Pacific Northwest champion, led the amateurs in the competition with 311.

Barnes and Loos drew the largest gallery of the tournament. Barnes was going his best on the first nine holes with Loos having difficulty getting down his putts. On the last nine holes Loos improved, but could not overcome Barnes' lead.

Troeh Second High In Final Trap Meet

Pinehurst, N. C., Jan. 19.—Frank M. Troeh of Vancouver, Wash., finished second high in Wednesday's 150-yard race in the mid-winter trapshooting tournament here with a score of 146 out of 150 targets. In a 50-yard handicap, Troeh broke 48 from the 22-yard line. He finished the shoot with a total of 427 out of 450 targets.

Frank Hughes won high honors for the three days with a total of 455. W. H. Patterson of Buffalo was second with 434. The Eastern team defeated the Western squad 2149 to 2144.

Even if Frank Baker decides to return to the Yanks next season, despite reports that he has determined to retire, he will not be certain of winning back his old post at third base. The last word the Yanks received from Baker was that he was rarin' to play ball again, but this was before he married.

Then, also, the Yanks have Glen Killinger, the great Penn State football star and all-around athlete, and Norman McMillan, a strong hitter and fast fielder and base runner, obtained from Rochester of the International League.

The members of the famous Washington Jefferson football squad will be honored by their fellow students and many alumni in a celebration at Washington, Pa., the seat of the school, Thursday. There will be many speeches in which it is safe to say, the proud California team will be gently kidded.

Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, is improving his aim by a few rounds of winter golf on the links near his home. Leonard is only a beginner at the game, and does not yet aspire to a championship at this sport, but believes the practice will enable him to dig more divots out of Lew Tender or Rocky Kansas or whoever he fights on February 10.

Charley White, the Chicago lightweight, has arrived in New York to talk business with Tex Rickard as to the chances of getting a fight with Leonard. White won a decision over Johnny Dundee in Boston Monday night, but the referee was so scandalized by what he termed the injustice of the award by the judges that he tore up his license.

Former Sheriff of Benton Is Pardoned
Corvallis, Jan. 19.—Following a petition signed by many prominent residents of the county, ex-Sheriff W. A. Gellatly, convicted nearly two years ago on confession of misuse of public funds while sheriff of Benton county, sentenced to five years in the penitentiary and paroled to his brother, Robert Gellatly of Philomath, has been given a full pardon and his rights of citizenship restored. All funds involved were restored to the county by relatives. Gellatly has been employed here since his conviction and his conduct has been exemplary. The pardon was granted by Judge G. F. Skipworth. Because of conditions, it was unnecessary to take the case before Governor Olcott and the board of pardons.
