

MANN TO ASK FOR ANOTHER CHANGE IN PARKING LAW

Another change in the city traffic ordinance has been suggested by Commissioner John M. Mann and will be presented to the council Wednesday. The amendment prohibits parking on the south half of Jefferson street, between Third and Fourth streets, and on Park and Yamhill streets, near the runways of the Oregon Auto Stage terminal. The prohibition of parking on Jefferson was asked by the Southern Pacific company on the ground that machines parked on that side of the street are in danger of being damaged by the overhang of the big interurban cars. The Yamhill and Park street clause prevents parking between Yamhill and Park on Park street and between Park and Broadway on Yamhill street. This is to be done to facilitate operation of the auto stages leaving the terminal. The ordinance also prohibits parking on the bridges across the Willamette river and their approaches. It prohibits parking in Ankeny street, between Park and Broadway, and between Sixth street and the Willamette river.

BIDS FOR NINE MUNICIPAL PROJECT ASKED BY AUDITOR

Bids for nine projects, one sewer and eight street improvements, were asked for this morning by George R. Funk, city auditor. The bids will be opened by the auditor at 10 o'clock on the morning of February 1. The street improvements for which bids are requested are: Wick street from Bryant to Buffalo street, Wygant street from Delaware to Gay street, East Third-fifth street from Hawthorne avenue to Belmont street, Halsey street from East Third street to Union avenue, East Twenty-second street from Burnside to Couch street, East Eighty-seventh street from Gilliam street to East Third street, and East Thirty-ninth street from Woodward avenue to Division street. The sewer construction project is for the sewer in Junior street, between East Thirtieth and Twenty-second street.

STREET AND SEWER WORK FOR YEAR COST $2,710,744

Street and sewer construction for the fiscal year ending November 30 cost $2,710,744, according to the annual report filed this morning by R. E. Kravens, chief of the bureau of construction. The number of miles of work done was 27.38. The amount of work done during the year added to that already expended, makes the cumulative cost of street and sewer work done in the city since 1886 total $44,716,593. The total mileage is 44.49. Street extension proceedings were carried out that added 6.39 miles of street to the city during the year. This was done at a cost of $16,250.32.

Boardman Merchant Wins Insurance on Store After Fight

Though William Haskins once confessed to burning his store at Boardman, Or., March 20, 1920, he was freed when he stood trial on the charge of arson, and he capped the disaster by securing a verdict in Circuit Judge Stapleton's court Monday for $2500 insurance money from the Liverpool, London & Globe Insurance company. Haskins had assigned his right to the insurance to the adjustment bureau of the Portland Association of Credit Men, which prosecuted the case for him. Besides the $2500, the verdict included $225 for attorneys' fees. According to Haskins' testimony, he was badgered into making the original confession that he set fire to the Boardman store. Tom Garland, who represented him in the arson trial and secured the verdict of not guilty, also represented him in the present civil case. John Cotler was counsel for the insurance company.

Railroads Improved Under U. S. Control, Says W. D. Hines

Washington, Jan. 24. — (L. N. S.) — Walker D. Hines, former director-general of railroads, unequivocally denied today that the nation's railroads were "broken down" when the government turned them back to private ownership in 1918. Hines declared before the senate interstate commerce committee that, on the contrary, government control had resulted in improved equipment, better morals and more all round efficiency. "They were in much better shape when returned than when the government took them over," Hines said.

Work Is Begun on Gardeners - Ranchers New Market Building

Wrecking operations were begun Monday on the old frame structures occupying the site of the proposed fireproofing the site of the proposed fireproofing wholesale market building of the Gardeners and Ranchers' association on the block bounded by East Third, Main and Madison streets and Union avenue. The buildings being wrecked were erected by the association 15 years ago at a cost of approximately $30,000 and the 200 by 200 foot block purchased by the association in 1906 for $10,000 is now valued at $80,000. The first shoveling of earth for the new market was turned Saturday. The building will be of reinforced concrete construction, two stories in height with basement. Retail stores will occupy the Union avenue front and the balance of the space will be used for storage and for wholesale marketing purposes. Cost of the building is estimated at $225,000. Plans were prepared by W. W. Lucius and construction work is in charge of Robert Paysee. Ex-servicemen and heads of families will be given preference in employment for wrecking and construction work, according to Joe Flighin, manager of the Gardeners and Ranchers' association.

Suicide Daughter of Pioneer Lumberman; Estate Share Lost

Aberdeen, Wash., Jan. 24.—Mrs. Fern L. Sherwood, who committed suicide in New York, was the only daughter of the late Captain J. M. Weatherwax, pioneer lumberman here, who left a large fortune in which she shared. Cliff M. Weatherwax, lumberman of this city and San Francisco, whose wife figured recently in a sensational arrest in Portland, is a brother. Mrs. Sherwood's marriage here years ago was a brilliant social affair but was followed 11 years ago by a divorce. After her divorce she became a Christian Science healer. Much of her fortune left her, it is understood here, was dissipated by bad investments. Mark Sherwood, her divorced husband, was prominent here in lumber circles and in city affairs. He now lives in San Francisco.

Our Inventory Woke Us Up!

When this store finished with its inventory after the first of the year we found ourselves with at least $60,000 more stock than we should have. That's SHOES enough for a lot of people! We'll NEVER get that sixty thousand back, either. I'm ordered to SELL that many shoes out of the stock, but the store will lose a couple of years' profit while I'm doing it, because there are THOUSANDS OF PAIRS marked to go for only a fraction of their original cost.

Women's $4.00 to $10.00 Pumps and Oxfords $1.60

Women's $5.00 to $10.00 Shoes $1.90
