HOLDERS OFFERING CEREAL TRADING HONEY AT A CUT

By Hymen H. Oghen Honey market is sliding. For the first time this season there appears to be a general tendency toward lower values. Not only are wholeoranges at least.

Celery and lettues are also advancing in price but the quality of both products is excellent.

Salera, who made bigh priced purchases at the start of thesesson, quite willing to take their losses and are making a determined effort to clean up before spring, but there is more of a tendency to sell among beckespers.

MAY AFFECT PRICE OF EGGS

La Grande, Jan. 25.—Soaring egg prices will result from the below-zero weather of last week, the Eastern Oregon Poultry Producers' association anneunced today. Fozen combs, due to being unprepared for such a drop in temperature, has resulted in the hens going on a strike, and some producers are reporting less than 10 per cent the production of eggs just before the frost. One farmer was getting 160 per day and now gets only from 10 to 14, while others
ruport that they are obtaining only 25 per cent of the normal yield.

STOCK HAS WINTERED WELL IN SILVER LAKE REGION Silver Lake, Or., Jan. 25.—Tonight a mild chinook wind is blowing, which relieves this part of Oregon from a cold snap of two weeks duration. The thermometer has registered from zero to 26 degrees below. The excessive cold snap has worked but little hardship on any of the stock, as nearly every one has had plenty of feed for all their cattle, sheep and horses. There has been very little snowfall, but during November there was an excess over normal rainfall, and everything points to a good crop next summer. IN SILVER LAKE REGION POTATOES ALONG THE COAST

FILIPINO CREWS DISPLACE CHINESE ON U. S. VESSELS

Manila, P. I., Jan. 25.—(U. P.)—Despite their demands for higher pay, Filipino crews are supplanting Chinese on American ships bound for Hongkong. This is said to be mainly due to the fact that the ship operators have been unable to obtain bonds protecting them against the arrest of the Chinese crews for smuggling, in which 33 on one ship were recently involved.

lated into action, a pool will be formed for the purchase of vessels, and the shipping business of the Pacific will be apportioned in such a way as to eliminate ruinous competition between the ports.

Chairman Lasker referred to the combination as the "Big Pacific company." He said he had been advised that the preliminary conferences held on the ceast had been a pronounced success. All of the ports have indorsed the project except Portland. cept Portland.

The project was originally suggest by Mr. Lasker and approved by Predent Harding.

Pilots Protest on Suggested Closing Of Cape Lighthouse

Astoria, Jan. 25,-Indicating the possibility that the lighthouse on Cape Disappointment the entrance of the Columbia may be abandoned, Robert Columbia may be abandoned. Robert Warrack, superintendent of this light-house district, has written Columbia pilots, requesting their opinion as to the value of the present navigation aid. The pilots are unanimous in their declaration that the lighthouse should be maintained, averring that is is of utmost importance to vessels entering and leaving the river.

So strong is the protest being framed in reply to the officials' request that the pilots declare "if vessels are to sate pilots declare "if vessels are and leave the Columbia river the Cape Disappointment li must remain
