

'STYLE SHOW' OF AUTO DISPLAY IS FEATURE TONIGHT

The attendance record set by the annual automobile show at The Auditorium on the opening day is expected to be broken tonight with a "society night" and style show on the program. Two performances of the style show will be given, one at 8:15 p. m. and one at 9:30 p. m. Models will appear on a runway near the center of The Auditorium. Latest styles of gowns and wraps will be shown, as well as bathing costumes. Miss Dorothy Cornish, Miss Anita Bell Austin and Miss Maxine Rankin will present a dancing act. A draping exhibition is also on the program, which is in charge of Miss Alva May Brown.

URGENT STATE ORGANIZATION

Oregon automobile dealers, in convention in the Portland Press clubrooms Wednesday, launched a movement which is expected to result in the formation of an inclusive state organization that will embrace all elements of the automobile industry in Oregon. The meeting had been called for the purpose of reorganizing the Oregon Automobile Dealers' association, with Homer Ross, president of that body, in the chair. Among the speakers were President Titus of the Washington Automobile Traders association; William A. Simonds, secretary of the organization, and Kenneth McAlpin, president of the Seattle Automobile Traders association.

The chair was authorized to appoint a committee of six to confer with officers of the Portland Automobile Dealers' association and the Portland Automobile Traders association to plan the inclusion of all factors of the industry in state organization.

BANQUET AT BENSON

At the banquet at the Benson hotel Wednesday night, the second event of the day, the proposal for a state association of automobile men was discussed further. Another subject considered was the problem of automobile taxation, which was reviewed by H. W. Roberts and C. L. Ross, Portland dealers, who maintained that under the present plan the automobile is paying a higher tax than any other property, and that the used car, the "poor man's car," should not be obliged to pay the same tax as the new car, as it does now.

WOULD CURB LEGISLATION

Other speakers at the banquet included Mayor Gates of Medford, H. M. Covey of Portland, James Findlater of San Francisco, Howard Ross of McMinnville, L. E. Titus of Centralia and W. A. Simonds and Kenneth McAlpin of Seattle. These speakers urged the necessity of action to curb legislation considered unfair to the automobile industry. Ticket windows at The Auditorium were seriously jammed Wednesday night and the management was obliged to open additional windows to expedite sales. The same arrangement will be continued for the rest of the week.

Elks Willed Antlers By Late Watt Shipp

Salem, Jan. 26.—Twelve magnificent elk antlers, owned by the late Watt Shipp, prominent Salem business man, who died in a Portland hospital last week following an operation, have been willed to Salem lodge No. 286, E. P. O. E. The Shipp estate is valued at $50,000, of which $25,000 is in Marion county and $25,000 is represented by timber holdings throughout the state.

THREE GET SUMMER POSTS

University of Oregon, Eugene, Jan. 26. Dr. James H. Gilbert, head of the department of economics; Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism, and Miss Grace Edgington, assistant professor of rhetoric, will be members of the summer session faculty at the University of California summer school.

FESTIVITIES CUT FAVORED

University of Oregon, Eugene, Jan. 26. Sentiment for and against Junior Week-end is being sounded out by the Oregon Daily Emerald, official student publication. In interviews, Modification is favored, but abolishment of the traditional festivities is generally opposed.

Automobile bodies can be given the appearance of leather with a new fabric to be cemented to the metal.
