representing the armed authority of the United States in carrying out the terms of certain agreements between European countries, under the Versailles treaty. America has not even accepted that treaty. On the other hand, the senate of the United States rejected it.

break the motor travel link between the two great regions east and west of the Cascade mountains. It cut off one of the most important industrial arteries of the Northwest, besides bringing to a halt tourist travel which persisted even in the face of the storm.

VERNE HARDIN PORTER Very Much at Your Service as Magazine Editor at an Exceptionally Early Age... The subject of the attached sketch was a reporter on the staff of The Oregon Journal...

Letters From The People... SMALL CHANGE... SIDLIGHTS... COMMENT AND NEWS IN BRIEF... THE OREGON COUNTY... The Redmond union high school, recently completed, was formally opened last Friday.

Plutocracy Denounced... The worst part about a national housing conference is that it will be as long getting out our way as the effects of the peace conference.

More or Less Personal... Random Observations About Town... E. H. Collis, secretary of the Alaska club of Alaska and one of the hardest working sportsmen in the club, is just in receipt of a telegram from Scott C. Bone, governor of Alaska, dated at Juneau, which reads as follows:

WASHINGTON... Three logging and lumbering mills in the Beilleville district, operating operations this week, putting more than 100 men to work.

THEIR OFFICE BOY?... SEVEN HUNDRED PER CENT... A PORT that records a 100 per cent gain in a decade is warranted proud of the record.

Footbal and mathematics will be put on a par in the University of Kansas next fall. All freshmen, unless physically unfit, will be required to turn out. Lagging interest in the sport is given as reason for the order.

BABIES OR BIRDS?... AN EIGHTY-FIVE thousand acre irrigation project is partly held up by the controversy over the so-called Malheur Lake bird reserve.
