BARBUR WILL ASK NEW PAVEMENT ON FLANDERS STREET

Authority to reconstruct the pavement in Flanders street, from Second to Sixteenth street, will be asked of the city council, A. L. Barbur, commissioner of public works, said this morning. Increased cost makes it more expen sive to maintain pavement than to build situation he is preparing a resolution authorizing the city engineer to draw plans for the proposed reconstruction. The pavement, laid in 1904 by the Warren Construction company, has broken down on both sides of the railroad tracks, City Engineer Laurgaard The cost of upkeep for the year 1921 was 7 cents per square yard, which he points out as excessive.

The proposed reconstruction calls for complete rebuilding of the street surface and base from the center line to the quarter lines, which are located feet on each side of the outside line of the car tracks. In this section the chief engineer proposes to tear out all the paving and put in new paving from the base to the top surface. The street outside of the quarter lines will be resurfaced by skin-patching Laurgaard said.
