

NICHOLS PUT ON TRIAL AT VALE ON MURDER CHARGE

Vale, Feb. 1.—A jury was quickly obtained Tuesday for the trial of Archie Nichols, Dufur, charged with the murder of William P. Hicks, poolroom proprietor of Jordan Valley, on December 5. Five out of the first six talesmen examined were accepted. The state and defense exercised three challenges each, and three were excused for cause. The jury accepted is composed of L. Adam, Guy Johnson, J. O. Vines, Jay Gould, Frank T. Aker, John C. McConnell, S. D. Gossard, J. W. Westfall, C. C. Bradley, P. L. Farber, Charles A. Johnson and E. L. Sismore.

The opening statements of District Attorney Lytle and J. W. McCulloch, attorney for the defense, were simply re-statements of the two versions of the drunken brawl during which Hicks was shot. The details recounted were practically the same as to the time of the shooting.

District Attorney Lytle stated the evidence of the state would show that Nichols shot Hicks while Hicks and Mills were fighting on the floor. The evidence of the defense would show, stated McCulloch, that Hicks was wounded by his own gun in his own hand, which was discharged as he and Mills fell struggling to the floor of the cellar. The attorney for the defense also stated the evidence would show that Hicks conducted a blind pig and gambling game in the cellar and that the whole crowd was drunk on the night of the shooting.

Two former associate judges oppose each other as associated counsel, George E. Davis of Vale assisting the prosecution and K. I. Perky and W. H. Langrains of Boise acting as assistants to J. W. McCulloch for the defendant. Dr. Walter W. Jones of Jordan Valley, the first witness called by the state, was the center of a lively tilt between counsel. He testified that the bullet entered under the right arm, passed through the liver and ranging slightly upward, passed out through the left breast. Counsel for the defense attempted to establish the position from which the bullet had been fired to make the wound described by Dr. Jones. The prosecution successfully objected to the testimony and attempted to dismiss Dr. Jones from further testimony in the case. Judge Biggs retained the witness upon request of the defense.

Meet Newcomers as Men, Dodson Tells Ashland Gathering

Ashland, Feb. 1.—W. D. D. Dodson, manager of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, was honor guest of the local chamber at luncheon Tuesday and made a rousing talk on "The Resources of Oregon."

"We have got to welcome the strangers and tourists in a man-to-man fashion," he said. "We have got to have" experts to greet the homeseekers and point out just how our irrigated lands are to be handled and not pitch them into irrigated sections and leave them to make a living, or starve, as best they can. Oregon's climate is more attractive to the homeseeker than that of California because of the seasons; one tires of monotony of climate."

He dwelt on the importance of the entire state working in teamwork through the chamber of commerce and provoked considerable amusement by saying that all secretaries of chambers of commerce should label themselves, "I am the goat; kick me when you have a kick coming."

Distributors Quit So Milk War Ends

Astoria, Feb. 1.—Astoria's milk war, which resulted in a cut to 8 from 12 cents a quart, effective today, came to an abrupt end Tuesday, when the distributors capitulated and cancelled the cut of 60 cents per 100 pounds in their price to the producers. Rather than accept the cut announced in the wholesale price of milk, the producers had banded together, planned to do their own distributing and announced a retail price of 8 cents a quart. It was this action which resulted in the surrender by the distributors.

STREET CAR FARES AT ASTORIA RAISED

Salem, Feb. 1.—Holding that the Pacific Power & Light company has made a showing that its operating revenues are not sufficient, the Oregon public service commission Tuesday removed the suspension against the increased street car fare tariff filed some months ago by the company.

The increased fares will become effective Monday. Cash fares will be 7 cents, 50-cent tickets $1, at the rate of 6 cents a fare, and 40-cent school pupils' books $1.75. The present fare is 5 cents.

The commission retains jurisdiction, making a reduction possible at any time, and is to be furnished operating statistics by the company that a change may be made when justified.

Rockefeller Plant Sacked by Thieves

Roseburg, Feb. 1.—Thieves broke into the Standard Oil plant at Edenbower Monday night, obtaining tools valued at $10 and $10 worth of stamps. Entrance was made by tearing boards off the rear of the building. The desks in the office were damaged by being pried open with an ax.

One Woman Out of Five Consents to Service on Jury

The Dalles, Feb. 1.—Of the five women drawn in the first panel of $1 for jury service in the circuit court here, three flatly refused, one said she was considering the idea, and the fifth agreed to serve, according to Sheriff Levi Christman Tuesday, after he had finished serving the summons.

Mrs. Francis L. Manchester of The Dalles, who has been prominent in W. C. T. U. work and other activities, will serve, she said. Miss Minnie O. Wynn, also of this city, may serve, she announced. The others, however, insisted on exercising their exemption privileges.

WOMEN WILL DECLINE

La Grande, Feb. 1.—Union county women are not in favor of jury duty, judging from the result of the February panel of jurors in circuit court. Three women, Mrs. Agnes Paddock of Union, and Mrs. Ebel Parsons and Mrs. Della Mahaffey of La Grande, were drawn on the panel and all three refuse to serve.

Woodburn, Feb. 1.—George Cotton, 16, who says he doesn't know whether his home is in Seattle or Portland, is held here by Chief of Police Covey awaiting instructions from the authorities of Portland. With three young companions, each with pockets bulging with cigars, he arrived from Portland Monday night on a freight train.
