College Football Scandal May Take in Eastern Teams: Benjamin Meets Dundee Tonight

Hoover Says Real Probe Isn't on Yet

By Alexander F. Jones United News Staff Correspondent "HICAGO, Feb. 3.—The young man 4 who tossed the can of TNT in the Balkans in 1914 and messed up the greater part of the world has little, if anything, on one Grover Hoover, who sells calico, and coaches professional football in the village of Taylorville, Ill. The little game he staged at Taylor-ville on November 27, in which his team was composed of University of Illinois players, and Carlinville, the enemy, of Dame stars, now threatens to shake the seismographs of purity off the drums of college athletics. Hoover said that if the University of Illinois suspended the nine players he would blow up the entire conference with a few side attacks on Eastern and Far Western colleges. He insisted that foot-ball coaches all over the country, and faculty committees, knew their men were professionals, and, far from frownthey welcomed the boys in and helped them keep their secret, RICKED OUT
