COLUSA, LUMBER LADEN, LEAVES FOR SOUTH AMERICA

W. R. Grace & Co. cleared through the custom house Monday the steamship Coca. She had on board part cargo laden on Puget Sound. From Portland the Columa carried 1,145,000 feet of lumber, valued at $22,500, and 201 reels of news print valued at $1715. She also has a small parcel of plunder for various West Coast ports.

Inbound from the Orient the Japanes steamship Horaisan Maru of the Mitsul fne, entered with a miscellaneous cargo of approximately 1600 tons. From Taku the Horaisan Maru brought 7378 bags of linseed, 1000 bags of peanuts, 106 bales of cotton waste and 800 cases of walnut meats.

From Kobe the vessel brought 6200 bags of shelled peanuts, 800 bags of unshelled peaguts, 187 cases of arsenic and curios. The Horaisan Maru will finish discharging at Albers' dock today and proceed to Scattle where she will dis-charge 1200 tons of inbound cargo. In the eastbound voyage she first touched at San Francisco with part cargo.

HANGINGS CALLED VIGILANTE STOPS

their comrades as actual experiences his star. Every few moments a balmy with pride at his newly acquired piece of hardware, bearing the word "Vigilante," pinned to his vest. Suddenly his meditation on the good things of life was interrupted. A group of curious people, craning their necks to see over their fellows, was riveting attention to some sort of an attraction in shoe store doorway. "I conscientiously believe that the Stepping up, Hoffman saw that a combat was in progress. Two young women he found, that would do justice to a pair of slapstick comediennes. Edging his way in the crowd Hoffman announced "Ahem. Ahem. I am an officer." He laid a stern hand on one of the ontestants. At this stage, he says, omebody bit his finger. He had not succeeded in restoring or der when Patrolmen Johnson and Chauvin happened along. The women were separated. After hearing the women's stories they turned to the vigilante. "Well, who are you?"

Hoffman showed his shining plate But it must be remembered that the special stars had just been issued Monday night and neither one of the patrolmer had seen such a symbol of authority "Well," finally hedged the diplomatic "you're the complaining witthe sergeant."

Hoffman went along and told his story at police headquarters. The women who gave opportunity for his rapid rise to fame gave their names as Mrs. Margaret Murray and Mrs. Jean Dellegar. Mrs. Dellegar accused her opponent of alluring Mr. Dellegar. Both were charged with disorderly conduct.

Third Chinese Is Held as Suspect In Narcotics Ring

Jo Wa Lee, said to be the third man wanted in the $36,250 narcotic raid by federal agents two weeks age, was arrested Monday night by federal narcotic inspectors and lodged in the county jail in default of $5000 bond. The agents say they purchased the drugs from three Chinese in a restaurant across the street from the police station. Two of the men. So Hoo and Chin Chung, were arrested at the time but the other, believed to be Jo Wa Lee, escaped.

Bail was set at $5000 on So Hoo and Chin Shung. So Hoo raised his bond and was released, but when it was learned he had gone to Seattle he was rearrested and his bond raised by Federal Judge Wolverton to $10,000, which he was unable to give. United States Commissioner Frazer said this morning that counsel for the An All-Night Seige said this morning that counsel for the six Chinese charged Saturday with operating a still at 62 Second street, has ating a still at 62 Second street, has charged Jo Wa Lee with being the real owner of the still. All the evidence in both the narcotic and liquor cases will be presented to the grand jury next

The narcotic agents also arrested La quantity of morphine and cocaine. He is in the county jail in default of $1000
