You, too, Can Win $5

Every week some Journal advertiser writes a letter and wins a $5.00 cash prize, and some other one wins a second prize of $2.50. You can win a JOURNAL CASH PRIZE, too.

READ THE RULES

This week's first prize of $5.00 goes to Mrs. H. Chandler, whose JOURNAL WANT AD sold a baby carriage for her.

Here Is Her Letter

The second cash prize of $2.50 goes this week to Mrs. R. F. Smith of 753 E. Main St., who made $350 in two hours by running a twenty cent want ad in THE JOURNAL.

This Is What She Says:

Manager Classified Ads, Oregon Journal, City.

Dear Sir: "It pays to advertise" in The Journal. I have given the ad section several trials, and each trial brought satisfactory results.

Sunday I advertised my baby carriage for sale, and the first person that answered the ad took it.

OREGON JOURNAL first, last and all the time for me.

MRS. H. CHANDLER.

Portland, Ore. Jan. 31, 1922.

Oregon Journal.

Gentlemen: I want to prove to the public that The Journal want ads bring the best results.

I put an ad in The Sunday Journal about some furniture I had for sale. The first call came at 8:30 a. m. and by 10:30 I had sold my furniture.

So for 20 cents I made $350 in about two hours through one Journal want ad. I had calls all day.

The ad was in two other papers, but I can always depend upon The Journal for quick results. MRS. R. F. SMITH, 753 E. Main St.

RULES

Simply tell in your own words what JOURNAL WANT ADS have done for you. Make your letter short and to the point. Literary ability not necessary. The prize winning letters will be published in the classified columns of The Journal every Sunday, but not necessarily in the order in which they are received. Address your letter to the Classified Advertising Department of THE IOURNAL. Write your name and address plainly.
