

Californians Hod Sway in Cincinnati Lineup : Louttits Protege Is Star of Tournament

Pacific Coast Products Make Up Red Infield

By John R. Foster
(Copyright, 1922, by The Journal)

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Don't overlook the unusual infield that Cincinnati will put on the diamond for 1922. It is nearly an all-Pacific coast infield. All that is needed to make it all-California is the first baseman, but it doesn't appear likely that Daubert will be demoted this season. He isn't quite as sure of his legs as he was three or four years ago but they stand a better chance to carry him through than the legs of any bushier likely to replace him.

Bohne at second base is a Pacific coast product. Why he came East it was said that he wouldn't make good, but his record for 1921 will compare quite favorably with that of some other ballplayers who have tried the big circuit for the first time. He fielded with some skill and batted with some assurance.

Claveney, who plays short for Cincinnati this year, is a product of San Francisco. He was a member of the infield of the Seals in 1921 and fans out on the coast thought it was one of the most chippy infields that the Pacific coast ever had. He has been up to the major league dining table before but did not last year. This time he expects to see it through, right down to the finger-tips.

PINELLI BACK
Pinelli, who will play third base for Cincinnati, played third base for Oakland, Cal., in 1921. Detroit had Pinelli once and let him go to Oakland because he had a red temper and his fiery nature mixed him up too much with ground hits. He couldn't get himself separated in time to throw the runner out. Pinelli says he is going to stick it to him to have some furniture glue to fasten him to the Reds' diamond.

Wherever the Cincinnati play and wherever they play this coming summer the fans will be yelling "Oh, you Californian!" especially if the infield from the coast doesn't infield as it should in pinches. It is something of an experiment to import Class AA infield into major league company and try to get away with it. Pat Moran, the Cincinnati manager, has got away with so much of that sort of thing in baseball that those who were first disposed to criticize him for pinning his faith to the California crowd and spending his money to get players, said by other managers to be "just ordinary," are wondering whether he may not have something pretty good after all.

The point made is that a high class minor league infield, which tries hard and works eight hours a day may be as successful as some of the older ballplayers left in the National league who won't work any harder than they have to.

SOME PEACHES
It is the first time in the history of major league baseball that a team of the up and uppers has had the temerity to start the season with California peaches. If they turn out to be prize Moran will be the built of the critics, but the California clubs which let the players go will have the money anyhow.

The Cincinnati manager has been fooling around picking them up here and there until he will either have a surprisingly successful team or he will relapse to a condition of mediocrity, which will put the Reds out of the running by the latter part of June.

If his infield is as fast all around as Bohne proved to be as an individual in 1921, the Reds may get into the first division with Scott helping them out in the pitchers' pen and Burns certainly maintaining the quality of their outfield. Again it is asserted that Roush will not be permitted to get away from Cincinnati. In other words that he must sign a contract with the Reds or not play ball. If both Roush and Burns

BOXING

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 28.—(U. P.)—The Bill Brennan-Al Benedict fight scheduled for here last night has been postponed for at least three weeks. Brennan asked that the fight be postponed, as he has contracted blood poisoning in his left arm.

Results of Monday night's fights: New York—Dave Rosenberg won decision from Marty Cross in 12 rounds. Cincinnati — Dave Shade, California, boxed a 10-round draw with Billy Ryan, Cincinnati. Both welterweights.

Washington Beats Oregon Grapplers
University of Oregon, Eugene, Feb. 28.—Taking every round, the Viking wrestlers from Seattle defeated the Oregon grapplers 36-0 in a fast series of bouts, Monday afternoon. Berry, Washington, defeated Kirk, Oregon, by taking two decisions in the 125 pound class; McKinley, Kirtley of Oregon and took one decision in the 145 pound class; Gale got two decisions over Whitcomb of Oregon in the 156 pound group; Davis beat Winnard, Oregon, by a decision and fall in the light heavies; Campbell took the count from Crumb, Washington, by a decision and fall in the heavies.

were in the same outfield, Cincinnati would have two players working side by side who couldn't be equaled by any other team in the National league. Even Pittsburgh wouldn't match up to them.

HUGGINS CONFIDENT
With the other troubles which have beset them the Yankees do not wish to begin the season with any holdouts and it is not likely they will. Miller Huggins will visit his players in person to talk over the question of differences in salary and when he has finished he is confident that he will have everybody in line for the beginning of the season.

The task of winning a championship is not going to be so easy in the American league this year that any club can figure it a runaway affair. That little matter will be demonstrated more and more clearly as time begins to travel after April 12.

Bud Stengel Pleases Fans In His Work

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 28.—With all the Pacific Northwest association boxing and wrestling championships for 1922 settled and the victors safe in their homes, fans who witnessed the annual events under the auspices of the Spokane Amateur Athletic club here last Friday and Saturday are still talking about the show.

It was one of the most successful amateur tournaments ever conducted in these parts, and, save for two or three decisions by the judges, everything was run off in ship-shape.

Local enthusiasts have been discussing the abilities of the various milt-slingers who appeared here, and, from all accounts, Bud Stengel, the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club athlete, who won the 129-pound title, displayed the best all-around class of any boxer in any class of the tourney.

Another Portland boxer who deserved a lot of credit for his showing, although he did not win a championship, is Seel Blooming of the B'nai B'rith club. He was entered in two classes, and of them was against Bud Stengel. It was a four-round engagement, Stengel getting the call and winning the 120-pound title. Immediately following this bout he went into the 115-pound class and lost out by a narrow margin. It looked as if he was tired out because of his efforts against Stengel, otherwise the B. B. "clopper" would have been victorious.

THE Franklin high school basketball team defeated the James-John high school representatives on the Washington high school floor Monday by a 22 to 7 score. The victory gives Franklin a firm hold on third place in the league standings.

The game started as if it was to be closely contested. In the first five minutes of play neither team could register a field basket. Slade, Franklin forward, shot the first field basket of the game. Bauer of the Saints came right back and tossed a basket, tying the count. Kelly, the Quaker's guard, registered a basket followed closely by Thomas and Hobson, putting Franklin into a substantial lead, which he held throughout the remainder of the contest.

Slade, Scallon and Kelly played best for Coach Meek's crew while Llewellyn and Robertson were the brightest lights of the St. Johns aggregation. The line-up:

RIFLE SHOOT ANNOUNCED
Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Feb. 28.—Motor transport units of the University of Iowa and the college will meet in a small bore rifle competition March 2, 3 and 4. Six men will shoot on each team with the five highest scores counting on the record. National Rifle association targets will be used and certified range officers will supervise the contest. Results of the match are to be mailed.

BASKETBALL

MANAGER LARRY SMITH of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club intermediates was forced to call off the game with the B'nai B'rith Intermediates because of illness in the "Winged M" ranks. The contest was billed as a preliminary to the B. B.-McClintock college engagement in the B'nai B'rith gymnasium Wednesday night. The B'nai B'rith Intermediates have signed up the Sellwood Athletic club, and the game will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Members of the B'nai B'rith Athletic club are quite indignant over the treatment accorded the Intermediates against the Arleta Athletic club hoopers in the Franklin high gymnasium Sunday afternoon. The Intermediates won out by a 21-11 point margin, and it was reported that they flew after the matinee.

Newberg, Feb. 28.—Great excitement prevails here over the annual basketball game scheduled Tuesday night between Newberg and its old rival, McMinnville. Newberg high has lost but a single game in nine playing, while "Mac" has a clean slate having, however, played but about half the number within the conference. The winner of this contest will be entitled to enter the state championship games.

B. Rutherford, head of the faculty hoopers here. Coach Bohler is expected to head the team from Oregon.

Aggies Outclass Cougar Hoopers For 32-19 Score

PULLMAN, Wash., Feb. 28.—In a fast and cleanly played game the O. A. C. basketball team defeated the Cougar quintet by a score 32 to 19 here last night. The Beavers of the B'nai B'rith club, of the series by superior playing and accurate shooting. The Cougars lost because they could not penetrate the Aggie's defense nor cope with their fast and shifty offense. O. A. C. showed remarkable skill in dribbling, often advancing the ball the entire length of the floor without passing but scoring.

From the start of the game the Beavers took the lead and though Washington State made a strong spurt in the second half they were unable to overcome the lead that the Beavers made in the first half. First half ended with a score 19 to 5. Hjelte, the tanky O. A. C. center, together with A. Gill, repeatedly broke through the Cougar defense. Hjelte scored six field goals and A. G. made three. Clina starred for W. S. C., making four field goals, if O. A. C.—32. 19—W. S. C.

SKATING PARTY SCHEDULED
Ridgefield, Wash., Feb. 28.—The athletic committee of the Ridgefield community church will give a benefit roller skating party tonight. All receipts will go toward the defraying of the expenses of athletic equipment for the community gymnasium at the church. The Ridgefield brass band, under direction of Bradford L. Gauke, supervisor of music at the high school here, will furnish music.

Penn's Milers To Be Highly Trained For Coming Relays

By Walter Camp
(Copyright, 1922, by The Journal)

PENNSYLVANIA will devote a lot of attention to the training of her milers this spring. The athletic authorities have finally decided on the character of the relay team they will send to compete against Oxford and Cambridge on April 8 and fix on the four-mile relay as offering their best opportunity. The string of milers Captain Brown will lead across the water, probably will consist of himself, Meredith, Holden, Head and McLoe.

Great things are predicted for W. A. Corbins, the new freshman sprinter from Yale, as a result of the showing he made at Newberg in training over the next two weeks. Corbins defeated a lot of high-class competitors in Wefers, McAllister and Schois. At prep school Corbins was the man who accounted for Butch him now that he has gone in for the sprints. He has a great drive and gets his stride quickly off the mark.

The decision of Cyril Tolley and Roger Wethered, the British amateur golfers, to compete this year in the United States amateur championship to be held at Brookline, Mass., is welcome news. Tolley, it will be remembered, is the man who finally put Bob Gardner and the British into the United States in the final round in 1920 in a match that went to the thirty-seventh green before it was decided. And Gardner was the blow real golf when he made his British invasion that year. Later that same year Tolley came to the United States and played in our amateur championship held at the Engineers' club course on Long Island and was soundly beaten. When the American golfers went over to Great Britain last summer, however, Tolley was the man who accounted for Jesse Guilford in the amateur championship in a match when the English won 2 up and 2 to play. He also defeated Chick Evans in the international team match 4 up and 3 to play. The Brooklyn course will suit Tolley's golfing style much better than did the Engineers' course in 1920.

Graduates of Leland Stanford university here declare there is no possibility of that institution sending a crew to compete against Eastern oarsmen this season. That decision was reached; they report, when it was decided to erect a 100,000 basket pavilion at Palo Alto. That project left no funds available to finance an Eastern invasion by a Stanford crew. California, however, has been preparing vigorously for the coming season.

Wisconsin is hard at work at the rowing machines, but it will be difficult to determine just how the material will shape up until the men are boated. The idea being to train in the fall, but the idea of prospects at Cornell. It is sure, however, that strenuous measures are being put into effect at Ithaca, for that rowing material is being trained by Cornell finished at Poughkeepsie last year.

TRAPSHOOTING
Too much snow caused Manager O. N. Ford to postpone the registered shoot scheduled for the Jenne station grounds of the Portland Gun club last Sunday. As it was, 35 shooters were on hand and some good scores were turned out in the 50-third practice event. The scores:

Class A, 50—J. L. Stafford, 47; J. B. Troeh, 46; M. A. Rickard, 45; C. B. Prescott, 43; H. C. Holahan, 41; W. J. Leger, 41; C. H. Colburn, 40; Jim Morris, 38; E. G. Hawman, 38; A. L. Zachrisson, 37; Bloom, 41; H. O. Brown, 41.

Class C—L. D. Broadhead, 36; Dr. Ireland, 35; Dr. R. V. Leap, 34; Lloyd Bates, 33; W. J. Leger, 31; J. Bamford, 30; N. W. Montgomery, 30.

Professionals—Holahan, 48; Ed. Morris, 47; W. C. Block, 45.

Vancouver, Wash., Feb. 28.—Clay Sparks was high man at the trap shoot yesterday at the Vancouver Gun club Sunday with a score of 50. J. A. Troeh was second with 46 and H. Sparks third with 44. Prizes of merchandise will be offered for the shoot next Sunday.

NEIL BALL IS HIRED
New Haven, Conn., Feb. 28.—(U. N. S.)—It was announced here today that Ty Cobb, who purchased the Augusta, Ga., baseball team of the Southeastern League, has hired Neil Ball, captain of the New Haven Eastern league team, for three years as manager of the Augusta team. Ball has been in professional ball for 18 years and is one of the few ball players who have performed an unassisted triple play.

Sport Gossip in Eastern Circles

(By United News)
NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Although no titles are directly involved, two great fights are expected and local interest is aroused in training over the next two fight programs at Madison Square Garden.

Harry Wills, challenging Jack Dempsey, will box Kid Norfolk, another negro, Thursday night, outweighing Norfolk 35 pounds. If Wills fails to stop Norfolk in 15 rounds, he will drop out of the running for a match with Dempsey. Norfolk is hardly considered a match for the champion, even if he should win from Wills.

The fight between Harry Greb and Tom Gibbons is the next ensuing big one. Neither fighter is on the ground now, Greb being in training in Pittsburg and Gibbons in St. Paul. They fight on March 13, and if the affair were being held at Boyle's Thirty Acres in summer, it might draw close to a million, so highly are the boys regarded.

The claim of foul by Hymie Gold, the Pacific coast lightweight, which was disallowed last Friday night, giving Lew Tendler a victory by a technical knockout, probably will evoke a new order from the boxing commission forbidding the wearing of corsets in the ring. Both Gold and Tendler wore high body bandages extending far above the belt line, the idea being to insure foul if struck anywhere on the bandage. The result was that when Gold was hit in the body the referee was unable to tell whether the blow was foul or not, as a punch on the bandage might have been legal.

Kid Gleason is about ready to take his battery squads out of the bath tubs at Marlin, according to reports at Chicago, and also the crowd to Seguin, where they'll meet the rest of the team, all the infielders and outfielders.

One more day of baths is on the schedule. The Sox didn't get in much practice from Calumet, which was anticipated at Seguin when they arrive Wednesday.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, who counted more hits than any other pitcher in the National for many seasons, celebrated his thirty-fifth birthday at Catalina Island where the Cubs are cavorting in Bill Wigley's specially prepared training fields. This wasn't so noteworthy, but when Alex announced Mrs. Alexander had also pulled a birthday anniversary, Manager Killifer held an occasion of such importance that he called a half holiday.

From the Giants' camp in San Antonio John McGraw sends back word that Stuffed Phil Douglas was more bother than he was worth to the Giants last year and that if the old slugger doesn't want to sign for this season at the terms offered he can go off and draw pictures, or embroider dollies for a living. McGraw doesn't like Stuffer's overmuch and neither is he in a mood to temporize with Jess Barnes, the other pitcher now flung on to the market.

For the first indoor intercollegiate championships which are to be held here March 11, an eight lap mile track, expected to be completed by Thursday, is being built at the 22nd Regiment armory. There will be 500 men from most big universities competing in the track and field events.

Gene Tunney May Meet Winner of March 13, Event

By Fairplay
(Copyright, 1922, by The Journal)

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Preliminary arrangements were set on foot today whereby the winner of the Tommy Gibbons-Harry Greb battle at the Madison Square Garden on the night of March 13 will meet Gene Tunney, champion lightweight of America, some time this spring. This fight, in turn, will lead up to the challenge match with Carpenter for the world's light-heavyweight title, which the Frenchman won from Battling Levinsky last winter. Tunney said today that he was always prepared to defend his title against all comers, and that he would keep in trim through frequent bouts. Friday night he will do battle with Fay Ketter in a no-decision bout at Grand Rapids, Mich. Fay will hardly do a great deal to Tunney, although he is plenty good enough to give the champion a nifty workout.

Tunney says that he has not yet been putting all the stuff he has into his blows. He has had trouble with his knuckles and will work carefully until he is certain he can take all the punishment he is being sent in. At that Tunney has been musing up his late opponent considerably.

Benny Leonard's right mauler is in pretty bad shape, and there doesn't seem to be a Chinaman's chance that he will enter the ring at Madison Square Garden on March 17 to fight Charley White. However, he does hope to keep a Boston engagement with Johnny Clinton three days later. This may be taken to mean that Leonard regards White and Clinton as different breeds of cats. In the meantime plans for the open air battle between Leonard and Jack Britton are in progress. Britton's last opponent, Harry Shade, by the way, is capitalizing the draw he dragged down in the Madison Square Garden fight. He has hooked up for four good bouts in the month of March.

It now looks as though Johnny Dundee might profit by Benny's withdrawal from the March 17 date. The talk is that White or Lew Tendler or Rocky Kansas may be secured to go against the junior lightweight champion on that night.

Multnomah Quintet Ready for Parkway

The Multnomah Amateur Athletic club basketball toppers will go into the game with South Parkway next Thursday night in the "Winged M" gymnasium with a record of having won their last five games, including last Saturday at Catalina Island where the University of Nevada. The clubmen started the 1921-22 campaign in a slump, and after dropping two contests, Coach Dewey finally formed a combination which brought home results.

Coach Pander of South Parkway is saying nothing but he is holding daily workouts with his aggregation in the neighborhood house gymnasium. The Parkway athletes have not had a match in the last two weeks and they may spring a surprise on their more experienced opponents. Last year Multnomah defeated Parkway after one of the most sensational engagements of the campaign.

Saturday's Boxing Card Uncertain

MEMBERS of the Portland boxing commission will gather this afternoon to determine whether or not to go through with their smoker billed for next Saturday night.

George Burns, who had been counted on to meet Eddie Gorman in one of the 10-round main events, was taken ill suddenly Monday and he has been forced to cancel his engagement, and the question the commissioners will have to decide now is whether he should put on a substitute bout or cancel the entire show.

The fans would pack the Armory to see Gorman and Burns' battle for 10 rounds for the two milt-slingers haven't all the love in the world for each other since their last two scuffles. Burns was given the first bout in the fifth round, but it later developed that Eddie really was a sick boy when he entered the ring, and it was with the desire not to disappoint the "cash customers" that he went into the fracas in the first place.

GORMAN MAKES GOOD
Gorman was given a chance to get back into good graces on the last card, and he made good. Now Matchmaker Harry Hansen has hopes of sending the 10-round Burns to a mill calling for 10 rounds. Burns was as disappointed over not being able to appear on the scheduled card next Saturday night as was Captain Hansen, but he declared his willingness to sign up for another smoker as soon as he is able.

The other 10-round main event being figured out will feature Battling Ortega and Jimmy West, recently from Manila. These two battlers had a great deal to do with the "savings" of the Millwright card two weeks ago, and West still labors under the impression that he can hand the Californian a neat trimming. The way West stood up and mixed things with Ortega forced him into the hearts of the fans who did witness that firm mixup, and they are loud in their praise of the form he showed.

TO CURB SPOONERS
After more than a year's agitation, the Portland boxing commission has finally placed a curb on the activities of spooners during the progress of a bout. Spooners were limited to two seconds, and they will not be permitted to spoil the evening foot front row fans, as has been the case in many instances in the past.

The commissioners in session Monday voted to give Referee Gruman power to throw the seconds out of the ring should they become too noisy. Frank Lonerga is drawing up a set of rules, which will be given to every boxer and his manager who is signed up by Matchmaker Harry Hansen. Failure to comply with the regulations will be grounds for the suspension of the boxer and in that way the commissioners feel that the seconds will be curbed effectively.
